Inspector Wilson Hopes to See Them Widely Adopted-Have a Great Educative Influence.

During the conference the other day be tween a committee of the navy league and Inspector Wilson regarding the need in the schools, the inspector announced himself a strong advocate of the organization of school libraries. He pointed out that through the library the committee could impress on the children the greatness of the navy and what its maintenance at the highest grade of efficiency meant to the Eurire. A large number of the schools in the interior towns, he said, were equipped with libraries, and he hoped Victoria would follow suit. He furnished each member of the deputation with a copy of a paper on school libraries read by him before the Provincial Teachers' Institute at Revelstoke. "Eminent educators," he says, "regard the library as antessential part of the equipment of a school. And it is, there fore, safe to repeat that a few shelves of books-well chosen, that is, some for entertainment and inspiration, others for information—and well used—come very near doubling the efficiency of a school.

It is not to be wondered at that children whose reading habits receive little culti-vation should have no love for books, at least for those books which are whole some and helpful. Nor, at this point should we forget that the golden oppor tunity to cultivate the taste for reading and to direct it into proper channels is afforded in the elementary schools. It has been found that commonly the desire | leaving Col. Wolfenden was not feeling to read becomes strong about eight years of age, increases steadily to 10, then rapidly from 11 to 14, culminating about Over 3,000 people were in attendance at he annual games held at Vancouver on home, the school and the public or school library, working in harmony, should be

this matter."
Inspector Wilson in his paper also re fers to the desirability of helpful co-operation of the public library with the public school. He says: "This, as you know, is possible only in cities which Maggie Hill, of Victoria, participated in have large free public libraries, such as several, and it was the unanimous opinion New Westminster, Vancouver and Victoria, and it would, undoubtedly, much to solve the school library ques in these cities. For instance, the Victoria High school is now pressing for a good library of reference books for teachers and pupils. Why should the city hesitate to establish in the High school building a branch of the public library containing the books asked for? In fact, all our public libraries should be managed so as to help the local schools in every way. The time has surely gone by when the librarian is merely a custo-dian of books; he must now seek alliance with the teacher, his co-worker in the educational field. It is not too much to say that the public library which has no connection with local schools is neglect-ing its mission and ignoring one of its ndblest opportunities. But how is this brary. Such co-operation should lead the opening in the public library buildship of B. C. and gold medal donated by ing of school reference rooms or school the late G. R. Maxwell, won by J. TO INTERVIEW GOVERNMENT. Wm. McAdam, Manager of Mayflower Mining Co., Will Request Financial Assistance.

Among Sunday's arrivals from Seat the Mayflower Gold Mining & Milling Company, a promising property on the Lillooet river near Harrison Ho Springs. Mr. McAdam is here for the purpose of interviewing the government in the endeavor to obtain some assistance in the construction of a bridge across the river, a distance of about 220 feet. He estimates that the undertaking would not cost more than $1,500, and, while it would be valuable to the Mayflower company for transportation, it would pro-vide the same facilities for other mining companies, and likely result in a more general development of the district. The Mayflower company, Mr. McAdam says, is willing to contribute half the small expense if the provincial government with the enterprise. This question was fully considered at a meeting of the company several days ago at Seattle, when the following resoion was passed: "That the president and treasurer are hereby authorized to immediately place an order for a sawmill and a 30-stamp mill outfit for the Mayflower property as soon as assistance given by the commissioner of mines British Columbia towards a bridge across the Lillooet river (at Kookumchuck) for the transmission of machinery across said river at the mines." Already Mr. McAdam affirms the com pany has spent thousands of dollars in exploiting the property, and indications are so promising that it has been decided to continue work on a more extensive scale. As mentioned, it is the intention, if the assistance of the government is secured, to install a much larger plant. This will entail considerable expenditure, and to meet this a number of Seattle capitalists have contributed the sum of Mr. McAdam is among the guests at
