Little Eskimo

Boys and Girls

may be able to digest, in heavy form, the fat which is essential to all of us, but intelligent Newfoundland Mothers recognize that civilized little stomachs are not so ostrich-like. In the home where the mother has seriously considered "what cooking fat is best for my children," you will generally find Crisco. It costs a few cents more than do most cooking fats but thoughtful mothers are as particular about shortening as they are about milk. Crisco is pure, wholesome and delicious and will improve the cooking. If you wish to have successful cakes and pastry use Crisco. At all grocery stores.
