SOME HIGH ASSAYS.

There is no need to go into details regarding development work on the other three veins have been uncovered for a considerable length.

Under the head of these semi-developed or merely prospected properties may be classed two lying to the south of Deloro. These are the Williams and Dean mine, formerly owned by Judge Dean of Lindsay, but now in the heads of Cook Bros. of Toronto, and as location on lot 6, in the 8th concession of Marmora, held by A. H. Camppell, also of this city.

THE FIVE ACRES.

Next, and lying to the northwest of the Deloro workings, may be mentioned the Gatling Five Acres, formerly owned by the brother of the man who invented the Gatling gun. This property, a partial development of which has laid open enough deposits to mark it as perhaps the richest piece of land in the arsenical belt, is owned by Henry Corby. M. P., and others. Should the bromo-cyanogen process prove a success in treating the Deloro cres the Five Acres will come to the front as a valuable property.

THE MALONE MINE.

There or four miles further north near Malone, on the Central ontario Railway, is found the Crescent Gold Mining Company's location, owned by a syndicate of Montreal gentlemen, heldy C. P. R. magnates. It is situation.

The absence of arsenic is a point in favor of the profitable working of the properties in this belt.

At yesterday's meeting of the Toronto Executive of the British Association the following were added to the committee: E. B. Osler, M.P., E. F. Clarke, M.P., William Lount, M.P., W. F. Maclean, M.P., William Lount, M.P., W. F. Belmont mine in less than an hour and a half. The road is, on the whole, a good one, especially considering the irregular topography of the country through which it passes. The limestone ridges and outcroppings found at Marmora extend to within a short distance of the mine, and, though for the most part tillable, patches of soil, are small and confined to the valleys. During the drive I saw one stretch of 2000 acres of splendid black loam, farmed by well-to-do husbandmen.

PAVED WITH GOLD ORE.

The discovery of the Belmont mine octared quite by accident. For upwards of 60 years the township road, which runs through the property, was traveled by wayfarers, who knew not that the thoroughfare was literally "paved with gold." One day not many years ago Mr. A. W. Carscallen. M.P. when out prospecting for asbestos, noticed an outcropping of quartz by the wayside, and, jumping out of his buggy, found that an extensive vein of fich ore ran beneath the surface of the road for a hundred yards or so and then struck out across a ridge in a neighboring field. A little careful prospecting showed the existence of several outcroppings of quartz in the neighborhood, and development operations were soon proceeded with.

The Belmont gold mine, which is held by Mr. Carscallen, includes the east half of lot 20 and the southeast quarter of lot 21, in the 1st concession of Belmont, in the County of Peterboro, and also the west half of lot 20 in the 1st concession of Marmora, in the County of Hastings, about 257 acres in all. The Ontario, Belmont and Northern Railway, which runs across one corner of the property, joins the Central Ontario Railway ten miles away, and via the C. O. R. connects with the C. P. R. and G. T. R. to the south. TOPOGRAPHY OF THE PROPERTY.

The surface of the Property is the contral of the property of the property.

The surface of the Property. PAVED WITH GOLD ORE. TOPOGRAPHY OF THE PROPERTY. The surface of the property is undulating and rocky, strong outcrops of archaean rocks being observable. Glacial grooves are evident upon the rock exposures. While there has evidently been much disturbance and metamorphic action, the outcrops of the gold-bearing veins, contained in chloritic schist, are, however, persistent and can all be traced for a considerable distance.

THE ORE DEPOSITS.

The ore deposits consist of a system of quartz veins, more or less decomposed at the surface and carrying sulpherets of iron and traces of copper. In a personal survey of the property I examined four district veins, all having a more or less similar trend and a southerly to southwesterly dip. The sulphurets are scattered through the quartz gangue of the veins with occasional streaks and bands near the walls of chloritic schist, which are veins.

The four strongly defined veins I examined are known as the Main, Centre, O'Neill and Chishoim veins, and more or less development work has been done upon all of them.

DEVELOPMENT WORK.

DEVELOPMENT WORK.

Beginning at the main vein near the road, I visited the main shaft, which has been sunk first vertically, and then following the dip of the vein to a depth of 132 feet. The vein shows distinctly all the way down. At the surface it is only 3 1-2 feet wide, but on descending it widens to 12 feet, pinches lower down to 1 1-2 feet and widens at a still greater depth to 6 feet, which width it maintains to the bottom of the shaft. A spur was noticed 50 feet down coming in from the north. Near the surface the ore was found to be more or less oxidized in character, but below this the vein matter is a hard, white quartz containing sulphurets in variable quantities.

GOLD PANNED BY THE WORLD

After crossing a swampy hollow I found the main vein following its true course, cropping out again in the side of a knoll. Here a cut has been driven into the hillside, and a shaft of some depth sunk. At the mouth of the cut the vein measures 10 feet across, and the hanging and foot-walls are seen to be of the orthodox kind. The walls are chlorite and the vein matter is quartz, stained and brown from the decomposed sulphuret of iren. From a panning of the decomposed and crumbled quartz here obtained I secured a nice showing of coarse-grained gold dust.

Beyond this cut to the east a test pit has been sunk on it feet. Test pits have been sunk o

You May Think So, But You're Wrong.

It's theory and condition. A bad back, you know what that is—one that's lame, weak or aching—that's the condition. You suffer from it often. The cause bothers you. You can't be certain, but you have a theory. Perhaps you think it's overwork. You take something for the tired feeling, something advertised as "good for everything." There's where you're wrong. The theory is wrong. The result is wrong. That bad back don't mean bad blood. Don't mean a lazy liver. Don't mean rheumatism. It means tired kidneys. You want a kidney medicine, for kidneys only. That's Doan's Kidney Pills. The kidneys call for them. Weak kidneys gain daily strength with Doan's Kidney Pills. Lame kidneys are lame no more with Doan's Kidney Pills. Sick kidneys know not sickness when they know Doan's Kidney Pills, and Doan's Kidney Pills know nothing but kidney disorders, because they're made for kidneys only. Plenty of Toronto proof that this is so.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM—Mr. S. Ackerman, Commercial Traveler, Belleville, writes: "Some years ago I used Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for Inflammatory Rheumatism, and three bottles effected a complete cure. I was the whole of one summer unable to move without crutches, and every movement caused excruciating pains. I am now out on the road and exposed to all kinds of weather, but have never been troubled with rheumatism since. I, however, keep a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Oil on hand, and I always recommend it to others, as it did so much for me." ed
