Springbank Outing Draws Thousands of Merrymakers Wednesday-Features Are Numerous.

Several thousand people picnicked with the grocers at the city park yesterday afternoon. Children seemed to hold sway, especially the babies. One of the largest baby shows in this district was held. There were 125 babies present, but not 125 mothers, as the wins were comparatively numerous. In last class of boys four pairs of twins were entered, and in the last class of girls there were 22 entries. Harry Clark of Toronto, who was one of the judges, said: "This part of Ontario sure is doing its bit. If I have the fortune of Toronto, who was one of ship judges, said: "This part of Ontario sure is doing its bit. If I have the fortune of acting as judge at any more baby shows I will certainly tell them the way the district around London has done in both output and quality."

Close Contest.

One of the bits of humor of the day was "the largest family on the grounds" contest. If it hadn't been for one of that family it would have been second best. Judging from appearance, the one that brought the prize to her kin was about five years old. Two families were tied for first place, until the child, noticing one of her brothers was missing, immediately recruited a searching party. Just as the judges were going to award the prize to the one with eight children, their hopes were vanished, as one of the judges startled the audience by saying, "We didn't count right!" All eyes were turned on the little boy, who by this time had realized that his coming to the scene had won for his parents 98 pounds of

Phone calls were quite frequent. Several men who were not onto the joke were called to answer a phone call from either their wife or some man with whom he had arranged business with. Here is the joke. On the secretary's desk was a desk phone. The secretary's desk was a desk phone. The mouthpiece was arranged so that it could be filled with talcum powder. A rubber hose went up the stalk and a tank of wind was underneath the table. The operator turned a tap, and when the person who was expecting either a "calling down" for not coming home to lunch or that a high business home to lunch or that a high business home. ing home to lunch or that a big business transaction had been called off because of him not being present, found his mouth and coat completely covered with the powder. ## HARRY SMITH KILLED IN G. T. R. YARD HERE

Caught Between Two Cars At Car Works-Coroner Orders Inquest.

Harry Smith, aged 29, a Grand Trunk switchman, who was a boarder at 440 English street, was killed by being caught between two cars in the yards of the car works at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. He had been employed on the yard engine since April. Although no one saw the fatality it is thought that he was working on the coupling attachments when the cars were being shunted. Many of the cars in this yard are defective, having been sent here for repairs, and, it is said, the attachments on the cars between which he was cought may have been which he was caught may have been out of order, for he was jammed between the bodies of the cars.

A fellow-employee stated at the preliminary inquest which Coroner Robt. Ferguson called at 6 o'clock last night that he gave the signal for the engine which was coupled to the cars to move, but did not see Smith until after the accident.

Today at noon the jury will visit the scene of the accident, and will attend the inquest proper at the police station at 8 o'clock on Friday night. The names of the jurors follow: Percy Ashton (foreman), Stephen Duncan, Thomas Hall, James Deane, John Taylor, Arthur Mann, Cecil Mann, William Richmond and J. G. McCartney. nond and J. G.
