fields in quantities sufficient to burn thrifty grain on rich soil, was the cause; the theory of the production was given in the Farmer at the time, and a prediction then made that—next year's crop, whether light or heavy would be unusually rich in nitrogen, that our bread would be as good as bread and butter. The prophecy has been fulfilled, for never, in the past forty years at least, has so rich a flour been turned out of a mill in this county, as has been and will be made from our fall wheat of the present crop. No need of spring wheat to mix with it this time, no need to socid the miller, or be particular whether the butter is thick or thin, the beef or mutton fat or lean, the bread itself will supply the deficiency. As an article of food, flour this year is very superior to what it has been in Huron for many years, and the probability is that when the fact becomes known to consumers, we shall get not only the top, but an extra price for what we have to spare. It will not be good economy for farmers to keep the old, and sell the new wheat, since a barrel of flour from this year's wheat is probably worth more than a dollar a barrel for food more than last wheat is probably worth more than a dollar a barrel for food more than last would not be without it.

The blank sheet for crop reports which you sent me has not yet been filled, for two reasons: first, because it came to hand in the hurry of harvest; second, because nothing could be done by me in the matter further than guess work, and I suppose you could guess in Welland about as well as I could here. Very much fall wheat was not winter, but sunder a season, I keep a bottle at hand."

Would Not be Without II.

One who has fairly tested Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, though prepared in the proprietory medicines in general, writes—"I would not rest over night without this reliable remedy for sudden attacks of Cholic, Cramps and Cholera Morbus so prevelent in the summer season, I keep a bottle at hand."

New BOILERS and SALT PANS manufactured on shortest notice. spring killed, much plowed up, and much of what remained was thin and uneven, of what remained was thin and uneven, though for well filled heads, we never had nature's standard before. Never in my memory, in broadcast seeding, had we a grain in every chaff, eight full grains in a row round the ear. Will see threshers soon and try to get an estimate.

A CATARRH CURE.—The remedy is crushed cubed berries smoked in a pipe, emitting the smoke through the nose; after a few trials this will be easy to do. If these is stopped up so that it is almost impossible to breathe, one pipeful will make the head as clear as a bell.

ing and should therefore be dug so soon as growth is completed. Parsnips and salsify are improved by frost, and only enough of these for present use need be dug; they may be packed in dry earth in boxes, and stored in the cellar. It is objectionable to store large quantities of roots in the house cellar, as foul gases are constantly rising through the house, making the air unhealthful to the inmates. Cabbages should be taken up before the ground freezes and stored in trenches. These may be made by plowing a deep furrow. The cabbage are heaped, head downward, in the trench, and covered with straw and earth. A simpler way is to set the cabbages on and covered with straw and earth. A simpler way is to set the cabbages on their heads in single rows and cover them with a few inches of earth. Celery not yet earthed up, should be attended to. First bring the leaves together and then draw the earth up.—[American Agriculturist for October.]

The Fruit Carden.

The advantages of a fruit garden are many, and all farmers should have one. Now is a good time to choose a place and prepare it for raising fruit of the smaller sorts. The soil should be well-drained and rich. Strawberry plants may be set out until the coming of the frosts, after which the soil of the beds should be covered with litter, putting it slightly over the plants. There is no great, gain, as to the fruit, in planting strawberries late; but the soil is in better condition now than in spring, and work is not so whereas a strawberries late; but the soil is in better condition now than in spring, and work is not so whereas a specific strawberries are the soil is in better condition now than in spring, and work is not so whereas a specific strawberries late; but the soil is in better condition now than in spring, and work is not so whereas whereas a specific strawberries are some solutions.

Do Not be Deceived.

In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by all druggists.—

Two feet between the rows will be the distance most suitable for working a small cultivator among the plants, Blackberry and raspberry plants had better be set out in the fall, as they start growing so early in the spring. Blackberries should be 6 to 8 teet apart in rows, and the raspberries about 4 by 5 feet. In picking the Grapes for market it is best to use the grape scissors, which allow the bunch to be removed.

Add.

Nature, after all, is the great physican. She hides all the secrets of health within her broad, generous bosom, and man needs but to go to her intelligently for his every need. The discovery of the great Cough Remedy, Gray's Syrup of RED Spruce Gum, is an apt illustration of this. As a cure for Coughs, Colds, Loss of Voice and Hoarseness it stands unrivalled, while its low price and readiness of access places it within the rows and the readiness of access places it within the readiness of access pl ket it is best to use the grape scissors, which allow the bunch to be removed without handling and defacing the bloom. The thin-skinned varieties, like the Concord, will not keep long, but the tough-skinned rinds, as the Catawba, Iona, and Diana may be preserved in good shapes until the holidays. To thus keep them the grapes must be well ripened, picked with care, and left in a cool room for few days until the skin gets tough. Pack them afterwards in small boxes (3 to 5 lbs.), putting the fruit in from the bottom, and putting on the cover (bottom), with some pressure, and tacking fast. Label the other side, which is the one to be opened. Keep in a dry and cool place until sent to market.—[American Agriculturist for October.] the Concord, will not keep long, but the tough-skinned rinds, as the Catawba,

The following interesting article, from the Canadian Farmer, is written by a resident of this county:—It will be remembered that there was a general wail over a great part of Ontario, last summer over the failure of spring wheat, which, about the time it was well out of the shot blade, was scorched as if it had been passed closely beneath a sheet of red hot iron. Many conjectures were affoat at the time as to the scorching; some blamed the soil; others the manure. After carefully examining the premises with all the little light at our command, we came to the conclusion that too much ammonia which was abundantly manufactured by the prevailing thunder showers, and plentifully decanted over our fields in quantities sufficient to burn thrifty grain on rich soil, was the cause; the theory of the production was given in the Farmer at the time, and a prediction of people.—[Telegram.
