As she grows older these household duties should be increased with the proportionate increase of money paid for the performance of them. We know of a lady who divided the wages of a servant among her three daughters. There is a systematic arrangement of their labor, which is done with a thoroughness and alacrity rarely tound, either with a hired girl, or a daughter who feels that she has to do it with nothing to encourage and stimulate her in the work. But this growth has unquestionably been more rapid in the country districts than in the towns. Except in a very few exceptional instances there has been no development of a town which has called for an increase in the supply of farm produce. What progress has been made in the towns is rather the result of the general improvement in the farming districts, and the former has not kept pace with the latter because country stores have sprung up in all directions and the great expansion of railway facilities has taken a market to every man's door and rendered it unnecessary FREDERICTON, N. There is no large local demand for articles manufactured from the raw material of the country. For our spruce deals the British, and to some extent the continental, markets furnish a constant, if somewhat unsteady, demand, while of the smaller sorts of wood goods the principal sale is handicapped by a heavy duty. We are quite aware that notwithstanding this duty certain lines can be profitably exported, but the trade is only in its infancy and it will never have a real vigorous growth until all customs' barriers are taken down. In brief, New Brunswick needs a foreign market for its products of every kind. When this is provided small towns will spring up all over the province and will create a steady demand for everything far.ners can raise.

The following bit of sensible advice is taken from the Wooman's Journal:

When a girl is ten years old, she should be given household duties to perform according to the size of money, and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given money, and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given money, and the knowledge how to spend it judiciously, which can so well be given household duties to perform according to her size and strength, be reweakly.
