GOING TO SCHOOL will soon be the morning greeting of the children, as they are hailed by their little friends. Going to school to learn.

In this store family we are "going to school" every day. True, not in the popular idea of a school, but a great "public school" nevertheless, where there are lessons to learn, and many, many different studies. New tasks are daily set before us, and as they are well done we win our promotions.

We shall never be "too old" to learn, for where those of this organization, young though they be, have reached the unenviable attitude—they cannot progress.

To go forward we must be openminded, open-hearted and ever-willing.
