The Easter Miracle.

Rev. James B. Dollard, Litt.D. Night fell around the City's walls And Calvary's slopes grew dim. The Roman cohort's stately tread Rang hollow o'er the mounded dead. As the brass-girded ranks were led Out to their vigil grim.

Before the Saviour's tomb they stood. And talked of Roman pride; And some were veterans staunch and true. Who, with Germanicus, broke through The Teuton hordes that scene to view Where Varus' legions died!

Had they but known the honour great Conferred on them to-night, How they were chosen as a guard, To watch the Body of the Lord Of Heaven and Earth—O rich reward! How deep were their delight!

But they were steeped in heathen dreams, And deemed, in fashion dense, That round some mulefactor's tomb They were to watch, lest in the gloom His zealot followers might come And snatch the body hence!

Slow wheeled the night; a strange unrest Upon them hovered there; The tramp of hosts unseen they heard. The Crowded dead beneath them stirred; A secret vast, a mystic word Seemed whispered in the air!

Then suddenly their blood ran cold, And terror made them dumb! For Heaven was filled with dazzling light, And down a pathway blinding white Like falling stars from viewless height, They saw God's Angel come!

His face was brighter than the sun As he rolled back the stone; But the rough soldiers quaked with fear, As Christ's dread footsteps sounded near! And there was none to view Him clear As He stood forth alone!

Stood forth alone, victorious now O'er hell and death and sin! And He Who had been crucified, For human sin and human pride, Saw Glory's Gateway opened wide, And went triumphant in!

DAYLIGHT HOLDUP IN LONDON. LONDON, March 25.

What is believed to be the first big daylight holdup in London occurred at ten o'clock this morning in Regent's Park, which at that time of the morning is traversed by hundreds of people going to their offices. A salary clerk of the Ministry of Pensions with a bag containing two thousand pounds was just leaving the gates of the park when three men with revolvers held up the driver and ordered the official and his assistant to "clear out if you value your lives." The robbers mounted the van and drove off with the driver still at the wheel.

Trading on Margin!

A positive indication of what is in store for investors is the gradual lowering of interest rates. The income rate has followed the money market up, and it will just as surely follow it down, which is the basis for the generally-asserted belief that within another six months the average dividend return on good securities will be between 6 and 8 per cent., whereas to-day it is better than 10 per cent. in numerous cases, and even as high as 12 to 15 per cent. with apparent perfect safety of principal.
