Allied Gunfire and Downpour of Rain Responsible

LUCK AGAINST THE ENEMY

Our Guns Played Havoc With Hun Preparations for Assault-Allies Win Back Large Number of Important Positions

With the British Army in France, May 5—(By the Associated Press)—Luck seems to be going against the Germans along the crucial northern battle-front. Sunday still found the Prussian commanders working desperately to whip their organizations into shape for a renewal of the delayed offensive, while the Allied forces, aided by the weather, continued counter operations which are most disconcerting to an enemy playing against time.

against time.

It was quite apparent that the Germans intended another assault in Flanders yesterday morning, but the arrangements were held up by a combination of events. There were the Allied operations and a heavy rain which converted the ground into mud flats over which it was difficult to move either infantry or artillery. There was also confusion arising from wholesale reliefs and the arrival of strange troops in the German area. artillery. There was also confusion arising from wholesale reliefs and the arrival of strange troops in the German area. The Allied artillery has been maintaining an incessant bombardment of enemy territory and on Friday night, before the projected German attack, the French and British gunners played havoc with the German preparations. The Allied troops also have been carrying out successive local operations, which /improved their lines and upset enemy schemes to a marked degree.

Yesterday the Allies occupied a large number of important positions at various points along the front of 4,000 yards west of Kemmel. The British also made an advance of 500 yards along a front of 1,000 yards northwest of Locon, thereby gaining several positions which had been contested many days. This morning the Germans tried to regain some of these positions, but were repulsed. An enemy attack yesterday morning in the Locon area under cover of heavy barrage likewise was smashed.

On the southern battle front the British last night near Sailly le Sec advanced their line in a minor operation, without casualties. The German prisoners taken in all these local engagements make a considerable total.

The spirit of the Allied troops remains at the highest pitch. They know that every day's delay is in itself a victory for them. Each day makes America loom larger on the horizon and brings the much needed overseas troops nearer the battle lines.
