the greatest place for work in the world, and if I had ten lives I'd put every one in China."
There was a noteworthy gathering of representative Manchester citizens on Friday in the Lord Mayor's parlour to take leave of the Bishop of Lincoln, when he was presented with a cheque for £1,850 as a public testimonial to mark his services as Rector of St. Philip's, Salford, and Canon of Manchester. The subscribers to the testimonial numbered 250, and were representative of all denominations. The Lord Mayor, who presided, said the testimonial paid a high tribute to the large-mindedness of Dr. Hicks, and the honour conferred upon him was well deserved. The Bishop of Manchester said that Dr. Hicks, when in Manchester and Salford, threw himself whole-heartedly into the work of one of the most difficult parishes, and rendered great services to him (the Bishop) on many occasions. "Though you go from our great city to one of the most rural dioceses in England," said His Lordship, "you will very soon find yourself at home among your people and your clergy, and they will find that it is no scholar up in the clouds that has come to sit upon the throne in the Cathedral of Lincoln, no town-bred man hankering for the delights of city life, but one who is a brother to his clergy, one who has a heart to feel for the poorest and humblest of his laity, one who will find himself as much at home with the labourer in the field as with the Dean in his deanery and the Canons in their residences. From our hearts we wish you Godspeed and God's blessing in your new work." Acknowledging the cheque handed to him by the Lord Mayor, the Bishop of Lincoln said that to be made a Bishop placed one in a most curious situation. A Bishop discovered at once that he was one of the poorest of the poor. He had to incur enormous expense straight away, and live in a large house; claims had to be met, and he had nothing wherewith to meet them. He had to wait for the first instalment of his salary, and that seemed a long while. But the people employed could not wait. Be believed every Bishop, as soon as he was appointed, had at once to go to his bankers and secure an overdraft. That was what he did. He went to a friend, and on his guaranty secured an overdraft at his bankers, otherwise he would have been in very great difficulties. He could wish to live in a smaller house, and he wished that he was required to live in far less state; but such things had to be. Their gift would enable him to start fairly straight on what he hoped would be a useful and a happy episcopate.

PEASE "ECONOMY" FURNACE

"I save money each year for 'Economy' owners—the coal bill shows it."

My "Economy" employers are the lucky ones. Why I have attended one "Economy" Furnace for 19 years. No expense for repairs, no bother, no worry—just absolute heating satisfaction, year in and year out. It's because it's built right—every section from heavy, durable material, in the most scientific design. Take the firepot—its peculiar shape makes for fuel saving. It widens slightly at the bottom. The fuel cannot become congested, smothering the fire. It settles evenly and loosely on the grate. Every particle is consumed—every possible heat unit extracted. No waste—no ashes to sift—the "Economy" cuts out that dirty, disagreeable, expensive job. For economy sake you should know more about the Pease heating system. Investigate "Economy" features. Watch for my next talk.
