War Memorial Tablet

UNVEILED AT GEORGE ST. CHURCH.

George St. Methodist Church was the scene of a touching and impressive ceremony yesterday morning, when His Excellency the Governor unveiled the Memorial Tablet, which had been erected by the congregation to perpetuate the memory of their fellow members who made the Supreme Sacrifice in the Great War.

Among the distinguished visitors present were the Prime Minister, many officers of the Regiment and the Brigades, Deputy Major Martin, the Inspector General of Constabulary, and Major W. March representing the G.W.V.A.

The Governor, having delivered a short address, laid a beautiful wreath below the Tablet. He was followed by the Prime Minister, next by Mr. C. H. Steer with the wreath given by the Church, and Major March paid a like tribute on behalf of the G.W.V.A. The friends and relatives then placed their floral tributes at the foot of the Tablet, and such was the sum of the wreaths deposited, that it appeared to rise from a mound of variegated columns.

His Excellency then delivered the following address:—

Your Minister has asked me to address you briefly on this solemn occasion, and I have hesitatingly consented to do so. I fear, however, there is very little, if anything, that I can say to you this morning, and more particularly to the relatives and friends of those brave men whose names are indelibly inscribed not only on your beautiful Memorial but in the hearts of the people of Newfoundland, that has not already been conveyed to you by those whose privilege and duty it is to comfort the bereaved and the distressed. Yet I should wish you to go away at the end of this service with the idea that the unveiling of this Tablet closes this heroic but tragic chapter in our Island Story. Your dear ones responded voluntarily to the Call of Conscience, and did their duty by their God, their King, and their Country, and they were called upon to make the Supreme Sacrifice and they willingly laid down their lives for those ideals which we treasure most. In doing so they had every confidence that Right would win out. True, they are no longer with us; they have passed beyond our ken, but if our religion and our faith are worth anything, those lives were not lived in vain; they are certainly not lost. The body may be hurt and killed, but the spirit is indestructible, it lives on. What we term death is but a change that comes to all alike, and if we have Faith this change is merely a transition.

To-day your hearts are sore, you are in mental distress at the remembrance of those who gallantly and heroically we commemorate in the Memorial Tablet I have unveiled, and I would that I could offer you a palliative to your heartache. The All-Loving Father in His infinite wisdom has used them for His own good purpose, and has himself recorded their individual services. May I urge you therefore to be not unduly cast down or dejected. They have left us a glorious, never-to-be-forgotten, and imperishable example; and the legacy that they have bequeathed to you, and to each one of us, may be briefly summed up in the words, "Duty and Service" and we shall be honouring them in the best way possible by maintaining these high ideals for which they themselves voluntarily and gladly fought and fell. They assuredly believed that the life of the Christian is continuous and marching on, and Faith gave them this belief.

They say that he is dead. We know so little in this world of ours. Yet when the fall and winter kill the green. And when the sun sets o'er the western hill. We do not say that Earth is dead; We do not say that Light is dead; For we have seen the spring in its lush glory. And we have seen the sunrise. And what we see we know is true. So this we know: that all that seems to die But changes. And so the lovely frame that once held him No longer holds him—that is all; Even as the waning day no longer holds the sun; As winter melts before the rush of spring; So does that frame which I called him, But which was not him, any more than you dead tree Is summer. Yield to another frame. I hear the murmur of the ice-clad brook. I hear a robin sing a note of spring. The Tablet is an artistic piece of work in bronze, and bears the following inscription and names:—

"To the Glory of God and in grateful remembrance of those members of this congregation who laid down their lives in the Great War, 1914-1918, that the inhabitants of our Island may in peace and quietness serve Thee, O God."

Gear, Seaman Nathaniel Goobie, L.-Corp. Chesley J. Gough, Lieut. J. H. S. Green, R.A.F. Corp. Wallace Harder, Sergt. Ludwig Hoddinott, Pte. Joseph Hollahan, Pte. John A. Ivany, Pte. Maxwell T. fers, Pte. Fred Lucas, Pte. Archibald Murray, Pte. Edward G. Nottall, Pte. Samuel R. Pascoe, Pte. Simon J. Penney, Pte. Joseph Peyton, Corp. Henry Rowe, Pte. Allan Sellers, Corp. Hardy Frederick Shaw, L.-Corp. Fred Squires, Pte. Charles F. Taylor, Pte. Hedley Taylor, Pte. Selby P. Taylor, L.-Corp. Walter Tucker, Pte. Alfred W. Turner, C. E. F.

The service which preceded the unveiling ceremony was conducted by Rev. R. E. Fairbairn, the pastor, who preached an eloquent, impressive and most appropriate sermon from the text "These are dead in the Faith, Heb. 11-13." The solo by Mrs. Christian "In Flanders Field," and the Anthem "Who are These," and "Crossing the Bar," by the Choir, were beautifully rendered, and "The Dear March in Saul," and "Chopin's Funeral March," were played by the Organist Mr. Gordon Christian. The congregation of George Street Church will long remember the last honors they paid to these gallant men, who willingly and uncomplainingly gave their lives for them. To-day the Church will be open to visitors in order to enable them to view the Tablet and the flowers.

Grand Falls

BROWNIE'S CONCERT.

A very successful concert was given on Friday, Jan. 26th, by the Grand Falls Brownie Pack. The children had been trained by their Brown Owl, Mrs. L. R. Cooper, who is also the Girl Guide Commissioner for the district of Grand Falls. The first part of the programme consisted of recitations, songs and dances, and also a display of knot tying, which showed the different uses to which the different knots can be put. The second part consisted of a play, entitled "The Changeling," in which the parts were well sustained by the children. The audience showed great appreciation of the children's efforts and many items were enjoyed.

The Girl Guide movement is now getting well established in Grand Falls, and it is hoped before long the Girl Guides will give a big display.
