JUNE.—The Rural New Yorker once gave some good advice about selecting a cow, which we here reproduce. A cow of very unpromising appearance, coarse in the neck, large boned, and second or third rate milk marks generally, will now and then turn out first rate, while another with these marks largely developed, fine in the head and neck, and promising every way, will prove unsatisfactory. But a failure in this case is rare. Let the head be light, the forehead broad, the horn rather thin and clear, the eye clear and prominent, the neck thin, and the forequarters rather light, the back straight, the hind quarters well developed wide over the loins, the carcass deep, the udder coming forward and well shaped, the skin soft to the touch, the teats well set, not too large or too small, the tail long and thin like a whip-lash. Such a cow ought to be a good one.
