Congress of Nihilists.

VIENNA, April 5.—Leading Nibilists are arranging a secret meeting in Russia near the Austrian frontier at Whitsuntide, to enable refugees from Poland, Austria, Hunenable refugees from Poland, Austria, Hungary and Roumania to take part therein. As an indication of the Nihilists' during activity, the Czar recently sound in one of the imperial albums a portrait of the Nihilist who was executed for complicity on the assassination of his father. The strictest inquiry in the household failed to solve the mystery of its appearance there.

The Indian Government has demanded an explanation of his conduct, and troops are held in readiness to enforce the Government's demands.

Regarding Bering Sea.

Paris, April 5.—The Court of Arbitra-tion regarding Bering Sea resumed its seasion to-day. Hon. E. J. Phelps, counsel session to-day. Hon. E. J. Pheips, contended in behalf of the United States, contended that the British supplementary report was inadmissable. The admission of new evidence at this stage, Mr. Phelps said, was a gross injustice to the United States, because it deprived the United States of any chance to adduce rebutting testimony.

Sir Charles Russell, in replying to Mr. Phelps, in behalf of Great Britain, paid a tribute to the late James G. Blaine, whose sittings of the tribunal to force this matter upon the commissioners, as if only one question were before them. There were, however, other questions than those of right to be settled. The tribunal was dealing with the affairs of an open sea, in which there were involved other rights than those of Great Britain and the United States, namely, the rights of mankind. In the matter of Great Britain's and America's right, the arbitrators must act the matter of Great Britain's and America's right, the arbitrators must act as judges; in the matter of the rights of mankind they must acquit themselves as just men. Sir Charles Russell then justified the production of the report of the Bering Sea Commission, arguing from the terms of the arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain. If, he said, the selections of the report was to assist the States and Great Britain. If, he said, the sole object of the report was to assist the tribunal to gain information as to the regulation of the seal fisheries and to increase its knowledge of the practical maters at issue the report then must be admitted as evidence under the article governing the procedure of the court of arbitration. Sir Charles Russell then read the article in question and the court adjourned.

HER MAJESTY IN PLORENCE.

The story that several wealthy residents of Florence wrote to the Queen placing their villas at her disposal is merely a pleasing romance, the real truth being that, if Lady Crawford had not again lent the Villa Palmiera, the expedition would probably have been abandoned, as exorbitant rents were demanded for the various residences which were inspected by the Queen's curier. The Villa Petraie, the grand ducal residence, would have done very well if the house had been larger. It is beautifully situated and is surrounded by charming grounds, but the accomedation is altogether inadequate. The Queen likes the Villa Palmiera very much, but did not wish again to take advantage of Lady Crawford's kindness, as the royal visit obliges her to turn out for several weeks during the best part of the year when the gardens are always in the greatest beauty.

The House Gets Right Down to Business.

Debate on the Address in Reply to "The Speech."

Compliments and Side Shots Exchanged by the Leaders.

Mr. Waters on Hand With Woman Suf irage Meazures — The Estimates Brought Down Without Delay.

[Special to the Advertiser.]
PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, April 5. After yesterday's formalities the Local Legislature to-day began earnest labor. Almost every member was in his place, and the spick-and-span new chamber gave a fitting background to the wise men or its floor, while in the galleries were many citizens, who listened attentively to the de bate on the moving of the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

The speech of Mr. A. S. Allan (West Wellington) mover of the address, was able, concise and well delivered. He recalled to the memory of the House the fact 100 years ago Governor Simcoe, with his sixteen commoners, inaugurated the first Legislature of Ontario. The present buildings were a credit to the Province and to the somewhat ungrateful city of Toronto. The business outlined in the speech from the throne was of considerable importance. The Government had acted wisely in deciding to set apart a Provincial park in the northern part of the Province The opposition which had been manifested to the work of the Agricultural College at Guelph had died out—an earnest of the good work that institution was doing. Traveling dairies had also done good work. There had been some criticism concerning the administration of the crown lands of the Province but no tenable objections had been made. During the reign of the present Government 4,234 square miles of timber had been disposed of at a value of $5,127,000. This meant a block of land 65 miles square—not a very large tract. Legislation concerning juvenile offenders was necessary, although the proportion of children offenders in the Province was very small compared with the old country or the United States.

The speech of Mr. McKechnie (South Grey), who seconded the address, was most creditable. After a graceful reference to the good qualities of the leader of the Opposition, he culogized the leadership of the Government by Sir Oliver Mowat, the accession of the Democratic party to power in the neighboring republic should be a cause for rejoicing. The order scheduling Canadian cattle would probably be rescinded, thus giving Canadian stockraisers an opportunity of extending their trade. Cheese exports had increased very materially, there being now 9,000,000 pounds exported to Great Britain every year. Proceeding, the honorable member expressed satisfaction at hearing that the Government proposed to establish a national park. He closed with a sympathetic reference to the bereavement of Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mr. Meredith followed. He was certain that the appointment of the new Lieutenant-Governor was very popular in the Pravince. His honor had visited many speech from the throne was of considerable importance. The Government had acted

EARL GRANVILLE'S APPOINTMENTS.
I hear that Lord Granville will probably be appointed lord-in-waiting to the Queen in place of Lord De Ros, whose post has been vacant for several months. The salary is £700 a year.

WALES AT THE RACES.
It is probable that the Duke of York will represent the Queen at the marriage of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria, which is to take place at Viareggio. The Prince of Wales, who left town on Tuesday, stayed only 24 hours at Sandringham, then went to Newmarket to see his horses, and from there to Easton Lodge on a visit to Lord and Lady Brooke. The Prince will be at the Epsom races next week, and also at Sandown Park on at least two days of the meeting.

THE PRINCESS' YACHTING TRIP.
The Princess of Wales, who was to have arrived in Athens last Thursday, has extended her cruise in the Osborne another week or ten days. She certainly will not return to England until after Whitsuntide.

In ten days a bill concerning the lists would be introduced. The system of disposing of timber limits was the best known. The Dominion Government, instead of selling limits to the highest bidder, allowed them to go into the hands of its political friends. The assessment law had frequently been criticised by the leader of the Opposition, who had always been ready to object, and yet had never enunciated a proposition for any change. The laws of Ontario were practically the same as those of several States of the Union. These States had appointed commissioners, had inquired into the question in every way, and had come to the conclusion that ne change was advisable. The leader of the Opposition must offer suggestions regarding matters to which he objected before such objections could be considered.

Sol White, inspirited by the loyal utterances of Sir Oliver Mowat and Mr. Meredith, continued the debate. He followed the old plan of reviewing the progress of the erection of the legislative buildings, charging that they would cost about $2,000,000 instead of $750,000. The assessment law should be referred to a commission.

Mr. Meredith called the attention of the

Mr. Meredith called the attention of the Mr. Meredith called the attention of the Government to the fact that a considerable amount of pomp and circumstance had been used in the opening of the Legislature. This had been discontinued for some years past, and it would be wiser, he thought, for the House and the country if democratic simplicity should be returned to.
