

counsel and judicious advice of the Principal of Knox College as a special aid and service to them. Continuing, he expressed his sympathy with the idea of national education in contradistinction to denominational education, and trusted that there would be hearty co-operation between the theological colleges and University College in building up a system that will be a model for the provinces yet to be formed in the North-West.

DIPLOMAS.

Graduation diplomas were presented by the Principal to the following gentlemen who have completed their college course:—Geo. Ballantyne, A. U. Campbell, B.A., J. L. Campbell, B.A., J. R. Campbell, S. S. Craig, A. H. Drumm, W. Farquharson, B.A. A. McD. Haig, B.A., R. Haddow, B.A., G. F. Kinnear, B.A., K. McIntyre, John MacKay, B.A., D. S. McPherson, B.A., W. Patterson, J. H. Simpson, R. C. Tibb, B.A., T. Wilson.

This completed the academic part of the closing exercises. After the doxology was sung the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Proudfoot.

---

THE FIRST ANNUAL COLLEGE SUPPER.

THE academic part of the day is gone, congratulations have all been exchanged, good-byes to fair friends spoken, the grads with high hats (notably those of '85) trying hard to look superior and patronizing and failing lamentably, have left the entrance hall, and we the undergraduates, free, wild, triumphant over the examination fiend, troop into the dining-hall arm in arm and awfully jolly, and sit down to our first annual college supper, with our honored guests, the class of '86.

This is our first purely college social event. Let us make it great and memorable. There is one table from end to end of the hall, fitting on to another at the further end with which it makes a T—one table still—'86 at the top where they belong, and the rest of us anywhere we please. Never mind our year, for we have not yet found ourselves in our new dignities. The president rings the bell, all stand, and sing out with our hearts in our voices "praise God"—aye, surely we well may—a stray grad of '85 leads in prayer