LONDON'S GREAT CLOCKS.

The Immensity of Big Ben and the Law Courts' Timepiece.

How many of those who look up at the figure of Nelson will believe that the statue of "our greatest sailor" is three times as tall as a living man? Nothing in the world is so deceptive as distance, as a run round London with a footrule would show. Nobody, so far as one knows, has ever yet been found to believe that Big Ben is over seven yards across the dial, that the hands are together twenty-five feet long, that the minute hand jumps seven inches every time it moves, that the five minute spaces measure nearly two yards and that each of the dials weighs four tons. You may spend a day staring hard at St. Paul's before you will believe that the ball over the dome will hold twelve men and that the cross above it is ten yards high, ten yards above the dome and weighs a ton and a half. Yet a footrule and the dean's permission are all that you need to be convinced that these things are not what they seem.

Every one knows how impossible it is to fix the distance of a ship at sea or a fire on a dark night, when the contrast of the light with the surrounding darkness brings the vision near though the fire may be miles away. Who of all the thousands passing along the Strand today will believe that a party of workmen breakfasted in the law courts' clock before it was fixed in its place to tell London the wrong time?

States of the Country Publisher.

Here is a little old straight-forward, slender talk about matters lying near to our heart. There seems to be a feeling among business men that a newspaper has no business to make money. Why not? It is the most exacting business in the world, the most trying in every way. It means long hours and the greatest care in its conduct. The newspaper has the entire public to deal with. It is criticised on all occasions. It has to deal with all the cranks in the community, and to do this successfully requires judgment and patience.

It has power, and that power, to the credit of journalism, is nearly always wielded for the public good. No question of vital concern to the home people falls to find a strong support from the home newspaper, and this, too, without remuneration. The publisher spends his money to further these projects, and the community never gives a thought to the matter of cost to him. It is not paid out of the public pocket.—Newspaperdom.

Fotted Plants.
The reason some people "never have any luck with plants" is sometimes because the drainage is defective. A plant will not live in a heavy, sour, soggy soil, such as fills a pot when the drainage is not complete. This is especially true of palms, to which the stagnant moisture is sure death, but it holds true of any pot grown plant.

Papa's Joke.
"I think it is so silly to see a baby biting his toes," remarked the young mother.
"Well, I don't," spoke up the young father. "It shows that he is already learning how to be thrifty."
"Thrifty?"
"Yes; isn't he making both ends meet?"

First After Dinner Speech.
"I wonder who made the first after dinner speech?" asked the philosopher.
"Adam," replied the wise guy promptly. "As soon as he got through with the core of that apple he said, 'The woman tempted me, didn't he?'"

In the Depths.
"He's trying to get a reputation as the worst pessimist in town."
"He is the worst already."
"Oh, no; he's only trying to be."
"But he declares he knows it will just be his luck not to succeed."

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Quarter For Henry.
Mrs. Henrietta whispers in her husband's unexpected ear:
"Here's a quarter for you, Henry. It will be a plenty, dear!"
When poor Henry tries to argue, "Fifty cents, my dear, today,"
Henrietta points her finger, "Henry, not a word, I say!"
And the people say: "It's awful! All he thinks of in this life
Is his money—money—money! How 'd hate to be his wife!"
—Indianapolis Sun.

An Inconsistency.
"There's another thing I can't understand," said Mr. Sirius Barker as he laid down the paper and took a dyspepsia tablet.
"What can it be?" asked his wife in a well feigned tone of surprise.
"Why a woman will fuss over her husband, brushing his coat and fixing his necktie and warning him when he needs a hair cut and then rave admirably over a football player."

Football Yell.
Raw, raw, raw!
Gee, gee, gee!
Noise off, ear off,
Scream on my knees!
Jawbone busted,
Splices in my spine;
Won't the girls go crazy
As I walk down the line?

Philanthropic.
Holdon—I tell you what, Harry, I wish I had enough money to relieve all the distress among the poor people of this town.
Somer—A generous wish!
Holdon—You see, if I had all that money I'd be able to live like a fighting cock all the rest of my life.

Automobile Features.
There's the auto face, and the racer's back,
With its queer, altitudinous curve,
And the mobile tongue, in the middle hung,
And the scorching motor nerve.

Too Suggestive.
Quads—Funnymen tried writing his jokes on the typewriter, but had to go back to his fountain pen.
Space—What was the matter with the typewriter?
Quads—The bell rang too often—Mania American.

Also Matrimonial.
Every dog has his little day.
But that's all right;
'Tis not for the horse to say him neigh;
He has his night.

Blood Tells.
Ethel—Oh, you dear little foggie, you!
Ethel—So do I, but Jack says he's got a dandy pedigree.

Sewing the Wind.
A rash and rambunctious raccoon
Tried to whistle a popular tune,
But he blew out his teeth, both above and beneath,
And is taking his food with a spoon.
—Life.

She Knew.
"Been bowling, my dear," he explained when he came in.
"Bowling up, I should judge," reported the up to date wife.—Chicago Post.

Noise No Merit.
Loud mouthed words are mostly useless;
Try to make a pleasant face.
People dance to little riddles,
Never thinking of the bass.

Composite.
Guest (in Chinese restaurant)—This is what you call chop suey, is it, John?
What is it made of?
Proprietor—Ev'lyting.—Chicago Tribune.

Voicing a Want.
Oh, for a lodge in some vast wilderness,
Some boundless contiguity of wood,
Where, with an ax and just a little stream,
A fellow'd be some ten cords to the good!
—Minneapolis Times.

A Threadbare Compensation.
"She isn't at all handsome."
"But she's very good."
"Dear me, that's what they always say."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Proverb Revised.
"All things come for him who waits,"
Is a proverb raising laughter.
They never come to those who wait,
But to those who chase right after.

Accompaniments.
"Don't you dislike the smell of gasoline that goes with an automobile?"
"Not so much as the smell of arnica that goes with it."—Washington Star.

What Hurts Most.
Who tells malicious lies of us
Is bad enough, forsooth,
But far more maddening is the cuss
Who tells malicious truth.

Extensive Hilarity.
"Did he smile when you offered him the chance?"
"Smile? Why, he was an entire farce comedy."

Wouldn't It Be Nice?
If I were half as big a man
As I would like to be,
Myself could take one little step
And walk all over me!

A Poor Job.
"I am a self made man."
"Well, if you keep your mouth closed no one will suspect it."—Town Topics.

A Compensating Circumstance.
The man who works not years for fame
Pursues a humble way,
But you will notice, just the same,
He eats three meals per day.

Ayer's

Do you like your thin, rough, short hair? Of course you don't. Do you like thick, heavy, smooth hair? Of course you do. Then why not be pleased? Ayer's Hair Vigor makes beautiful heads of hair, that's the whole story. Sold for 60 years.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time. It is, indeed, a wonderful hair restorer, restoring health to the hair, and, at the same time, giving a beautiful dressing."—Dr. J. W. Carter, South West, N. H.
