Breezy Briefs on Current Pastimes on Events of Interest to Fans.

It is surprising how much interest is manifested locally in the big football matches in the States. A number of enquiries have been received concerning the Yale-Harvard football match, which is to be staged in Cambridge Saturday afternoon. This game is also attracting attention in many of the eastern States, and the result will be awaited with interest. Yale is considered to be so far superior to Harvard that it seems certain they will have little difficulty winning. The big question of the day is on the score. One Wall Street firm has wagered $2,000 that Yale will not score more than 16 points, while other offers of $ to $ are being placed that Harvard will score. From this it is evident that Harvard supporters have little confidence in their team. This is certainly quite a change from the days when Haughton was coach.

Ralph Greenleaf of Philadelphia, world's champion pocket billiard player, evidently decided that the Billiard League officials were serious when they threatened to punish him if he persisted in playing pool, and he has decided to play pool. In a special 700 point match. This series was to have started last night, but was called off. Greenleaf would be very foolish to antagonize the Billiard League officials, for they have arranged many matches for him, which proved highly satisfactory from a remunerative standpoint.

Whether or not "Young" Strickling is a flash in the pan will be determined in Boston next Monday night when he meets Joe Egan. His credited victory over Mike McTigue was a real battle, and he has earned a reputation as a boxer of merit and he will have to show ring science as well as hitting ability if he hopes to eliminate Egan. Egan is one of the most popular boxers in the "Hub," and his friends are confident that he will quickly despatch the Macon "flash."

Many writers seem to have a mania to create division. One sport editor in the States keeps harping about "breakers ahead for Frank Chance," the newly appointed leader of the White Sox. When he was first appointed to handle the Chicago American League team, reports were current that Eddie Collins, Harry Hooper and Ray Schalk were all perfect, because they had been "interlocking boys" for the managerial berth. Collins has since denied that he has any desire to manage the club, while Hooper is not the type who opposes the wishes of his superiors. He is one of the most gentlemanly players in the majors, and his retiring disposition belies these rumors. As far as Schalk is concerned, there may or may not be truth in the statement that he would like to be at the helm. It is questionable if Schalk has the qualifications to handle a major league team. There is no denying that he is a clever pitcher, but it has yet to be proved that he will blossom into a leader. There is no denying that Chance has a contract ahead of him if he enters into the building up of a pennant contender, but with some of the old reliables and an abundance of youngsters, he is usually temperamental and if some reading that they are dissatisfied they may begin to believe they have a grievance. A manager's path at the best of times is not strewn with roses, so why try and make it harder for him even if he is on an opposing club.

From all indications Jack Britton will have to realize that "Father Time" is taking his toll, and that his days in the roped arena are numbered. Although he displayed ring craft and courage in his recent bout with Frankie Schell in Boston, he was only a reminder of that once great fighter. The spring is gone from his legs and his "pep" has departed, leaving behind a "head full of knowledge" but a body incapable of standing the strain. When a boxer like Schell can win a decision over him it is time he packed the gloves away. It is a sad but true story which all athletes must face, namely, that youth will be served.

TO HOLD HOCKEY AND BASKETBALL ANNUALS TONIGHT

Hockey and basketball for the approaching winter season will be lined up at annual meetings this evening of the City Hockey League and the City Basketball League. The hockey annual will be held in the Board of Trade rooms at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The basketball annual will be held in the Y. M. C. I. at 8 o'clock with delegates present from St. George's A. A., Trojans, Y. M. C. I. Efforts will be made to arrange a fair schedule and start the league at once. The winner in this league will qualify to play-off for the Maritime title.

WHEN THE WILD BULL BATTLES THE "APE MAN"

The ape man of Bolivia, self styled, comes forward to do battle in the ring. He is an Indian giant and his little maynates call him Camacho. The yard stick shows that Camacho is seven feet tall and proportionately all. Camacho wants to fight Pippo. It might make a great fight. "In this corner, gents, Pippo, the wild bull of the Pamperis; in the other corner, Camacho, the savage orang-utang of the Punas. Both boys are members of this club."

Pays Money to Pitch

Unique Experience of Pete Donohue, Star of Red's Staff.

PETE DONOHUE

Fort Worth, Tex.—Ever hear of a major league pitching star paying $5.85 to pitch a game on a barnstorming trip?

"No!"

Well, that's what happened to Peter J. Donohue, pitching star of the Cincinnati Nationals, who was the feature performer in a barnstorming game between the Fort Worth Stars and a club at Leonard, Tex., led by Tomper Higney, Detroit shortstop. You see it all came about this way: Pete agreed to pitch the game for the Fort Worth club and the team departed for Leonard via the automobile route. It was agreed that the company which furnished the automobiles would be paid a certain sum.

The boys were off for Leonard one was automatically off. Saturday morning. It ordinarily takes about four hours to make the 100-mile trip. But it rained all night and bad roads slowed the automobiles up. As a result, the team arrived in Leonard an hour after time for the game to start. The guarantee on Saturday's game was for an uphill game in order to survive. He has not let down since the tournament ended. He said the cypriote had improved to such an extent that any kind of a slump would mean the end of his reign as champion. He realizes that he has two important matches ahead of him, those against Cochran, and that in the event of victory he must prepare for Schaefer, recognized as one of the greatest match players in the game.

TO PLAY FOR THE WORLD'S TITLE

Loser of Hoppe-Cochrane Match will be Recognized as First Challenger.

New York, Nov. 22.—The loser of the play-off for the world's 182 ball-line billiard championship, which will be held in Chicago on Dec. 17, 18 and 19, will be rated second in the tournament starting and as a result will be the recognized challenger, it has been decided officially. It has been ruled that the play-off is a continuation of the international tournament which ended in a tie between Willie Hoppe and Walker Cochran on Nov. 5.

It means now that Hoppe and Cochran will clash twice in 1,000-point matches, for the loser of the play-off is virtually certain to exercise his right to challenge. It originally was the belief that Young Jake Schaefer, who finished third in the tournament, would be recognized as the challenger of the winner.

Schaefer has not given up hope of getting another chance to win the title before going to California. He has been accommodated. In the event Hoppe wins both the play-off and the challenge match, he can be counted upon to give Schaefer his chance, for only a few days ago Hoppe said that should he be successful in retaining his title he would honor the challenger of recognized players. And Schaefer is a player who would not avoid, if intimidated.

However, Cochran may be the man who will have much to say about future challenge matches. He has gained confidence as a result of his tournament success and his decisive victories over Hoppe and Schaefer have done much to inspire him. Shortly before leaving for California, he said that he had partially convinced the billiard world that he was champion, and he has no doubt as to this after the play-off and the challenge matches with Hoppe. Cochran always has been a spectacular, but not a consistent player. His sensational work against Hoppe and Schaefer, in which he registered his best average, has served to convince him that his two greatest rivals are not so formidable.

Cochran's one ambition has been to be called the world's champion. He has been playing in world's tournaments for more than five years and the victory he scored over Hoppe this year was the first time that he over defeated Hoppe. Cochran felt badly over his great form reversal in his match against Edith Hagelander in which he lost his only game in the tournament and thereby lost his chance to gain the world's title outright. Schaefer took his defeat keenly, but has not lost heart. He worked hard to regain the title, gave up all his exhibition work in public and concentrated in private in perfecting his game. His only setbacks were at the hands of Hoppe and Cochran and he

CAMERA SHOWS ZEV WAS BEATEN

Slow Motion Picture Discloses In Memoriam Leading by Inches.

New York, Nov. 23.—Slow motion pictures of the Zev-In Memoriam match Saturday at Churchill Downs, Louisville, exhibited by the Pathé Company, show In Memoriam an apparent victor by a half head, although part, at least, of this margin was due to the location of the camera six feet beyond the finish line. The judge declared Zev winner by a nose in one of the most thrilling thoroughbred races in history.

Calculation of the camera's location to the wire and distance from the horses at the finish gives In Memoriam an advance of about four inches in the pictures, according to an explanation made by Emanuel Cohen, Pathé editor, to newspapermen who witnessed a special showing of the films. Discounting this, however, it was pointed out, In Memoriam was a lead of approximately eight inches, inasmuch as the margin actually apparent in the pictures is about 12 inches.

Mr. Cohen emphasized, however, that this explanation was purely from a technical standpoint, and that the revelations of the camera's eye. He refused to commit himself personally on the matter of the race, regarding the outcome of the race.

The pictures show that Zev got off to a bad start, veering wide to the barrier and losing considerable ground. Joe Kelly Sands, up on the conque of the jockey, was seen to whip the pilot in Memoriam, who whipped his mounts frantically in a driving finish.

BLAME OPPONENTS' PANTS FOR BIG FOOTBALL SCORE

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—It was the rubber pants of the Mountaineers that contributed to the 46 to 0 victory of West Virginia last Saturday, say the grip men of St. Louis University.

The "rainy day trousers" were used for the first time by the West Virginia crew. Just when the St. Louis players thought they had a death grip on the husky Mountaineers' rubber pants, made silk by the rain, the St. Louis boys would go down, but the West Virginians would stay up.

The rubber pants are said to be an invention of the West Virginia coach. Joe Duggan in hospital.

New York, Nov. 23.—Joe Duggan, star third baseman of the world's champion New York Yankees, last Tuesday underwent an operation for a knee injury familiarly known among athletes as a "double lock." It is described as a variety of dislocation in the left knee and not considered serious.

For the winter. There is a general feeling of optimism at the club.

W. J. S. Myles, principal of the High School, was pleased with Miss Rosemond M. DeWolfe Archibald when she had the opportunity of a chat with him yesterday afternoon.

When asked last evening as to his opinion of the methods used by this clever young teacher, said that he knew little as yet of her methods, but he was heartily in accord with her principles as outlined to him. He is looking forward eagerly to hearing these methods explained today. He is delighted with the ideas put forward by Miss Archibald and is doing all in his power to interest the children of the schools to attend the Imperial Academy. Further than this, Mr. Myles says that he hopes the parents of the children will be largely represented in the audience. He believes the great advantages of the educational system will be assured when there is complete co-operation between the home and the schools.

In the matter of better use of the English language, Mr. Myles also spoke of the reflection of the home on the child attending school and vice versa. If Miss Archibald's method can bring about this reflection of better speech, forming a co-operative link, Mr. Myles feels that a great advance will be made in the mode of speech everywhere. He was very proud to state that the High School orchestra will play today at the Imperial for Miss Archibald's lecture and demonstration.

The young girls of the Standard Business College will appear in uniform, and a banner has been prepared by the girls of the Imperial staff, Arthur Stringer. This banner will be used in the official box. W. H. Golding is doing all in his power to assist Miss Archibald in her efforts to get her splendid idea before the public.

"WILLIE" LOGAN

To William Logan, classy young local sculler, and Canadian boy champion skater, goes the honor of being the first Canadian to have his picture and record published in the Nestor Johnson Mfg. Company's booklet containing interesting data on racing, hockey and figure skating. Emerson & Fisher, Ltd., local agents for the Nestor Johnson Mfg. Co., were largely instrumental in having this accomplished. When the agent of the company was here some time ago it was brought to his attention that Willie Logan won the Canadian and National championships last winter and was entitled to recognition. As a result his picture and record appears in the latest edition.

ARE OUT FOR CLEAN HOCKEY

Hope to Eliminate Practices Which Mar Fine Winter Sport.

(Montreal Gazette.)

At the postponed annual meeting of the National Hockey League, which is to be held in Ottawa on December 1, certain proposals are to be submitted by the Ottawa Hockey Association looking to the elimination of practices for players who indulge in it. Such winter game in recent seasons and have disgusted the lovers of clean sport. It should be necessary to state that the public who follow professional hockey, and support it, want to see the game decently played; they have no love for deliberate foul-play and not the smallest admiration for players who indulge in it. Such a game is, unfortunately, in the minority, but that is reason enough why they should not be permitted to bring the game into disrepute; if they cannot or will not play the game as it should be played, they should be put out of it, and kept out. The proposals of the Ottawa Association will, if adopted, clothe the president of the N. H. L. with practically unlimited authority in dealing with offending players. The details are for the League representatives to determine, but the principle is one in regard to which there should be no difference of opinion, nor should there be any hesitation in adopting and enforcing whatever drastic remedies are considered necessary. That existing penalties are not sufficiently severe is proven in the frequency and flagrancy of the examples of bad sportsmanship which lovers of good hockey have had so much reason to deplore. Hockey can be made a clean game, just as professional baseball—the most highly organized and commercialized of all sports—has been made clean. There have been violations of the ethics of baseball, some of minor importance, and some very few that have been scandalous, but the delinquents, under the rule of Commissioner Landis, have been dealt with vigorously and impartially, and the more serious offences have ended the baseball careers of players, with the result that baseball is as clean a sport as any that is played on this continent. The same can be true of hockey. The game is fast and, in some degree, a dangerous one; accidents cannot be altogether prevented, but deliberate thug-work can and ought to be stopped.

PAL REED TO MEET BOGASH

Have Been Matched for a Bout in Boston.

Boston, Nov. 23.—Louis Bogash of Bridgeport and Pal Reed, the "fighting parson," who gave former champion Johnny Wilson a real battle last week, have been matched to clash at Mechanics' building, Friday evening, Nov. 30.

The match looks up as one of the best middleweight attractions of the year, and as Bogash always has been a favorite here, it is expected that the bout will prove popular with the fans.

An effort was made to obtain Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia to meet Bogash, but the Philly boxer refused to mingle with the hard hitting Bridgeport middleweight.

Since Bogash won a referee's decision over Jack Malone recently, mid-dleweights refuse to meet him. All in all in his power to assist Miss Archibald in her efforts to get her splendid idea before the public.

Champion Greb Promises He Will Reform.

Pittsburg, Penn., Nov. 23.—Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, has decided to leave the limelight and travel the pace he formerly did. He has promised his Pittsburg backers that he will be in condition for the Downey fight and that he is not going to take any chances with the Chinabush lad.

The middleweight champion's friends, however, are pursuing the watchful waiting policy. They want to see if Greb really means it before they take any more chances with the Chinabush lad.

Greb declares he will never fight Jones the other day still sticks. Greb declares he will never fight Jones the other day still sticks. Greb declares he will never fight Jones the other day still sticks.
