

WILLIE GETS INTO TROUBLE WITH HIS LATEST INVENTION

DEAR TOMMY: I invented this rake to help Sandy, our gardener. It was doing the work nicely, when the wind freshened, and we all got pelted with the dirt.
Yours, etc. WILLIE.

Gentlemen: (which ought to be man-eating sharks)
Before the bank can wait a second,
take the claim you make under advisement. We shall require the presentation of an itemized bill — itemized in capitals. And if the amounts then seem reasonable to us, we shall be glad to settle it promptly; for that's what you have to do, whether you owe it or not, to keep these bloodsucking vampires from slapping an attachment on you.
Very sincerely yours,
