Plans For Next Dominion Census

OTTAWA, Nov. 24—The cabinet council has approved a series of forms for taking the next Dominion census, the sixth, on June 1, 1921. The forms provide for census of population, manufacturing, trading and business establishments, farms and farm products with schedules for the blind and deaf mutes, absentee family cards, enumerator's oaths, etc. The purpose of the schedule for the blind and for deaf mutes is to obtain a record, according to age and post office address, of all persons so afflicted.

Irish Question In Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 24—The debate in the House of Commons on the Irish question was inaugurated this afternoon when former Premier Asquith moved his resolution, expressing abhorrence of the recent Dublin assassinations, condemnation of reprisals, and urging the taking of immediate steps to bring about Irish pacification. The motion was a composite resolution, combining the Independent Liberal and Labor motions and sponsored by Mr. Asquith, Donald McLean and Arthur Henderson. The former premier declared there was only one way for escape, and that the first step lay with the government. This, he said, was to discontinue the reprisals. He believed he said that an overwhelming majority of the Irish people and of the crown forces had no sympathy with reprisals.

Sir Hamar Greenwood said as regards the reprisals charge there was not a single authenticated case of anything called a reprisal having taken place under an officer. Sir Hamar said detailed plans for the destruction of large power houses in Manchester and docks in Liverpool had been discovered, the Liverpool plans involving use of eight hundred pounds of high explosive relignite at 21 points.

In the House of Lords Viscount Grey, former secretary for foreign affairs, appealed for an eleventh hour attempt by generosity to Ireland to fashion the home rule bill into an acceptable measure.

Vicount Bryce said that instead of cutting Ireland in two it would have been better to have one parliament, with all possible guarantees that Ulster would be looked after. The bill as it stood offered no prospect of fulfilling the hopes they all cherished, and it was only by going still further that a settlement could be accomplished.

Advocates Formation of New Province In Ont.

Port William, Ont., Nov. 24—F. H. Keefer, K. C., M. P., for the riding of Port Arthur, spoke today before the convention of the Central Canada Colonization and Highway Association of a new province to consist of the whole northern portion of the province, including the district of Patricia. The speaker, who was introduced by Chairman A. Pitt, took issue with the Government of the province on the expenditure of money collected in the northern district, saying that two million dollars was collected from it, over and above what was expended on it through grants for roads and other government services. He claimed that financially and from the standpoint of population and territory the proposed new province would compare favorably with other provinces at the time of their formation. Mr. Keefer was accorded a kindly hearing, but no resolution dealing with the matter is likely to be brought before the convention, as all resolutions that will be considered at the present session were in the hands of the committee by November 18.

The convention which is meeting under the presidency of Alfred Pitt, of Dryden has already endorsed the formation of a union of municipalities covering the four westernmost ridings of Ontario, Port Arthur, Port William, Kenora and Rainy River. This union is ready for organization under the chairmanship of H. M. Peterson, of Fort William. Other resolutions include a demand for a commissioner to push colonization and industry in this district.

Finding the Right Man

The superintendent of a certain big railway, Mr. Evans, was not satisfied with his storekeeper. There was too much waste. "What I need," he said to his assistant, according to Munsey's Magazine, "is a man with some sense of economy. If a carpenter is going to put up a coat hanger in a switchman's shanty, the storekeeper will give him enough nails and screws and coat hooks to supply coat racks for a hotel; if a painter is going to touch up a three-foot scratch on a passenger coach, he will give a new brush, a quart of varnish and a pint of stain—enough to finish the whole side of the car."

Later, the superintendent was watching the workmen at a ferry slip. They were heaving tar and swabbing the sides of the slip with it to protect the big timbers. John Harris hammered away at a barrel of tar and knocked the head in. He then picked the pieces out of the barrel and tossed them into the water. Michael Fossenden was keeping the fire under the melting pot. Behind him was a stack of wood. Michael had nothing to do for a moment; so he took a pipe and flamed up the pipe that had made the barrel head. They were sticky with tar, and at the proper time Michael fed them to the fire under the melting pot.

Supt. Evans changed his mind.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives'.

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

about crossing on the ferry boat. He went back and found Grayson of the marine department.

"Please find out for me who that chap is down there on the raft, feeding the fire," said Evans. Grayson sent a man down to the slip for the information, and Evans was waiting at the landing at the noon hour.

"How much do you get here, Mike?" asked when the fire tender climbed up with the others to get his dinner pail.

"Two dollars a day," said Mike. "Been to school?"

"Oh, yes—grammar school." "Now tell me this, Mike—why were you wasting time fishing up those tar-covered barrel heads when you had plenty of wood on the raft?"

Evans appeared quite stern, and Michael was worried.

"Why sir," he said apologetically, "I wasn't exactly wasting time. You see, I couldn't do any more to the fire, and it seemed a shame to throw away all that good wood with tar on it, because it makes such a roaring fire. It's so much saved, too, for it must cost something to get enough wood to keep those tar pots running."

"How would you like to be assistant storekeeper on my division, starting at four dollars a day?"

"I'll begin this noon," said Michael, earnestly.

"Finish your day, and I'll get you transferred. I need a man just like you. Report to me to-morrow, and I'll tell you just what I mean."

Six months later Michael was head storekeeper on Evan's division—Ex.

Conditions Are Very Disturbed

MONTREAL, Nov. 24—"General conditions in Great Britain and Europe are still very disturbed," said J. W. Norcross, president of the Canada Steamships Lines, who has just returned from a trip abroad.

"The situation in respect to the production of coal has operated as a severe deterrent in general industry and in shipping circles," he added.

In 1913 there were mined in Great Britain approximately 280,000,000 tons. This year the total will probably not exceed 240,000,000 tons, with more than double the miners and other workers employed than was the case in 1913. The sharp increase in the price of fuel has had a marked effect on British industrial production and export trade and has interfered materially with shipping.

Mr. Norcross stated, however, that the situation was being faced here locally and he had been able to conclude several important contracts for the Canada Steamship Lines, the details of which will be announced later.

As to present conditions in the ocean carrying trade, he said that there was no use denying that the tramp market was poor, due in some considerable measure to the fact that British purchasers of foodstuffs abroad have been reduced to a minimum, owing to the fact that there were large stocks on hand in Great Britain. These, however, are being reduced daily and it would be only a question of time before British buyers would be in the commodity markets again, a development which would result in a quickening of the transportation trade.

COAL ARRIVING

The past week was a busy one for the local coal dealers. A number of cars loaded with coal arrived during the week and the delivery men were kept on the jump. No trouble to dispose of it was experienced as the stocks of many of the householders were so much depleted, and many more carloads can easily be placed the dealers are fortunate enough to secure them.
