

"A wounded pony was plunging upon its knees, struggling to rise, and three bodies were tumbled shapeless on the sand of the trail." See page 153.