SHERIFF'S SALE:—Vide QUANTO MINORIS.

SHIPPING:—A captain of a barge has not a right to seize the vessel for his wages on the last voyage, by process of la saisie conservatoire. (Dagenais vs. Douglas et al., C. of R.)..... 109

SUBSCRIPTION:—Vide CONTRACT.

SUMMONS, Service of:—Vide COMPULSION.

TOLL-BRIDGES:—The fact of a Railway Company under its charter having built a railway bridge across the River St. Lawrence and carrying passengers, &c. over such bridge in connection with the ordinary railway traffic, within the limit which the Legislature, in a previous charter to Hon. Robert Jones, prohibited the erection of a Toll-Bridge and the carrying of passengers, &c., does not give rise to an action in favor of Mr. Jones, in application de nouvel ordre, and for an injunction and damages. (Jones, appellant, and the Stanstead, Shefford and Chambly R. W. Co., respondents, Q. B.)..... 157

VERDICT:—Where the defendant, after verdict awarding damages against him, does not move for a new trial, but simply moves for judgment, the Court may arrest the judgment and set aside the verdict, but cannot go beyond that, and dismiss the action. (Guay, appellant, and Brown, respondent, Q. B.)..... 225

WILL:—A clause in a, declaring that a legacy shall be forfeited if the legatee should contest the will, will be held to be comminatory, and as having been made in terrorem. And where such a penalty is imposed for a contestation the Court will enquire into the facts, and if there were just and probable cause for suspecting the validity of the will, it will exercise a just discretion in giving or not giving effect to the clause of forfeiture. (Evanturel and Van, appellants, and Evanturel, respondent, Q. B.)..... 259

—By the uninterrupted practice and usage of the Courts in L. C. since 1801, the grant of Probate is not of that binding and conclusive character which attaches to it in England, and does not prevent the heirs from impugning the validity of the will, in their defence of an action brought thereunder. (Migneault, appellant, and Malo, et al, respondents, P. C.)..... 288

—A testamentary paper, unfinished and unexecuted, but proved to contain the testator's intentions, will be held valid if it be shown satisfactorily that the fact of its not being completed was due to some cause other than the testator's abandonment of his intentions, as, for instance, his sudden death while the paper was being written from dictation. (Do.)..... 288

—The law which introduced the English law into Canada as to wills must be considered as having introduced it with all its incidents, and therefore with the admissibility of oral evidence. (Do.)..... 288

WITNESS:—Vide COMMISSION ROGATOIRE.
