What is a sand pump?
A sand pump is a special kind of dredge that is worked to best advantage where the material to be moved is sand or of a sandy nature.

There is no better place in the world than in and about Toronto and the lake.
Does it cost much to dredge by means of the sand pump?

How much does it cost to do the work by the old-fashioned system?
Anywhere from 20 cents to 30 cents a yard.

Oh, yes, for many years!
Has the city paid out much money for dredging around the bay and island?

Yes, hundreds of thousands of dollars.
The sand pump has been used for this work, no doubt?

Not at all. The old scoop shovel dredge has done the whole work at the 25-cent-a-yard rate.
But the C.P.R. is doing some dredging along the bay front?

Oh, it uses the sand pump!
Why does it use the sand pump?

Well, the C.P.R. engineers know their business and so do the directors of the railway.
What kind of dredges are being used to make the two channels into Ashbridge Bay?

The old-fashioned scoop-shovel dredge.
But wouldn't the sand pump have cut the channels open more cheaply?

Certainly, it would have done the work in half the time and at a third of the cost.
How much does a sand pump cost?

The Mayor says about $9,000.
Then, why didn't the city buy a sand pump and do this Ashbridge Bay cutting itself?

Ask the Engineer or the Mayor.
Mayor Fleming has requested the City Engineer to report on the advisability of buying a sand pump?

Has the C.P.R. got a better engineer than this?
Why didn't the Mayor or the City Engineer think of buying a sand pump before this?

Butter ask them.
Has the C.P.R. got a better engineer than this?
Why?

Because he is doing work at 4 or 5 cents a yard, when the city is paying 3 or 4 times as much for work that is going on concurrently in another part of the bay.
Has the existence of the sand pump been a secret?

Not at all. The World a couple of years ago called on the city to get on, and from time to time since then it has repeatedly stated that the filling in about the island could be done for less than half the city was paying by using the sand pump.
Would the sand pump do good work in filling up the island lagoons?

The festive pump would fairly revel with delight once it got its snout into the sand banks that lie under the water of the lake and bay.
Would the sand pump do good work in filling up the island and Ashbridge Bay?

There is no limit to the amount of available sand within pumping distance of the places to be filled.
Which has been the most dredging to do around the Bay, the city or the C.P.R.?

The city, of course.
How long has the city been dredging around the island?

Perhaps ten years.
Was it the duty of those who have had so much dredging in charge to adopt the latest and cheapest methods of doing it?

Truly so.
The C.P.R. has but a small amount of this kind of work to do compared with what the city has done and will have to undertake in the near future?

Exactly.
Then one would think the city would have given more attention to the least and latest methods of dredging than the railway company?

One would think so.
But apparently the city officials have been asleep while the engineers of the C.P.R. are wide awake and abreast of the times?

So it seems.
How did our city officials come to know about the existence of the sand pump?

A sand pump was brought to town and thrust right under their noses, so that they couldn't help observing it.
Does this fact reflect much credit on our officials?

Ask the Mayor and City Engineer.
Has it been better to learn late than never?

Certainly.
Is it profitable to employ a thoroughly competent engineer?

It is.
Why not?

By knowing his business he will save his salary many times over.
Mention an instance to illustrate.

An engineer who understood all about sand pumps would have had one in Toronto years ago and would have saved his salary on this item alone ten times over.

THE UNIVERSAL ADVANTAGE OF A SAND PUMP.

It is impossible for a whole season's work to be ruined by a two weeks' drought. But it is in the immediate neighborhood of the city where this Congress has been so successful.

Mr. Van Horne, who is the biggest whale of all the great railway fish in America, is now in England in connection with the establishment of a new and fast line of Atlantic steamships, running from a Canadian Atlantic seaport and landing at Milford Haven in Wales, the two nearest seaports to Mr. Van Horne, the president of the C.P.R., who is also in London arranging for the money wherewith to construct the ship, and if the market is found at all favorable, orders will very shortly be given for the construction of a line of fast steamships, second to none in the Atlantic service.

One of the reasons that has decided this progressive step on the part of Mr. Van Horne is the remarkable success of the Pacific line of the company, and the new one which has been established between Vancouver and Australasia. The New York papers admit that the latter line has started on what is going to be a most successful career.

Mr. Van Horne's mission, from a Canadian point of view, will be watched with interest by all our people, and as we noted yesterday Mr. Huddell of the Australasian line is now in England getting plans for a new vessel to be added to his fleet, and also with a view to making the present vessels more commodious for the carrying of dead meat and fruit.

It looks as if our great railway is about to develop a large trade between Australasia and adjacent countries via Vancouver and the C.P.R., and from some Canadian seaport across the Atlantic to Milford Haven, Mr. Van Horne, if he succeeds in this project, will have for his next move a line from an English seaport through the Mediterranean via the Suez Canal to Australasia and Hong Kong, where his line will connect with his Pacific line.

This last move would make a Canadian circle around the globe.
Trolley Extension.

The present view will see all the street car lines within the city converted to the electric system. Up to the present the Street Car Company has had no time to consider extensions within the city or out into the country.

Next year they will probably witness a big development of the suburban lines, which will either work in a close alliance with the city system or become part and parcel of it.

This development will probably cater not so much to the passenger as to the freight traffic, which will be the main business of the line.

According to a recent issue of the Railroad Gazette, the steam railways of the United States are becoming more and more freight lines, and the trolley lines on the suburban freight and passenger traffic.

A pronounced instance of this is the traffic between the city and the suburbs. Before the introduction of the trolley into these cities the steam lines did a big and profitable business, but once the former began to run the latter found themselves outclassed and they have gone out of the business altogether.

It is only a question of a year or two before the whole suburban freight and passenger traffic will be handled by the trolleys. The Grand Trunk is making no effort to meet the electric lines. It is probably going to its part not to make the attempt, as it is bound to get but a very small portion of the business in any event.
