Saturday, Oct. 24. N vs. PETERSON.—Continued.

H. W. Peterson was called, and testified that at the time of making out his answer to the charges laid by the plaintiff, he was not in possession of the facts referred to in the supplemental answer which he had been permitted to make. Christopher Kress, of Preston, was recalled. His evidence was in reference to circumstances which had occurred between the plaintiff and Dr. Tuck, at his hotel in Preston, while the parties, with the defendant, were visiting there in July, 1872.

half-past ten. The first witness called was James Smith, bar-keeper, Kress Hotel,
Preston, in July, 1872, who said that he saw Mrs. Peterson and Dr. Tuck in the garden in rear of the house on the night of the 9th or 10th, he saw Mrs. P. between one and four o'clock in the bathroom in her chimese, and by her appearance thought her either intoxicated or insane. She had a very black eye. After she left I found in her room two wine bottles and two brandy bottles.

Mary Ahrens, a servant at the Royal Hotel, Berlin, in August, 1872, testified that she went to Mrs. Peterson's bedroom for a pitcher, and found her lying in bed, and Dr. Tuck lying across the foot of the bed. No one else was in the room at the time.

Confession of a Murderer.

The girl Elizabeth Jones, now in consistence in the penitontiary for the murder of her cousin, in the township of Delaware, in the year 1868, has made a most startling statement, the purport of which has been known for several weeks, but which is only now given to the public. The facts of the crime were that the deceased girl, Mary Jones, aged 12 years visited her uncle's Thos. Jones' house one afternoon in the summer of 1868, and on returning in the evening was waylaid and beaten to death with a heavy climb dead of the sugar beats and covered with leaves. In the sum of the summer of 1868, and on returning in the evening was waylaid and beaten to death with a heavy climb deed, tramped into a mud-hole in the sugar bash and covered with leaves. The sugar bash and covered with leaves. In the sugar bash and covered with leaves. In the sugar bash and the revolt, and often saw Nana Sahib failed to recognize the prisoner as the man. Other witnesses have been summoned. The Maharajah of Scinde, at first sought to have it stipulated that the man's life should be saved, but he afterwards surrendered him unconditionally to the British authorities, who placed him in irons. Bala, a brother of Nana Sahib, has also been captured.
