

S.O. 43

the President of the Privy Council (Mr. Pinard), who is the minister responsible for emergency planning, the government continues to distribute civil defence information, including "Eleven Steps to Survival". Again and again at the SCEAND hearings on security and disarmament, members heard testimony that there would be no survival after a nuclear exchange. I therefore move, seconded by the hon. member for Vancouver East (Mrs. Mitchell):

That the minister cease advising Canadians that there are 11 steps to survival after a nuclear exchange, that he heed the words of one of the government's own senior advisers, Dr. G. R. Lindsey, chief of the Department of National Defence operational research and analysis branch, that "a nuclear war would be effectively the end of life as known", and that the government promote survival by pressing for a nuclear weapons freeze and a no-first-use pledge at the UN next month, and an end to Cruise missile test plans in Canada.

Madam Speaker: Is there unanimous consent for this motion?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

Some hon. Members: No.

SUGGESTED CUT IN INDEMNITY—MOTION UNDER S.O. 43

Mr. Bill Yurko (Edmonton East): Madam Speaker, I rise under the provisions of Standing Order 43 on a matter of urgency. I move, seconded by the hon. member for The Battlefords-Meadow Lake (Mr. Anguish):

That all Members of Parliament voluntarily accept a 10 per cent cut in their basic indemnity during the remaining duration of the Thirty-second Parliament and that the $1.5 million per year arising from this salary cut be used to create 1,000 annual student summer jobs.

Madam Speaker: Is there unanimous consent for this motion?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

PIPELINES

BUILDING OF NATURAL GAS PIPELINE TO ATLANTIC PROVINCES—MOTION UNDER S.O. 43

Mr. Bob Corbett (Fundy-Royal): Madam Speaker, the Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources has for months been promising Atlantic Canadians that the natural gas pipeline is going from Quebec to that region. The Prime Minister has stated that it is as vital a link in the unity of this country as is the railroad. I move, seconded by the hon. member for Carleton-Charlotte (Mr. McCain):

That this House invite the government to show its sincerity toward Atlantic Canada and endorse the pipeline to cross the St. Lawrence by unanimously accepting this motion, or to show its scorn and contempt for Atlantic Canadians by rejecting it.

Madam Speaker: Is there unanimous consent for this motion?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

Some hon. Members: No.

IMMIGRATION

ADMISSION OF POLISH REFUGEES—MOTION UNDER S.O. 43

Mr. Joe Reid (St. Catharines): Madam Speaker, last evening hundreds gathered on Parliament Hill to join in congratulating the Polish Alliance of Canada as it observed its 75th anniversary. They listened with great expectancy to the words of the Minister of State for Multiculturalism to hear some announcement on how a greater number of Poles might be admitted to Canada from the Austrian refugee camps, but none came. I move, seconded by the hon. member for Western Arctic (Mr. Nickerson):

That the government strip the red tape and delaying bureaucratic tactics so as to admit to this country a greater number of Polish refugees from Austria, and within a much shorter period of time.

Madam Speaker: Is there unanimous consent for this motion?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

Some hon. Members: No.

SPEECH MADE BY MR. EVANS ON BUDGET—MOTION UNDER S.O. 43

Mr. Gordon Towers (Red Deer): Madam Speaker, I rise under Standing Order 43 to ask this House to condemn the remarks alleged to have been made by the hon. member for Ottawa Centre (Mr. Evans) when he accused Canadians who expected more from the November budget of trying to scrounge a free lunch. What other comments could one expect from a test-tube economist who has spent all his working life in text-book economics or lapping up free lunches himself at the public trough? I move, seconded by the hon. member for Cambridge (Mr. Speyer):

That the hon. member for Ottawa Centre, the former parliamentary secretary to the Minister of Finance, apologize to Canadians for his boorish and inaccurate comments on the intent and impact of that disastrous document the government had the gall to call a budget.

Madam Speaker: Is there unanimous consent for this motion?

Some hon. Members: Agreed.

Some hon. Members: No.
