

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

WILLARD HALL IS NOW FREE OF DEBT

Encouraging Financial Reports at Annual Rally of Toronto W. C. T. U.

GOOD WORK OF YEAR

President Emphasizes Need of Up-to-Date, Progressive Policy.

Interest in the many works upon which they are engaged is shown by the large gathering, which, despite the excessive weather, was present at the twenty-eighth annual meeting of the Toronto District W. C. T. U., the sessions of which opened yesterday morning and will continue until the closing exercises on Thursday afternoon.

At the opening meeting yesterday at 2 p.m. Mrs. F. C. Ward was in the chair and devotional exercises were led by Mrs. M. S. Savage. After the roll call of officers, Mrs. Ward complimented the representatives on the membership of the district, which now almost reached the 3000 mark. The reading of the treasurer's report showed the financial standing to be very satisfactory and the Frances Willard Hall and furnishings completely clear of all debt. The house committee reported that a fire escape had been installed to meet the requirements in this regard, and an electric sign has been erected by the "Y" girls, who will also pay for the upkeep of the same. There are at present 33 bedrooms, 15 of which are single, 15 double and three having each three beds. There had been 116 girls boarders during the year, 44 now in residence. Transients had been accommodated with 2175 meals. A vote of thanks was given to the convener of the house committee for the work done by her department.

The report for Willard Hall showed that a good deal of redecorating had been done; that 210 girls had passed thru during the year and that 1840 women and girls had been helped at the station by one traveler's aid and 404 by the second since she took office. Over three hundred thousand soap wrappers had come from many parts of the Dominion from which a revenue of $171.91 had been obtained. The proceeds paying the salaries of the two travelers' aid, Mrs. McGill, one of the oldest members, and Mrs. Hopper, a bouquet of white carnations for collecting the most wrappers, this being her fourth season to lead.

Unionists were reported for 77 women. The evangelistic reports from the different unions were read by Mrs. Savage, who referred to the fact that responses had come from every union to whom she applied for information.

At the afternoon session two visitors were introduced, one, Miss Brad, "a world worker," who had visited fifteen countries in the interest of the work, and the other, Mrs. Laird, non-provoked of the King's Daughters of the State of New York. Both ladies complimented the meeting. That the union appreciates the work of the press was shown by the report of Mrs. Hines, convener of that committee, all the unions having made use of the columns of the newspapers. Mrs. Hopper asked permission to distribute circulars on "banish the bar," "tax reform" and "municipal franchise."

At the evening session a half hour with the "Y" girls was conducted by Miss McEwen, and Mrs. Kerr told of the work of the L. T. L. Modernity's Needs.

In her presidential address Mrs. Ward spoke of the need of time "when system, efficiency, and standardization ring thru the world of affairs," and of the need of an up-to-the-minute, practical policy. She also referred to the action of J. M. Daniels, secretary of the American navy, who has issued an order to come into force at the beginning of next month prohibiting alcohol liquor in any United States naval vessel or within the precincts of any naval station. The prohibition of alcohol, too, is discouraging alcohol, and campaigns of "alcoholic hygiene" are being introduced in the German empire. The address was followed by the recommendation for a training school for new workers and the addition of a new story to the building.

TORONTO MEN FELLOWS.

LONDON, June 9.—Lawrence M. Baldwin and Alfred J. Wakefield, Toronto, have been elected fellows of the Royal Colonial Institute, London. Mr. William, has been appointed honorary corresponding secretary.

(Advertisement.)

There's a Reason For Baldness— But No Excuse For It

How to Prevent Greyness; What To Do If Already Bald.

Neglect of the hair and scalp is the primary reason for baldness in nearly all cases. But any excuse for the neglect is necessarily a poor excuse. A little systematic attention and the use of a good hair tonic will destroy and prevent premature greyness and baldness. That, in turn, the SAFE way is to mix your own hair tonic at home. Prepare a reliable drugless mix it for you, according to the formula: Dissolve one-half gram of Menthol Crystals in one-half cup of water; then add two ounces Lavender Compound. Mix thoroughly. Rub into the scalp with fingers or soft brush night and morning. This is the best-known formula for dandruff, itching, itching, to cleanse and beautify the hair, and to stimulate the growth of new hair. One of the ingredients not only stimulates the hair-growing follicles, but tends to revive the activity of the pigment-forming cells, so as to make prematurely grey hair turn back to its natural color. The ingredients of this hair tonic can be purchased at any drug store. Try this tonic tonight and morning for 30 days, even if totally bald; it has accomplished wonders for others.

GOOPS

By GELETT BURGESS

Lillian Nicoll

I think that Lillian Nicoll feels herself, that she is slow at meals. Is she a Goop? She answers, "No!" Perhaps she isn't then, although Goops love to loiter and to talk.

Instead of using knife and fork.

Don't Be A Goop!

UNPARALLELED ART SALE.

What is beyond doubt the most remarkable public sale ever held in Canada of artistic furniture and objects of art, valuable not only by reason of their intrinsic quality, but their historical associations, will take place in the premises, No. 70 West King street, on June 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19. It comprises a choice selection from one of the principal palaces in Europe under the personal direction of M. Jules Ratzkowski of Paris and Cairo, an authorized expert official appraiser. Nearly one thousand pieces have been catalogued and the genuine character of the collection, and particularly the articles identified with the great Napoleon, those that are the work of recognized masters and the Egyptian and other antiquities, are attested by official documents.

The display is certainly of extraordinary attractiveness, but it is regrettable that no suitable hall of sufficient space could be obtained that would permit of the most advantageous arrangement. Nevertheless, even under that disadvantage the first view of the collection is imposing. One of the features that will have public attention is the suite of five pieces belonging to the great Napoleon, and vouched for by authentic documents. In solid mahogany and bronze, and most artistically upholstered, this suite alone is well worth examination. Of particular value, too, are the tables, reproduced from the celebrated French museums, and all given as presents to various eastern rulers. These are triumphs of skilled craftsmanship, and are the only reproductions ever permitted to be made from the French originals.

Conspicuous, too, are the magnificent vases, by the most famous French artists, whose extreme beauty must be seen to be appreciated. The sale is of colossal size and decorated with beautiful figures and landscape designs. Preliminary mention, too, must be made of the fine gobelin tapestries, the bronze, gold and ivory and other statuary, and the finely carved and ornamented clocks of a class never before seen in Canada. In addition there are many fine paintings, articles of vertu and pieces of solid silver of unusual richness and rarity. The sale is entirely unreserved, will be conducted by Chas. M. Henderson, the dean of the Canadian auctioneers, and the collection will be on view Friday and Saturday of this week.

Dancing Popular at Hanlan's

Toronto's young people are eagerly availing themselves of the opportunity of dancing where it is cool, at the Palais de Danse, at Hanlan's. The music is good and the floor ample, and a glimpse inside gives ample evidence of its popularity.

WHY ONE DANCER NO LONGER DANCES.

Lydia Lupkova, who is one of the few rivals of Anna Pavlova, and until now premier danseuse of the Imperial Theatre of St. Petersburg, has determined never to dance again, because she foresees the decadence of the art thru present craze of old and young folks tangling in all its variations. She declares that when people of all ages and conditions wear themselves out by constant pursuit of a fad, they tire of it and that there is not sufficient art in the popular steps to keep them alive indefinitely, and that what has happened in other historic cycles of the dance-mad, will occur again, and she does not wish to be in at the death.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY GROWING.

Rev. Father Coleman received fifty new members into the Holy Name Society at a reception held in St. Cecilia's Church, West Toronto. The following officers were also elected: President, J. L. Wood; Vice-President, E. F. Henderson; Secretary, J. Darrington; and Marshal, M. Coblin.

A Piano in Your Home for 60 Cents. You only need to pay 60 cents a week to own a piano. This is the offer made by Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman and Co., Limited, 193-195-197 Yonge street. Each instrument is in a first-class condition, overhauled by our own workmen. Prices range from $50 to $150, a mere fraction of the original price.

NOTES FOR DANISH WOMEN.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 9.—Woman suffrage is to be enacted in Denmark and all property qualifications for electors of members of the upper house were abolished by a constitutional amendment which passed the lower house of the Danish Parliament today.

THE STERLING BANK OF CANADA

SAVE, BECAUSE No. 147 A savings account for your child will teach him the value of saving.

HEAD OFFICE, COR. KING AND BAY STS., TORONTO.

Adelaide and Simcoe Streets. Dundas and Jameson Streets. Broadview and Wilton Ave. Dundas and Keele Streets. Yonge and Queen Streets. Yonge and Carlton Streets. GENERAL MANAGER A. E. WALKER.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

MEAT

MEAT is cooked for one of two reasons: either to make it tender and nutritious or to draw out its juices and diffuse them thru added articles of food.

It is interesting to note how a small piece of meat cooked with the latter object in view will season sufficient vegetables for a large family or give a fine hearty flavor to a pastry.

The meat for seasoning is usually dry and tasteless after cooking, but this is not necessary. It is easily managed so you can have both meat and vegetables in a stew and have the meat quite tasty. An example: Brown Stew With Dumplings—Cut two pounds of round beef into cubes of an inch each, and brown it thoroughly in fat. Dredge two tablespoons of flour over the frying meat and stir it into the meat and fat until it is smooth; add a quart of stock or cold water. Stir it until it boils and season with salt, pepper and a slice of onion; cover and cook slowly for an hour and a half. Twenty minutes before the stew is done mix the dumplings and put them in, adding a little hot water if the stew is almost dry.

Dumpling Recipe—Sift two cups of flour with a teaspoon of salt and two teaspoons of baking powder; work a tablespoon of shortening into this and moisten the whole with milk or water. Flour the hands and shape the dough into balls a little larger than a walnut. Drop slowly into the boiling stew and cook ten minutes. If you put a cover over the dumplings you must not lift it until you know, by the clock, that they have cooked sufficiently, or they will fall. It is much safer to cook dumplings without covering them, as then they will never fall or get heavy.

If you like vegetables in this ragout, add two-thirds of a cup of diced carrot and turnips to the meat when you start it cooking. When it is half cooked, put in three cups of diced potatoes, as they do not need such long cooking.

A casserole roast is very tender and rich, too, and like the above, may be made with veal or beef. Use three pounds of meat cut in small pieces, brown it in suet or in bacon fat with diced carrots and turnips and several strips of celery cut very small. Put the browned meat in a casserole with vegetables around it and pour the fat over it. Cover with boiling water, put on the lid and bake, without opening the casserole, for two hours.

In extremely hot or cold weather curried meats please the family. Cut veal into small pieces and brown it with some chopped bacon and a little chopped onion. Put this in a casserole or covered pan with water to just cover it. When the meat is very tender, mix a tablespoon of flour, a teaspoon of curry, and salt to season, with a pint of milk. Pour this over the meat and continue cooking until it thickens.

(Advertisement.)

Learn's Secret of Being Slender From Her Maid

12 Pounds of Fat Melted Away From Her Hips and Absorption By Outward Application of a Few Simple Herbs.

"A month ago I would have done almost anything to take off the rolls of fat which had collected on my hips and abdomen and made me look old at 22. Yet I did not know that I could with drugs which might be harmful, and should have probably gone on getting fatter and fatter, instead of regaining the slender, graceful figure I possess today, had it not been for a simple, harmless herb recipe which I learned from my new maid."

"Having seen her previous mistakes save herself from the same fate which had confronted me—of becoming hopelessly fat and hideous—the suggestion of getting from the drugstore one ounce of Quassia. Chips and three fluid ounces of Arumose. When I did as she said, 'First you put the Quassia Chips in a pan, she said, and pour over them a teaspoonful of boiling water. When this has stood for a minute, strain through a cloth and add the arumose. Then pour the mixture into a bottle and apply it every night and morning with your hands when you are too fat to bathe. Each night I rubbed the mixture over my hips and abdomen, and within a few days I could see that the fat was actually melting away. Continued in this same way for nearly three weeks, and by that time I had lost over 12 pounds of useless flesh, and happily it was all from the places which I feared most. Now I cannot help but feel that the simple herb remedies are after all the best, and I know that some other women will be glad to learn the secret which, the coming from such a humble source, proves so precious to me—Germaine Beldoune."

We are informed that the ingredients for the above recipe can be obtained from Hennessey Drug Store, 117 Yonge street; Liggett's Drug Store, 108 Yonge street; and by mail from Moore's Limited, 350 Yonge street.

may save all your bloom, provided you use it early. The subject of winter covering will be dealt with.

Several correspondents. Under no conditions whatever would I advise anyone to "give a slip of root" of parsley to a begging friend. I'd sooner give the money to them for a new root.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

Now, dealing with the various kinds of paeony roots in answer to future paenion growers, choose always the old-fashioned varieties, in preference to new-ones.

As a rule, the old dark crimson varieties are deserving plants to purchase. I always think that nothing can rival the rich tints of these glowing buds in summer. The color is often apt to be strong, almost black, but there may be obtained a sweet-scented old crimson variety.

The scented pink paeonies are lovely, while several fragrant snow-white species are great favorites. I would advise only the double varieties. These hold their bloom much longer than the single kinds, and are more fragrant.

When I tell my gardeners that at the present moment there are some half a dozen hundred named varieties, the world over, they understand the difficulty in advising any particular specimen, other than as I have already advised.

Taking into consideration the various points already discussed on paeony culture, I cannot see that any gardener needs to plant the roots during any time of the early spring and summer. Earth room and feed the two points first to be sure of the necessity of watching well thru August and September, when the earth is dry as a bone for many feet below surface will appeal to all gardeners, without any special warning from me. Indeed, just here, I would remind all that these two months, August and September, are our two most difficult months to get past, as far as all perennials and newly planted vines and shrubs are concerned. Carry your paeony roots well watered thru this dangerous time of deep earth drought, and you need fear little, now, regarding withering. Many of the flower stalks show more than one bud. Take off all save the terminal bud. Then you will be sure of more perfect bloom. I have never yet seen two perfect and large blooms from the same stalk. Do not try it. I have, and it is a waste of time for a very questionable result.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

Now, dealing with the various kinds of paeony roots in answer to future paenion growers, choose always the old-fashioned varieties, in preference to new-ones.

As a rule, the old dark crimson varieties are deserving plants to purchase. I always think that nothing can rival the rich tints of these glowing buds in summer. The color is often apt to be strong, almost black, but there may be obtained a sweet-scented old crimson variety.

The scented pink paeonies are lovely, while several fragrant snow-white species are great favorites. I would advise only the double varieties. These hold their bloom much longer than the single kinds, and are more fragrant.

When I tell my gardeners that at the present moment there are some half a dozen hundred named varieties, the world over, they understand the difficulty in advising any particular specimen, other than as I have already advised.

Taking into consideration the various points already discussed on paeony culture, I cannot see that any gardener needs to plant the roots during any time of the early spring and summer. Earth room and feed the two points first to be sure of the necessity of watching well thru August and September, when the earth is dry as a bone for many feet below surface will appeal to all gardeners, without any special warning from me. Indeed, just here, I would remind all that these two months, August and September, are our two most difficult months to get past, as far as all perennials and newly planted vines and shrubs are concerned. Carry your paeony roots well watered thru this dangerous time of deep earth drought, and you need fear little, now, regarding withering. Many of the flower stalks show more than one bud. Take off all save the terminal bud. Then you will be sure of more perfect bloom. I have never yet seen two perfect and large blooms from the same stalk. Do not try it. I have, and it is a waste of time for a very questionable result.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

MANY TO ATTEND C. E. CONVENTION

Young People's Rally in Toronto Will Be Record One.

Several thousand Christian Endeavorers are to be brought to Toronto for the greatest young people's convention ever held.

Henry F. Brown, the Toronto district C. E. executive, said to The World last night that plans to secure the international convention for Toronto had been adopted, and the executive had assured the support from the international council.

The Toronto C. E. district visit to Brampton on Saturday was an indication of the phenomenal revival of the Endeavor movement here, as no less than 350 Toronto C. E. members attended.

The visit to Brampton was a prelude to the provincial C. E. convention which will be attended by a train load of Toronto delegates.

The Toronto members will leave here next Monday at 10 p.m. in a C. E. decorated special, for Owen Sound, where the convention will be held in Western Methodist Church for four days, commencing on Monday evening.

The Toronto executive aims at a delegation from here of 500.

Toronto will be represented among the program speakers by General Secretary E. W. Halpenny of the Ontario Sunday School Association; Rev. J. MacFie, president of Ontario C. E. Union; Herbert Dean, president Toronto Conference; Rev. W. A. Cameron, pastor of St. James' Baptist Church, and Rev. Dr. Gilray.

CORSAJE BOUQUETS BECOMING POPULAR

The corsage bouquet is rapidly becoming one of the very essential accessories of midday's costume. The wonderful and realistic construction of these dainty artificial flowers, together with the fact that they are practically non-perishable, is sufficient to ensure their popularity, but the magnificent fabrics from which they are wrought and the charming effect they produce are a revelation.

With the popular taste about costume in the predominating black and white combination, there is nothing more chic than the huge white corsage thrust into the girdle on the left of the corsage. A fascinating point is placed directly below the fascinating pointed "V" of the net, and the corsage adds the finishing touch to this particular style of apparel, and, moreover, a little French nosegay, studded with semi-precious jewels and threaded with gold, silver, or bronze, are stunning with the charming evening gown of draped design.

Consistency in dress should not be entirely overlooked, even in these moments of odd-to say the least—combination effects. Sobriety in dress is at present out of fashion, but taste may still be maintained.

For example, a sporting coat should not be worn over a dainty silk frock, any more than feathers should be worn to market.

An apparently stylishly groomed woman was seen the other day—fauit—less as high as her brow. Placed on a becomingly dressed coat was a large white chapeau—very charming, but the sunshade carried marred the effect. The color was darning. It was a high bell-shaped arrangement that didn't at all "fit" with the rest of the costume.

A dinky little shepherdess headpiece would have altered the whole effect and resulted in a decided improvement.

Pale tints are again coming into their own for evening wear as well as for all other occasions. For summer evening the young girl in blue, blue, rose pink, mauve and several tones of yellow will lead. The models will often be veiled in light mousseline.

(Advertisement.)

Learn's Secret of Being Slender From Her Maid

12 Pounds of Fat Melted Away From Her Hips and Absorption By Outward Application of a Few Simple Herbs.

"A month ago I would have done almost anything to take off the rolls of fat which had collected on my hips and abdomen and made me look old at 22. Yet I did not know that I could with drugs which might be harmful, and should have probably gone on getting fatter and fatter, instead of regaining the slender, graceful figure I possess today, had it not been for a simple, harmless herb recipe which I learned from my new maid."

"Having seen her previous mistakes save herself from the same fate which had confronted me—of becoming hopelessly fat and hideous—the suggestion of getting from the drugstore one ounce of Quassia. Chips and three fluid ounces of Arumose. When I did as she said, 'First you put the Quassia Chips in a pan, she said, and pour over them a teaspoonful of boiling water. When this has stood for a minute, strain through a cloth and add the arumose. Then pour the mixture into a bottle and apply it every night and morning with your hands when you are too fat to bathe. Each night I rubbed the mixture over my hips and abdomen, and within a few days I could see that the fat was actually melting away. Continued in this same way for nearly three weeks, and by that time I had lost over 12 pounds of useless flesh, and happily it was all from the places which I feared most. Now I cannot help but feel that the simple herb remedies are after all the best, and I know that some other women will be glad to learn the secret which, the coming from such a humble source, proves so precious to me—Germaine Beldoune."

We are informed that the ingredients for the above recipe can be obtained from Hennessey Drug Store, 117 Yonge street; Liggett's Drug Store, 108 Yonge street; and by mail from Moore's Limited, 350 Yonge street.

may save all your bloom, provided you use it early. The subject of winter covering will be dealt with.

Several correspondents. Under no conditions whatever would I advise anyone to "give a slip of root" of parsley to a begging friend. I'd sooner give the money to them for a new root.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

Now, dealing with the various kinds of paeony roots in answer to future paenion growers, choose always the old-fashioned varieties, in preference to new-ones.

As a rule, the old dark crimson varieties are deserving plants to purchase. I always think that nothing can rival the rich tints of these glowing buds in summer. The color is often apt to be strong, almost black, but there may be obtained a sweet-scented old crimson variety.

The scented pink paeonies are lovely, while several fragrant snow-white species are great favorites. I would advise only the double varieties. These hold their bloom much longer than the single kinds, and are more fragrant.

When I tell my gardeners that at the present moment there are some half a dozen hundred named varieties, the world over, they understand the difficulty in advising any particular specimen, other than as I have already advised.

Taking into consideration the various points already discussed on paeony culture, I cannot see that any gardener needs to plant the roots during any time of the early spring and summer. Earth room and feed the two points first to be sure of the necessity of watching well thru August and September, when the earth is dry as a bone for many feet below surface will appeal to all gardeners, without any special warning from me. Indeed, just here, I would remind all that these two months, August and September, are our two most difficult months to get past, as far as all perennials and newly planted vines and shrubs are concerned. Carry your paeony roots well watered thru this dangerous time of deep earth drought, and you need fear little, now, regarding withering. Many of the flower stalks show more than one bud. Take off all save the terminal bud. Then you will be sure of more perfect bloom. I have never yet seen two perfect and large blooms from the same stalk. Do not try it. I have, and it is a waste of time for a very questionable result.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

Now, dealing with the various kinds of paeony roots in answer to future paenion growers, choose always the old-fashioned varieties, in preference to new-ones.

As a rule, the old dark crimson varieties are deserving plants to purchase. I always think that nothing can rival the rich tints of these glowing buds in summer. The color is often apt to be strong, almost black, but there may be obtained a sweet-scented old crimson variety.

The scented pink paeonies are lovely, while several fragrant snow-white species are great favorites. I would advise only the double varieties. These hold their bloom much longer than the single kinds, and are more fragrant.

When I tell my gardeners that at the present moment there are some half a dozen hundred named varieties, the world over, they understand the difficulty in advising any particular specimen, other than as I have already advised.

Taking into consideration the various points already discussed on paeony culture, I cannot see that any gardener needs to plant the roots during any time of the early spring and summer. Earth room and feed the two points first to be sure of the necessity of watching well thru August and September, when the earth is dry as a bone for many feet below surface will appeal to all gardeners, without any special warning from me. Indeed, just here, I would remind all that these two months, August and September, are our two most difficult months to get past, as far as all perennials and newly planted vines and shrubs are concerned. Carry your paeony roots well watered thru this dangerous time of deep earth drought, and you need fear little, now, regarding withering. Many of the flower stalks show more than one bud. Take off all save the terminal bud. Then you will be sure of more perfect bloom. I have never yet seen two perfect and large blooms from the same stalk. Do not try it. I have, and it is a waste of time for a very questionable result.

Spray your buds just now with a weak solution of bordeaux mixture, even though the buds seem perfectly healthy. Especially so if you are bothered with a pest of aphids that you have not tried to get rid of. Aphids are the worst of a certain mold, peculiar to and fatal to the blooms of all paeonies.

One or perhaps two weak sprayings

Gourlay Pianos

DAILY BARGAIN LIST

JUNE 10th

Today's specials are exceptional bargains. Two fine pianos of unquestioned quality—tone and timbre are the very finest—everything has been done to make these instruments as good as new.

Mason & Risch A splendid small upright piano in perfect order throughout. $105.00

Payments—$10 Cash—$6 monthly.

Newcombe A Cabinet grand upright New in condition quite as good as $235.00

Payments—$10 Cash—$6 monthly.

GOURLAY WINTER AND LEEING

189 YONGE ST. TORONTO

PURE ICE

GRENADE

Exclusively ICE AND COAL CO. CHAPMAN, LIMITED.

12 lbs. ice per day. Telephone—Main 217-712. Head Office: 337 Confederation Life Building, 17 Queen East.

COUPON

MR. and MRS. VERNON CASTLE'S MODERN DANCING

Greatest Dance Book Ever Published

Clip out this Coupon and present it together with our Special Price of 75c at the office of the TORONTO WORLD

1 COUPON AND 75c SECURE THE Castle Book

Out-of-Town Readers will remit extra for postage.

Beautifully bound in art covers, stamped in gold, with portrait inlay in flesh tints and costumes in color.

CASTLES TEACH YOU TO DANCE WITH MOVING PICTURES, NO OTHER BOOK CAN COMPARE WITH CASTLE'S "MODERN DANCING."

SECURE YOUR COPY TODAY

line de sole, embroidered daintily in pearls or crystals. Nile, green, is charming also, the shade being cool and restful.

R. S. WILLIAMS COMPANY WILL HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC.