WORLD'S COMPLAINT COLUMN

'As an example of the indifference Street Railway Co. to the rights lay night or rather Saturday mornple returning from a function in Park dale boarded an eestbound Queen-street car (after waiting over 30 min-utes after due time). Several of the party asked for transfers to a Dun-das car, when the information was given that there would be an hour to wait. These started to walk on alighting at Dundas, but had not gone 100 yards when a car showing white lights and labelled "Church-street" turned up Dundas-street, and the best efforts of the pedestrians towards having the car stop only seemed to add to the speed and a more emphatic clanging and the walk wa tinued with at least some of the party feeling warmer (under the collar) than before. Now, why should that car not have taken up that party (each of whom had already paid 10c), even the not on the regular run?
