NEWSPAPER ENGLISH.
Difference Between the Natural and the Formal Methods of Speech.

From the Hour.
It is one of the most common of life that the plain speech of everyday people is not seriously affected by the disagreeable slang that is properly termed "newspaper English." How unpleasant it would be if to-morrow morning the naturalness of the English idiom should be exchanged for the formal, and too often exaggerated phrases of ordinary writers. A plain, strong, colloquialism may be at once easy and correct; but whoever attempts to use long words, or new words, with an air of pitying superiority, to express ideas that some familiar phrase more nearly fits, is assuredly caught in the snare of affectation. A man who talks to you in casual speech of "localities," "residences," "agencies," "domestic," "mendicants," and "individuals," instead of "places," "houses," "knowing affairs," "servants," "beggers," "persons," is certainly bad enough. Besides his weak nouns, the verbs also are affected, if he "states" things that ordinary people "say," and "purchases" when others "buy," and "commences" when a college professor would "begin"—the case is decidedly worse. Even the rules, rustic Saxon expressions that have somehow lingered among the lower classes for centuries, are indelibly more interesting and agreeable than this encumbered modern diction. The daily newspapers often contain examples of the finest and most difficult kind of literary work—that in which precise, reserve and brilliancy are united, and the style is perfectly limpid. But who has not seen that the over-expression of a feeling, the undue emphasis of a fact, the tendency towards extravagance, are manifest in much that is printed in newspapers?

Perhaps "the public demand it." Let us waive that point, and merely say of the probable effect of it on what may be called the speech of the people—the rich, effective, vernacular. Effect there must be, for everyone reads papers, and even the modern schoolbook is more and more written in the stilted style. Despite the continuance of "notes and queries," and the survival of folk lore, the philological societies, it is to be feared that the harmless idioms will go to the wall. The little English girl of the brickyard who said, "We wisen the spottles of us before we has our dinners," will learn to say, "We perform our ablutions before our noon repasts." The collector's plea during a riot, "We must have something to fill us bellies," is terse, idiomatic, and not to be strengthened. The Virginian mountaineer, instead of saying, "We are going to harness up our horses, get a violinist, notify the ladies, and have a dance," sums up all this in the phrase, "We are going on a dyle."

It is desirable to know the meaning of words, and to use them with correctness. Yes it is pleasant to notice how uneducated common sense will assert itself in the long run, and how it manages to be understood through all its blunders. No one wants more barbarisms of speech kept alive; the ideal is, of course, to have the easy and correct use of our mother tongue become universal. But it would be a sad result if the uneducated classes of society should give up their spicy idioms, and accept instead a second-hand language, the cast-off fripperies of ordinary newspaper English. How often, in rural districts, it is said of some shallow-brained, "he talks like a book." Let a man whose education has permeated his whole nature, and who dwells naturally on high levels, come into the same community, and the rustic comment will be, "Why! he can understand every word he says."

For Old or Young.
—Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the remedy for cholera, colic, diarrhea, and dysentery. No person is safe without it.

Richard K. Fox offers a purse of $5000 for a single scull race, to be rowed over a five-mile course with a turn, to be completed by Edward Hault, the American champion, William Beach, the Australian champion, and John Tennant, the new winner. In addition to that latter sum he offers a championship cup or Open Face, which will become the personal property of any oarsman who shall win it three times in succession. Mr. Fox has notified Hault, Beach and Tennant of his offer, and on receipt of favorable replies will at once make arrangements for the race.

—Mrs. George Simpson, Toronto, says: "I have suffered severely with corns, and was unable to get relief from treatment of any kind until I was recommended to try Holloway's Corn Cure. After the use of a few days I was enabled to remove the corn, and root and branch—no pain whatever, and no inconvenience using it. I heartily recommend it to all suffering from corns."

No Rival in the Field.
—There is no rival for Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the acknowledged champion for the cure of all summer complaints.

—Worms cause feverishness, mauling and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is pleasant, safe and effective. If your druggist has none in stock get him to procure it for you.

—H. Gladden, West Sheffield, P. O. writes: "For a number of years I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Two years ago I was attacked very severely. I suffered a great deal from it, from which I was not free for a day, until last spring, when I began to use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and I rejoice to say it has cured me, for which I am thankful."

Cancer—A new treatment.
Perhaps the most extraordinary success that has been achieved in modern science has been attained by the Dixon treatment for cancer. Out of 2000 patients treated during the past six months, fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of the patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patient neither record a cure at all. Starting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissues, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination; this accomplished the cure, and the permanency of the cure is unquestioned, as cures effected by him four years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure cancer in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured cancer. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers should correspond with Messrs. A. B. DIXON & SON, 305 King Street West, Toronto, Canada, and enclose stamp for their treatise on cancer.—Montreal Star.

A Search Warrant.
—If there is any lurking knave of aerodials in the system, Burck Blood Bitters are warranted to search it out.

"TRUTH"

BIBLE COMPETITION
NO. 12,
CLOSING NOV. 7th.

The Biggest List of Rewards Yet Offered.

Having lost so much money by dishonest agents, the proprietor of TRUTH has decided to deal in future directly with the people; that the money and premiums heretofore given to agents shall be distributed among his subscribers. In other words, he constitutes himself a big club agent on a large scale. So instead of paying money to agents and dividing it with the subscribers, he will pay the money to the subscribers directly. This plan has been tried now for nearly a year, and has been fairly successful, although not so much as the very liberal offer he makes would warrant. He aims also to promote the study of the Bible by this plan, and thereby very greatly benefit all concerned. He frankly avows that this is really a secondary consideration, but is sure that none can look up these Bible questions, propounded by an eminent divine, without being greatly profited. Hundreds of our subscribers have testified to this during the past year, and many thousands of dollars worth of really valuable prizes have been given away. Nearly every issue of TRUTH contains many acknowledgments of the receipt of such magnificent rewards as pianos, watches, sewing machines, gold and silver watches, silver tea services, etc., down to butter knives, nicely-bound volumes of poetry, etc., etc., and you have only to invest one dollar for six months subscription to TRUTH to be eligible for one of these prizes. If you don't happen to see it on its first appearance, you still have a good opportunity to win it. The prizes are as follows: 1. A grand piano, $1000. 2. A grand piano, $800. 3. A grand piano, $600. 4. A grand piano, $400. 5. A grand piano, $200. 6. A grand piano, $100. 7. A grand piano, $50. 8. A grand piano, $25. 9. A grand piano, $12.50. 10.
