HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Corn Puffs.—To the contents of one can of corn, add separately the beaten yolks and whites of four eggs and mix gently...

Potato Biscuit.—Into a pint of Irish potato, mashed smooth, while hot, mix one teaspoonful of salt...

Cold Boiled Fish Salad.—Cold boiled fish, left over from dinner the day before, makes a delicious salad.

Light, add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, and pour gradually into one cup of flour...

Fried Celery.—Cut stalks of celery into three or four inch lengths. Even if it is not well blanched it can be used for this purpose.

Sardines With Curry.—Make a paste in the proportion of one tablespoonful of butter to one tablespoonful of French mustard...

Tongue Filets.—Cut cold boiled tongue in pieces about four inches long, two inches wide and half an inch thick.

FOR MAN'S EYE. Housekeeping is a trade quite as much as plumbing and carpentering, and has many more details.

Loving words will cost but little. Journeying up the hill of life, but they make the weak and weary stronger, braver for the strife.

RULES FOR HOME EDUCATION. From your children's earliest infancy inculcate the necessity of instant obedience.

On no account allow them to do at one time what you have forbidden, under like circumstances, at another.

A HEART TO HEART TALK. Are you, dear reader, one of those women who are always brooding over the past?

One of the strongest forces for good is the woman who has strength of mind enough to put the past resolutely behind her and take up the future cheerfully.

But—and here, and here only, is relief from her misery—there is an attitude of mind which can bring the greatest good out of even our worst blunders or our saddest misfortune.

We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial is without doubt the best medicine ever introduced for dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera and all summer complaints.

THE TWO SIDES OF IT. There was a girl who always said her fate was very hard.

BRAIN FOG IN SPRING

FEELING OF DISCOURAGEMENT AND DESPONDENCY FROM WEAK BLOOD—CURE IN

Dr. Chase's NERVE FOOD. Of all the blood supplied as nourishment to the human body one-fifth is consumed in the brain in the manufacture of nerve force.

A CURIOUS ANIMAL

Johnny—Mamma, that kind of an animal is a tornado?

"LULLABY"

Come, come my sweet! Those tired feet Danced through the happy day;

Good-night! Good-night! My heart's delight, Hush—sleep! and never fear!

Hush, hush, dear heart! Stir not nor start! God's stars shine in the sky

WHY BROTHER WOULDN'T BELIEVE

Buser screamed as if he would split his throat, and mother ran to help him.

"I told him not to, mother," insisted Jim. "I told him it would get in his eyes and smart like fire; didn't I, Buser?"

"Yes, sobbed the baby, "he told me, but I didn't believe him."

"Mother looked puzzled you may be sure.

"A wildcat! How could he say the pepper pot was a wildcat?"

"It was this morning," said Jim, twisting out of sight of his mother's eyes.

"Was that right, Jim?" asked the mother.

"But you have broken the truth, and now your little brother doesn't believe what you say."

A HARD THING TO DO

Good humor was restored to a school-room in one of the public schools the other day by an impetuous speech of the teacher, says the Philadelphia Press.

THE FABLE OF THE HEMLOCK. Once upon a time a man found a little dry, dead tree.

What know we of our neighbour's motive, his intention—that thing which we dare to blame?

Just the Thing That's Wanted.—A pill that acts upon the stomach and yet is so compounded that certain ingredients of it preserve their power to act upon the intestinal canals.

have had a hard time. And my roots you know were all cut off, and they are the mouths with which I feed.

With his knife he peeled off all the bark; but still the limbs and knots remained.

So the man split and took off layer after layer of wood. But the knots were there still.

So the man kept on and split it all off, and separated it. Then the heart of the tree was laid bare.

And as the man looked he saw, to his surprise, that every single limb and knot and snarl started in the heart.

A BRIGHT MESSENGER. A few mornings ago I was on an elevated train in New York city.

Messenger boys here have the reputation of being bumptious and impudent. You may imagine then how this nice civility astonished and pleased me.

"You nice little laddie, I'm very much obliged to you." The boy flushed, smiled, and fidgetted awkwardly.

"Before I began here" (touching the buttons of his uniform), "mother told me everything to do. I shut doors quietly, keep my feet off in a room,

When the time came for us to part, I held out my hand and said: "Good-bye, little man. I'm very glad to have met you."

I wish you could have seen him. He flushed, breathed hard, looked up timidly into my face, then, gently and nervously put his hand in mine.

He said he had quite a number of customers who required almost all of his time, that he rarely took home less than $15 for a week's work, and that his banner week was $23.50.

"You know that when people part in the street, if they just know each other, they bow or nod. If, however, you are saying "good-bye" to a real friend, you warmly shake hands.
