On the other hand, an undertaking that anthracite coal will be removed from the free list if the United States duty coal is not reduced.

The most important changes affecting industries are those in the prim ary products of iron and in the cotto and woollen schedules. It requires some study to work out the effects of those changes. The makers of bar iron protested vigorously in 1894 against the reductions made in their protection. Under the late tariff they had a protective duty of $10 a ton, but they had to pay $4 a ton duty on imported scrap or $5 on imported terial. The duty on bar iron has been reduced from $10 to $7, which is exactly the same cut as Mr. Foster made when he reduced it from $13 in 1894. But Mr. Foster increased the duty on scrap, and this government ced it. Mr. Foster left the iron sent margin will be $5.50, but if ower tariff on English goods is made this year and $4.12 1-2 next year. Or if the rolling mills use puddled bar for raw material, the margin will not be $5 as now, but $3, which, under the preferential clauses, will be reduced to $2 62 1-2 this year and $2.25. Lext year. At present, however, there is very little prospect of either English pig or English bar iron being imported even under the most favored we tion clauses. If the United States urers can send these goods to England, they will still be able to send them here in competition with

The smelting works find their tariff protection reduced from $4 to $2.50 ton on the pig iron, which they roduce, but they get $1 additional ounty, so that their total protection only been reduced from $6 to $5.50, and the country will be obliged to contribute half as much again as formerly in bounties. If the smelters confine their production to puddled ars, they get a double bounty, mounting to $2 additional, and their tariff protection is only reduced by that they are protected better than before. The manufacturers steel ingots get protection reduced by $1 the ton, but their new bounty will re than make up for that.

The new tariff therefore seems to give the hardware manufacturers who use iron bar and pig iron, a little aper raw material, not altogether at the expense of the primary iron works, but largely at the expense of the Canadian taxpayer. And it does not appear that the protection given to agricultural men has on a whole

The patrons and the western men The patrons and the western men apparently take that view of the case. Already Mr. Douglas, one of the Northwest representatives, who is a preacher and a patron, and sits behind Mr. Laurier, has given notice of a resolution condemning the new tariff as falling to carry out the pledges given to the farmers. The patrons of Ontario are already moving in the matter. Mr. W. B. Fawcett of Sackville has not yet been heard from has not yet been heard from.

In the hardware schedules the principal changes are from specific to ad valorem. This will no doubt lead to a larger importation of cheap goods, and must tell very much in favor of rmany, which is a great producer of that class of hardware, and especfally of cutlery. The same changes from specific per centage duties strike pretty hard at the woollen industry, and already it is reported that one woollen mill has been offered for sale at half price.

The press gallery was well patronized on budget day. The editor of the Toronto Globe, the editor of the Toronto Mail and the Editor of the Editor of the Editor of the Toronto Mail and the Editor of the Edi nto Star came down from Toronto Mr. Dalby of the Montreal Star came up from his city, and the celebrated Edward Farrar, from several United Transcript, who remained over to hear the budget speech, had a sudden and severe attack of the pleurisy before Thursday, and only got out of doors on Satudray.
