DETAILS OF FARM DEAL

Told In a Suit at the Present Fall Assizes.

Borrett Thinks Another Doctor Took Him In.

All the Jury Cases at the Assizes Disposed Of.

The last of the jury cases at the Went worth fall assizes was disposed of yes-terday afternoon and the pettit jurors discharged. The non-jury cases saide sale of a fruit farm near Grims by, took up the most of the afternoon

The plaintiff claimed the farm was not as represented to him at the time of sale. Dr. Borrett, the plaintiff, in an examination that lasted over an hour, stated that he had been in the express business here and later practiced as an electrical doctor in Toronto. He decided to buy a fruit farm, and negotiated with electrical doctor in Toronto. He decided to buy a fruit farm, and negotiated with Mr. Shepherd, the agent for Dr. Guesner. He was taken out to Grimsby to see the farm and Dr. Guesner gave permission to look it over. After notifying Dr. Guesner at that time that the house was satisfactory, he said that as he was unacquainted with farming. a signed statement in regard to the farm itself would be required and defendant promised to give plaintiff such a statement. Witness said at that time Dr. Guesner stated there were 1,700 fruit trees living and bearing fruit. Of the 1,700 trees, 100 were supposed to be peach, 100 cherry, 100 pear and the rest plum. He and Dr. Guesner flually came to terms and Dr. Guesner finally came to terms and agreed upon the price, $9,500, $6,000 of which was to be on mortgage, to be arranged by H. Henderson. In all the arranged by H. Henderson. In all the price, including certain interest, amount ed to over $9,00. The contract for the rchase was not signed by him for ne days after the terms had been ar-

"Did you receive the statement Dr

"Did you receive the statement Dr. Guesner promised you as to the condition of the farm," asked S. F. Washington, K. C., counsel for plaintiff.

"Yes, but he did not send it until he was forced to. When I received the statement I made out a cheque for $100 to cover another cheque I had given him which could only be drawn after he had given me the statement promised."

"When did you take possession?" asked Mr. Washington.

"On June 1."

"Were there as many trees as you had been led to believe" he was asked. "Were there any peach trees?"

"Were there any peach trees?"

"There were some little runts sticking up, about a foot high, which if they had lived might have been peach trees."

Mr. P. D. Crerar, counsel for defendant, cross-examined the witness,

His first question was as to whether the plaintiff was a qualified doctor, but counsel for the plaintiff objected and His Lordship upheld the objection, joeularly remarking that he "might be both an electrical doctor and a quack." When questioned as to whether he had made a statement to the effect that his objections to the farm were due to it bea statement to the effect that his objections to the farm were due to it being located too far away from the village, said he might have done so, but did not think it possible.

"You muzzled me by saying you were paying so much a word for what I said when you examined me in September," was the sharp reply of the witness when Mr. Crerar challenged some of the statements he had made at the previous examination.

"You say here, 'I wish you would end me a statement,' " said Mr. Crerar. send me a statement," said Mr. Cerar, whereupon witness answered, "He understood what I wanted. He could read that letter better than you could. Now that you are so particular. I suppose I may as well tell you that along the side of the road there are four or five disident withing at one time may. dried sticks, which at one time may have been cherry trees.'

The trees were very poor, one-third being worthless. In his estiwere dead. The trees were very poor, one-third being worthless. In his estimation the farm as it was would be worth about $5,500 to $6,500, at least $3,000 less than the price at which it had been sold to plaintiff. The land was better brick land than plum land, he said.

he said.

James Marlow, another witness living in the vicinity, substantiated the statement of Mr. Thompson and added that good fruit land was worth about $500 per acre more than bare land.

When defendant, Dr. P. H. Guesner, stepped into the witness box, rather than use the court Bible, he pulled out his own with the remark. "It is a clean one." The judge permitted him to take his oath on it.

"The witness must remember that he is a witness and as such must answer the questions properly," said his lordship, and witness apologized.

His lordship asked a question as to whether witness would consider a farm, with one-third of the trees useless on account of sun-scald, and another third very poor from the same cause, a full-bearing one, and he answered that he would.

His lordship said the matter would stand over until morning; but he expressed the hope that as the one party sonsidered the property so valueless and the other so valueble, in the meantime it might be possible for them to arrange some settlement.

This morning, when court opened, it was announced that a settlement had not heen reached, and that the case could proceed. His lordship said the matter would ALMAS VS. HERMAN.

The case of Almas vs. Herman, for $600 under agreement to vacate store, was settled out of court for the sum of $450. Gibson, Osborne & O'Reilly for plaintiff; S. D. Biggar for defendant.

His Lordship, in addressing the jury, complimented them upon the able and constructive representation they had made. Twenty years ago, he said, the superintendent of an asylum had remarked that more provision should be made for insane. This remark had proved a very wise one, as the number of lunatics had been continually increasing. While persons may to-day be sane, they may break out to-morrow in violent and dangerous lunacy. Under the present conditions the municipality is liable for their care, and the suggestion of the jurors to send out those who, were not proper persons for an asylum was a wise one as the asylum who, were not proper persons for an asylum was a wise one, as the asylum was not only an improper place for them, but the cost of their maintenance was also greater, by reason of the large medical staff required. He hoped something would be done to remedy the existing state of things. With reference to the two persons in the jail awaiting an examination for lunacy, he did not think the jurors' reason for confining their to its law says. think the jurors' reason for confining them to jail a good one, as the law say are usingerous. The sheriff was the re sponsible person and if he could find no other place he shou'd take them to his other place he shou'd take them to his own home and take care of them. (Laughter.) The suggestion of the jury that a place be provided for such patients was a good one, and it would finally come to that. He made reference to his sentence of Lorenzo for shooting at White, and said he was sorry if he hade made it too short, but he had acted to the best of his judgment. WRIGHT VS WRIGHT

FAIR FAKIRS.

Provincial Government Is Sending Out Detectives.

(Special Despatch to the Times).

Toronto, Sept. 29.—It having come to he knowledge of the Provincial Government that a large number of fakirs have been carrying on illegal practices at fairs and exhibitions in different parts of the Province, J. Lockie Willson, sup-erintendent of agricultural societies, has arranged to send a number of private detectives to the various fairs in Ontario, who will see to it that the law is rigidly enforced. These detectives are being sent out by the Government with-out the knowledge or request of the fair officials.

In many instances these gamblers carry on their nefarious practices without the knowledge of the directors—having secured space on the grounds ostensibly for legitimate business.

The penalty for the infringment of the provisions of the agricultural societies act is not less than $20, and not more than $100.

The Philosophy of Life.

Did it ever occur to you that a man's life is full of temptations? He comes into the world without his consent, and goes out of it against his will, and the trip between is exceedingly rocky, the rule of contraries is one of the features rule of contraries is one of the features of this trip.

When he is little the big girls kiss him; when he is big the little girls kiss him. If he is poor, he is a bad manager; if he is rich, he's dishonest. If he needs credit, he can't get it; if he is prosperous everyone wants to do him a favor.

prosperous everyone wants to do him a favor.

If he is out of politics he is no good to his country. If he doesn't give to charity, he is a stingy cuss; if he does, it's for a show. If he is activly religious, he is a hypocrite; if he takes no interest in religion, he is a hardened sinner. If he gives affection, he is a soft specimen; if he cares for no one he is cold-blooded; if you're fond of the ladies, you're a flirt; if you're not you're a woman hater; if he dies young, there was a great future before him; if he lives to an old age, he missed his calling.

age, he missed his calling.

If you save money, you're a grouch; if you spend it, you're a loafer; if you get it, you're a bum—so what's the use? Steamship Arrivals.
