

CHINESE WORK IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

From Miss Cartmell.

Miss Cartmell requests that the following be inserted :—

"I was very sorry to see in the October MISSIONARY LEAFLET in the study for November, a mistake that must be corrected. Speaking of the Chinese work in British Columbia, it said, 'under the direction of Miss Cartmell.' I cannot rest till honor is given to whom honor is due. The mission in New Westminster is under the direction of Mr. Chan; in Vancouver under Dr. Loo, and the night school is taught by Miss Orchard and another lady whose name I have forgotten. In Victoria, Mr. Gardner is the missionary in charge. The flourishing night school is taught by Misses Morrow and Clarke, assisted by Tom Chue. These three missions, the care of the General Society, are under the superintendence of the chairmen of the several districts, as will be seen by the Missionary Report. I know the remark quoted referred only to our woman's work and was kindly meant, but the writer, probably, did not understand that the chief part of that department is the 'Chinese Rescue Home,' which has attained its past and present success under the indefatigable, self-forgetful efforts of Miss Leake, who has uncomplainingly borne the heat and burden of a day, the trial of which few could imagine. My position in the Home has been that of her assistant. My outside efforts have been most fragmentary and purely tentative, so that it cannot in any sense be said that I have directed the work."
