WHAT HYDRO DOES FOR THE PEOPLE

(Toronto Globe).
A prominent Toronto builder put up a handsome home, and is going to let a lot of electrical contractors, dealers and appliance manufacturers use it to teach Toronto people the advantages of modern electrical devices.

Torontonians are to be shown how to wash dishes, sweep carpets, sew, cook and do other things in a more efficient way. These dealers and appliance manufacturers along with the Toronto Hydro-electric System thought that it would be better if they could show in a real way just how a home looks and runs when electricity is the handmaid. They also knew that a much better idea of the usefulness of a washing machine, for instance, could be given if the machine was fitted up in the home laundry instead of in a store window, where there isn't room to move about.

An electric range will be there, and a dish washer and a water heater, which, if it isn't convenient to have it in the kitchen, then have it in the cellar, but a switch up in the kitchen starts it going and stops it.
A sewing machine, a glow heater, an electric ironing machine, and sparkling appliances on the dining room table will be present. From top to bottom this will be an electric house. Although such prosaic things as washing machines will be in evidence, yet the daintiest of little lamps and the most artistic of floor lamps will furnish illumination. Hints will be given as to the correct method of wiring and the best system of illumination.
This house will be open to the public for two weeks. There will be no admission charge, and none of the articles displayed will be for sale.

N. Y. POLICEMAN IS KILLED BY A CRAZED NEGRO

New York, Jan. 20.—A crazed negro, awaiting examination as to his sanity last night shot and mortally wounded Patrolman Motz in a rear room of the West 123rd street police station. Motz, who had a wife and two children, died in less than an hour. He had been shot with his own gun.
A second killing was averted when the gun misfired. Patrolman Hagstrand was the second intended victim. He leaped at the negro as he stood over his victim's body. The negro was subdued after a terrific fight in which half a score of policemen beat him down.

HAS MAINTAINED ITS PRESTIGE AND ITS MEMBERSHIP

Canadian Club of New York
Closes Another Successful
Year—1,119 Members on Roll.

The Canadian Club of New York has maintained both its membership and prestige during the past year. On account of the financial stringency most clubs have experienced large decreases in membership, but the Canadian Club has not been very substantially affected. Its present total membership is 1,119, made up of 629 resident members, 360 non-resident, 293 associate, and seven junior. As it is computed that there are 30,000 Canadians in New York City, it is felt that the possibilities of the club and its potential membership have so far been merely scratched upon the surface, and that the actual work, scope and importance of the club are merely in its infancy. With the New Year there will be launched a campaign for additional membership, and every present member will be requested to propose a new member.

Under the presidency of Sir Albert Oliver, who recently visited a number of cities in Canada, the activities of the club have been many and varied. The two banquets held in the Biltmore Hotel this year were attended respectively by the Hon. N. W. Rowell and Sir James Aikins. The Rowell dinner was one of the most successful in the history of the club, and the address of Mr. Rowell on his return from the meeting of the assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva, aroused great enthusiasm among the 700 Canadian men who were present. The club smoker, concerts which are held in the club quarters in the Hotel Belmont have proved a most successful feature of the social activities of the club and these occasions are rapidly becoming important ones among Canadians in New York. Men from every province, engaged in every phase of activity in New York, gathered to exchange ideas and recall old associations.

Club Golf Circle.

The Club Golf Circle has grown in importance during the year, and the privileges at the Wheatley Hills and other golf clubs, enjoyed by the club's members, have been taken the fullest advantage of. Trophies have been presented and the annual dinner of the Golf Club was recently held, at which these trophies fell to the winners.

On Dominion Day the president gave a dinner in honor of the club's officers, and a number of guests, and it is proposed to make this function an annual celebration. Saturday luncheons are now held in the club's quarters, and these have been addressed by such speakers as H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times.

"The Maple Leaf," a monthly magazine, which is the official organ of the club, has been revived, and it is hoped that will make it of interest to other than members of the Canadian Club. It is primarily designed to serve the purpose of keeping the non-resident members in touch with the club and its activities.

During the year the club has been very active in relief work. The Canadian Club was one of the first organizations in the United States to telegraph $1,000 to the governor of Colorado at the time of the Pueblo disaster, but the greatest need of the moment is for the alleviation of distress among the many Canadians—ex-soldiers and otherwise—stranded in New York, without funds or employment. It has provided a very serious and difficult problem, with which the Canadian Club has been grappling. In this connection the president recently issued the following individual appeal to each member of the club:

"There are many hundreds of Canadians and British ex-soldiers in New York, not only out of employment, but in real need of shelter and clothing. As the winter grows more severe, there needs will become the more acute. I therefore, desire to personally call your attention to these conditions in order to enlist your support and co-operation. An immediate urgent need is clothing—clothing for men, women and children. Fellow Canadians in search of food and employment are out in the present weather without sufficient clothing, and I appeal for your contributions of any spare clothing you may have."

"I enlist your help in alleviating conditions which are bound to become more serious, even though it might entail the side-tracking of some personal comfort or pleasure. Over forty men a day are being dealt with, and I cannot over-emphasize the urgency of this appeal."

Work or Relief.

The actual work of relief is being splendidly carried on by the B. G. W. V. of America in New York, who have now established a bureau for the issue of clothing and subsistence and the finding of employment.
The Canadian Club of New York has maintained its place as the largest, most representative and influential Canadian organization in the United States, and it is living up to its objects as expressed in article 11 of the constitution, which reads:

"The objects of the club shall be to promote friendly and social intercourse among Canadians in this vicinity; the entertainment of prominent Canadians and other distinguished visitors; to encourage amicable relations between the peoples of the United States and Canada; the dissemination of data bearing upon the industrial, commercial and literary resources of Canada; and to provide relief for those in need of assistance."

A committee is considering the question of a permanent home for the club. The lease on its present quarters in the Hotel Belmont expires in two years, and it is felt that a home with a separate identity and character should be secured. Such a building would be more consistent with the dignity and importance of Canadian interests in New York. It is felt, too, that there cannot be a real club atmosphere until the quarters are removed from a hotel. The present location of the club, however, is a great asset and convenience to Canadian non-resident members visiting in New York, as they can cross direct from the Grand Central Station to the club, with its guest rooms, bath and dining room and every conceivable facility for comfort.

During the past year many hundreds of Canadians, who are non-resident members of the club or their friends have stayed at the club during their visit to New York.

"HARD BOILED
SMITH" GETS INTO
EVIDENCE AGAIN

Washington, Jan. 20.—The shooting of a United States soldier by a firing squad in France was described to the senate committee investigating alleged illegal executions, yesterday by George W. Yarbrough, of Rome, Ala., who said he was an eye-witness.

"During heavy shell fire near Chateau Thierry," said Yarbrough, "I was going up the road with other men, when we saw a soldier, his hands tied behind him being marched towards the woods. There was an officer, I judged to be a major, in charge of the squad, and when they started to shoot the soldier, a white boy about twenty years of age, he asked that he be not blindfolded."

The witness said he was twenty steps away when the command was given to fire. He did not know whether there had been a trial, but he heard the soldier was shot for neglect of duty.

Much testimony relating to alleged abuse of enlisted men cropped out again
