James Stevenson, who has been in the employ of John Gunn & Sons at Hardisty, for the past ten months, has gone to Stony Plain, where he has been engaged by the contracting firm of Foley, Welch and Stewart.

HON. MR. FINLAY. Hon. W. T. Finlay, minister of agriculture, after his extended tour through the central and southern portions of the province, adds his verdict to all the favorable reports of the crop conditions this year. Mr. Finlay returned to the capital last night, and was seen by a Bulletin representative in his office at the Legislative building this morning.

"During my absence from the city, I traversed the district from Wetaskiwin to Sedgewick, stopping at Camrose, Hardisty and Daysland. The meetings held at all these places were very well attended by large and appreciative audiences. I did considerable driving about the country, and found the crops in excellent shape and the farmers in the best of spirit in anticipation of a banner yield of grain."

"In the South I visited the Coleman, Cowley and Blairmore districts. In my 25 years residence in the West I never saw the crops in such splendid shape. With the enormous crop that will be harvested this year there will be a great demand for labor, but I have heard no reports expressed by the farmers that the necessary labor will not be at hand. The railway will certainly be taxed to its utmost to handle the crop, but with their increased facilities they will likely be able to do so."

"Hot Winds at the Hat. "The crops in the Medicine Hat district have suffered greatly from recent hot winds," said the minister. "The crops have been dried up by winds that swept over the prairie like the blast from a furnace. The wind which has been ruminous to the farmers is not so much a matter of regret as the prairie grass has been nipped, cured so that it will not sour by moisture or be affected by frost, while at the same time it retains all its nutriment. This will supply excellent winter forage for the cattle."

"Another source of satisfaction to the ranchers of Medicine Hat and the easterly district, is the great calf crop this year. This is due to the mild weather which has been so common since the severe winter of 1906-07."

PRINCE RUPERT GROWING. George H. Pope, right of way purchasing agent for the G.T.P., passed through Edmonton this week on his way to Winnipeg from the Pacific coast, where he has been some time in connection with his duties. He spent some time at Prince Rupert and the region to the westward, at the terminal town of the new road as 700 or 800 persons. These were regular residents, and there were besides a large number of transients. The contractors were busily engaged in getting ready for their construction work on the first hundred miles of the road. Mr. Pope was 100 miles east of the Skeena. He states that the country around Prince Rupert will be an ideal one for tourists in the future. There is an excellent steamboat service now. The run from Vancouver to Prince Rupert being 46 hours and the return 38 hours. All boats along the coast call at the terminal in passing.

LANDSEKERS COMING.

Immigration is very active in the city at present and the immigration hall on First street is filled. This is rather unusual for this time of year when there is usually a decided falling off in the number of settlers coming to the country. Yesterday twenty-four new settlers arrived at the hall and are planning to take up land in the vicinity of Edmonton. These settlers are mostly from various parts of the United States. Some of them are planning to go west to the wooded country while others who prefer the prairie lands are going east along the line of the G.T.P.

Among the recent arrivals in the city is B. A. Stokes, who has come up from Pennsylvania looking for land. He went out this morning on the C.N.R. and intends purchasing several suitable sections in the vicinity of Viking along the line of the G.T.P. EDMONTON BY NOVEMBER.

The latest plans of the G.T.P. officials are to have the steel of the new transcontinental line laid by the middle of November. By that date it is expected that the steel will have bridged the whole distance between Winnipeg and the Alberta capital, an approximate distance of 770 miles. Two months cessation from track laying has now been decided upon owing to the fact that the steel has reached Battle River, a point 176 miles west of Saskatoon, and at this point a massive bridge is being constructed over the river. Until this completed track-laying cannot proceed further as the materials for the construction of the bridges have all been shipped and are now on the grounds, but it will take at least two and a half months work before the passage of trains can be commenced. The two bridges complete a number of track-laying machines will be ready to grid the intervening distance with steel and track work will take about twenty days.

NEW LEGAL TRAFFIC.

The Beneficial Society of Alberta will hold a meeting in Calgary tonight to discuss more fully the proposed legal profession. O. M. Biggar, of the law firm of Short, Cross & Biggar, and C. F. Bowen, partner in the law firm of the firm of Bowen & McDonald, went south today to attend this meeting. The most important subject for discussion is the question of the introduction of a new legal tariff. It has been suggested that the present tariff system be abolished and a new system introduced whereby a lump sum may be charged. This would save the labor and confusion connected with the taxing of small costs and would give a lump sum idea of the cost of an action at the outset. The Beneficial Society is being held this afternoon. Lillivert, who is charged with throwing Bell overboard from the steamer Standard, has not yet been captured.

LARGE DEBT COURT CASES.

An interesting case was tried at the district court yesterday when Danie Krife, a farmer at Fort Saskatchewan, brought suit against the Canadian Northern railway for damages to his property by fire which he alleges was caused by the C. N. R. According to his claim a fire was started by the C. N. R. near the plaintiff's farm on October 22nd, 1907. The fire spread and burned two of his stacks of hay and fire entered an action for $300 damages. The defendant company deny starting the fire near the plaintiff's farm on October 22nd, and claim that in any event they exercised all reasonable precaution and are therefore not liable for the alleged damage. A large number of witnesses were heard at the trial yesterday and the case was adjourned. The argument to be taken later. W. A. D. Lees, of Fort Saskatchewan, appeared for the plaintiff and O. M. Biggar for the defendant company.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL.

At the police court shortly after one o'clock today Frank Pokeski was sent up for trial in the next case of contempt jurisdiction on a charge of attending a unauthorized meeting. Harry Dybecky, on the 9th of June last. The lawyer for the prisoner made a strong plea for dismissal or at least the production of more evidence on behalf of the Crown, but the magistrate held that sufficient had been produced to warrant a trial. Harry Dybecky had concluded his testimony this morning, the only other taken was that of John Ford, who lived near the scene of the shooting and was looking out of his window just after the first shot was fired. The magistrate yesterday and this morning had great difficulty in having the receipts correctly interpreted. Yesterday afternoon four interpreters of the Polish language were brought into requisition and all of the receipts were read unsatisfactorily. The attention of the court was taken up all the afternoon yesterday, with the receipt of Harry Dybecky, the victim of the shooting. He spoke Polish, but at times was able to answer the questions in broken English and at times the shooting was substantially the same as previously published. He said that for some time past there had been ill feeling between Dybecky and his wife over the allotment of land, and on the night previous to the shooting there had been a quarrel between them.

In the town the damage was confined to windows, but in the country the Standard Oil Tank, which was carrying oil, was blown down. Johnson for shelter, but no sooner had they been admitted than the building was demolished and Johnson, eleven years old, was instantly killed. NEW YORK STOCKS EXPERIENCE A BIG REVIVAL.

New York City, July 29.—The financial markets all gave clear expression last week of the growth of confidence in the situation of affairs and to the hopeful spirit over the future. To the stock market this movement was so pronounced and carried to such lengths as to give rise to some apprehensions of excess. The outside demand for securities was taken advantage of for this reason, to effect a large realization of speculative holdings which some of the leading stock traders expressed their doubts over the movement by persistent short sales on the advance. It was not until the end of the week that prices yielded. The manner in which the market digested the sales for various accounts gave evidence of a healthy and general scope of the new movement and its possible removal from artificial stage of professionalism and manipulation which have been conspicuous for several weeks. Evidence of excess in the movement was found in the kind of reports regarding some of the industries which were put in circulation, and which were met with formal demands from the outside speculative operations. There was a notable increase of more solid investment demand, based on the growing confidence of intrinsic value of present levels of prices. This was especially marked in the bond department at the stock exchange where the week's sales rose to the extraordinary total of $25,000,000 par value. The heavy aggregate of transactions was characterized by unusual variety and absence of excessive congestion in a handful of issues from any individual causes, less than the Korean, the only salient feature of the demand, not only in the business in the bond department of the stock exchange but amongst the houses outside the exchange was this revival of investment demand to be seen. Placing of new bond issues by railway companies in the hands of bankers and the ready sales of such issues, showed the extent to which the revival of business has taken place. The new issues for the most part are of a high grade of security, old treasury holdings of first mortgage bonds being resorted to in many cases and the issue prices being at a rate of discount which evidences the confidence in the future of the country. Another important development in this field was the placing of some large blocks of American bonds abroad. The reversal of the appeal court of the $25,000,000 fine of the Standard Oil Co. is relied upon as the quiet fears of foreign capital that American corporations are in danger of encroachment to the point of confiscation. The developments of an interior demand for currency in fact, is made a factor for additional encouragement as a proof of increased business activity.

DECLARE WAR ON OIL TRUST.

Attorney-General Bonaparte's Conference Decides on Course of Action. Lennox, Mass., July 29.—Admitting that there had been glaring mistakes made in the former trial, but determined to rectify them, the Chicago members of the conference called by Attorney-General Bonaparte left here for home this afternoon with instructions to begin the fight all along the line against the Standard Oil Trust. "It will now be a fight to the finish," said United States Attorney Sims of Chicago. "We made mistakes, glaring ones, in the other trial, but now we are at work in earnest. Nothing will go wrong this time, you may be sure of that. I cannot tell what our first action will be. It is for Mr. Bonaparte to make that public."
