

DEATH ON THE ALPS.—An accident has occurred on the Great St. Bernard in Switzerland. Eight Italian workmen were crossing a mountain, and two monks and a servant, followed by a dog, went to meet them. The whole party was overtaken by a snow storm, and buried in the drift. One of the monks succeeded in extricating himself, but was only able to walk a few steps. The dog went back to the monastery, and assistance was sent, but it was too late. The monk died half an hour after being found; the others still remained buried in the snow.
