ON GEOLOGY From the Citizen

On Tuesday evening last, A. Dick-son, Esq. of Kingston, delivered an able and highly interesting lecture upon the science of geology to a crow ded audien a at the Mechanics' Inst tute. The subject was first examined in a general manner, with respect to the history of the science, and the application of its principles to the Novels and Romances of "Graham" are structure of the whole globe, and then with more particularity in apalying those principles to the Canadian formations. The new knowledge The Editor's Table is made up of as it may be called, added to the gen Humorous Sketches and Anecdotes, eral stock of human information have rolled away since the earth took its place in the planetary system, that before Adam there was an older creation, which had swarmed over every part of the globe, and enjoyed the sustaining care of the Deity for untold ages, until the period assigned to it came to a close, when it ceased to exist. It shows is that before the birth of this preadamite creation, there had been another, and still further back another, and many more, forming a series commencing in an antiquity so vast that the mind be-wilders itself in the vain attempt to comprehend it.
