The Evening Chit-Chat

By MARY CARRISON

Pretty—yes, I suppose she is. But, do you know, I never can bear to look at her long enough to find out. She's always squirming around so.

So a business man commented on a young girl in his office when I asked him if he didn't think she was pretty.

I quote the comment to show how some unpleasant little mannerism can counteract great charm. For the girl really is a very pretty girl.

And the reason I mention the matter at all is that it seems to me a good many of our young girls have unpleasant little mannerisms like this.

I know another girl who has a disagreeable trick of perpetually lifting her hands to her face. Now she rubs her mouth or passes it across her cheek. This girl is a brilliant girl, an unusually interesting conversationalist and yet I know that her hearer's pleasure is often dissipated by this habit.

Just recently I heard of another girl who was discharged by a rather punctilious business man from her position as his stenographer because she was always taking out her combs and combing up her hair. "She's a good stenographer," he said, "but I want a girl who will arrange her toilet in the privacy of her home and not in my office."

Now, if any one of these girls should chance to read this article I have no fear that she would recognize herself, for the habit in each case had become, I am sure, almost unconscious.

But the part that puzzles me, the point I want to bring out is this: The families of those girls could not possibly have been unconscious of these unpleasant little mannerisms, could they?

And what were they thinking of to let them go on?

What were they doing that they hadn't time to attend to such vital matters?

You think "vital" is a pretty strong word for the occasion.

I don't.

Just think. Beauty and brains and efficiency were each nullified by one foolish unnecessary little habit that might have been so easily nipped in the bud by a little plain speaking.

Of course no outsider can criticize a habit like this without risk of being considered rude and intrusive.

But, equally of course, no family can afford not to speak out on such a matter.

One of the most important functions of the family, I think, is to give us when we particularly need it, a chance to "see ourselves as others see us."

Nip the unpleasant little mannerism right in the bud. Nip it as gently as possible, but even if you cause a little temporary bitterness, nip it thoroughly, and in the end you will win lasting gratitude—or would I be safer in saying deserve it?

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the greatest blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medicinal roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

When Limbs and Chest Ache.

ZAM-BUK GIVES EASE QUICKLY.

Have you got a cold in your bones? Have you a bad attack of "general aching"? You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, back aches, now and again a twinge of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, and there is a pain between your shoulders.

Cold is responsible for this condition, and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath and then rub your chest and the aching limbs well with Zam-Buk.

Mrs. B. Gorie, 76 Berkeley St., Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed it on my limbs where I felt the rheumatic pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and also the rheumatism in my limbs."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, various sores, piles, scalp sores, ring-worm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., upon receipt of price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Weight Carrying Aeroplanes

It is understood that a remarkable advance has been made in connection with the employment of aeroplanes or weight-carrying purposes. Experiments have been privately carried out by military officers and civilian pilots with the idea of establishing data for the development of the aeroplane as a man-carrier and as an explosives transporter also.

Although the experiments so far have been more or less crude, sufficient has been accomplished to demonstrate that they are on the right lines. Added weights have in the tests been carried for considerable distances and the sudden displacement of these have been made under new methods, of what little is known, at which are said to be practical both as regards accuracy and balance. It is stated that the experiments have demonstrated the possibility of aeroplanes not only carrying heavy loads, but of picking up loads whilst flying, thus avoiding any loss of time and speed. This would be of special value in warfare, and nearly all the nations have directed attention to the subject, but hitherto without reaching a very satisfactory solution of the problem.

With regard to the progress of air-ship construction at Aldershot, extensive tests have been made with new materials for the gas envelope of future craft. Goldbeater's skin and the skin of the intestines of the ox have hitherto been used with conspicuous success, but the new ventures were more in the direction of rubber as being less costly. The old 'ox' envelope was, however, proved to be the best, and future airships will have their envelopes made from the old material. These tests have delayed the launching of the craft now under construction at South Farnborough, and next year will be well advanced before the new ship is ready. Nearly two years have been taken in perfecting this airship, but so rapid are the changes brought about by progressive knowledge that finality always seems to be far off. This was the case with the naval airship, which came to such an untimely end.

They seem to take for granted that they should be there and doing what they are doing. The first dominant impression one bears away is that they have a great interest in governing and none at all in possessing. Public Opinion.

Yet those who know them will tell you that this immense jumble of humanity sorts itself into hundreds of intensely separate little heaps, each of which is guarded from the other by an unimaginable code of pride or prejudice. "Bombay must be the despair of the Indian sanitary reformer. The grey and brown slums of an English town are bad enough, but these brilliant, bizarre, sun-smitten slums of Bombay, with the plague in their dark places, give you a shudder such as you could get in no northern country. There is, one feels instinctively something poisonous in their glittering splendor. Nothing would help but a fire which swept them all away."

The Handful of Rulers. "It does in a measure take you breath away to find the handful of the ruling race asserting themselves so absolutely over these rich and successful men of business, men who veritably possess the place, who have made large fortunes as merchants and cotton spinners, and who are obviously no whit inferior in the managing capacity to the ablest of Europeans. It is as though Manchester or Liverpool were being governed by a handful of Civil Servants sent, not from London, but from Berlin. Yet, if you ask the question, you are told at once that these men have no grievance. British rule, and British alone has provided them with the opportunity of making their fortunes, and like capitalists everywhere, they cry out for security.

"You must be a very forlorn man in Bombay if you have not a friend to take you to the Yacht Club. There towards sunset you will find the English colony assembled on a green lawn fronting the sea, which might be anywhere in England.

"While you are here you forget the great, seething, miasmic city behind you, and wonder at the cheerfulness, smartness, good looks, and good manners of the Bombay English and their womenkind. Civilians or soldiers, they are clearly a strong, self-reliant, well-favoured race, with an indefinable air of being in authority. It is an authority, however, which is never flaunted.

No Big Talk. "You hear no big talk; it is, indeed, the most difficult thing in the world to induce any of them to talk at all about themselves or their duties.

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 25 years.

Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's

Medicine was used.

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Moeppeth, Ont. "I had been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicine. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the "action of kidneys," liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto
