CHAPTER XIV.

In the Shadow of the Mill.

Later on Sara, in sober reflection, indowed what had appeared at the time to be a whimsical, quixotic proceeding on her part. She brought herself completely to the point where she could view her action with complacency. At first there was an irritating, nagging fear that Mr. Wendall had been genuinely soul-sacrificing in his effort to defend her; that his decisive falsehood was a sincere declaration of loyalty to her, and that the transference of the outburst of an actuated by a sort of fanatical selfishness, in that he dreaded the further dragging in of the name of Wendall, and all that in spite of his positive belief that she was being wronged, unfairly attacked, and debilitated by her father-in-law had no doubt in his mind that she could successfully combat any charge Smith might bring against her that her innocence would prevail even in the opinion of the scheming de-

Disheartening Effect of Piles

It is not only the itching and stinging of piles that is to be dreaded, but also the depressing and debilitating effect on the whole system. The victim of piles cannot do efficient work. There is an uneasiness and discomfort by day, and at night the distress from the itching prevents sleep and rest, and undermines the general health.

From almost the first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment you get relief from the annoying itching and burning, and gradually the ulcers are healed up and the disease thoroughly cured. Do not make the mistake of discontinuing treatment as soon as relief is obtained. Dr. Chase's Ointment is a proven cure, but it depends on you to apply it persistently until a cure is effected.

Even the most severe cases of long standing yield to the soothing, healing influence of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Surgical operations are no longer necessary, for, as a matter of fact, Dr. Chase's Ointment has cured cases that were not cured by operations. No sufferer from piles can afford to delay the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

and was instantly surprised to find that her voice rang with new life, new interest. The grayness seemed to lift from the view that stretched beyond the window; she even looked for the sun in her eagerness.

It was then that she knew why the world had been heavier than usual, even in its cloak of gray.

A little before eleven she set out briskly to intercept him at the gates. She viewed her departure with gloomy eyes. The world also was gray for her. They came upon each other unexpectedly at a sharp turn in the avenue. Hetty colored with a sudden rush of confusion, and had all she could do to meet his eager, happy eyes as he stood over her and proclaimed his pleasure in jerky, awkward sentences. Then they walked together, a strange shyness attending them. She experienced the faintness of breath that comes when the heart is filled with pleasant alarms. As for Booth, his blood sang. He thrilled with the joy of being near her, of the feel of her hand, of the sound of her voice. He wanted to crush her in his arms, to hold her forever, to exert all of his brute physical strength so that she might never again be herself, but a part of his.

They uttered commonplaces. The spell was on them. It would lift, but for the moment they were powerless to struggle against it. At length he saw the color fade from her cheeks; her eyes were able to meet his without the look in them that said she was not his. He seemed to feel his feet on the ground again, and a strange, ineffably sweet sense of calm took possession of his mind.

"I must paint you all over again," he said, suddenly breaking in on one of her remarks. "Just as you are today, an outdoor girl, a glorious outdoor girl, in 'muddy boots.'"

She laughed, drawing her skirt away to reveal a shapely foot in an American walking shoe. He smiled, and gave voice to a new thought. By Jove, how much better looking our American shoes are than the kind they wear in London! He insisted on long as I am with her. I don't think our boots are so villainous for her today. (To be continued.)

Montreal, March 2.—Geo. Kennedy, managing director of the Canadian Athletic Club, wrestling promoter and manager of the Canadian hockey team, pleaded guilty today to charges of having assaulted Leo Dandurand, one of the referees of the game at the Arena Sportive, Ltd., between the Wanderers and Canadiens. He was allowed to go on parole to appear tomorrow.

It is said that besides bringing the Heart and Nerves Were Bad. Could Not Sleep.

To the thousands of people who toss on a sleepless pillow night after night, or who pace the bedroom floor with nerves on the jump, the heart action all wrong, and to whose eyes sleep will not come, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer the blessing of sound refreshing slumber, as they restore the equilibrium of the deranged nerve centres and correct the wrong action of the heart.

Charles Teel, Horncastle, Ont., writes: "Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. My heart and nerves were so bad I could not sleep, and the least noise or excitement would make me feel so that I used to think I was going to die, and I would tremble until I could hardly stand. I took doctor's medicine, but it did not do me much good. At last I tried Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and can certainly say they did me a great amount of good. I can recommend them to anyone who is suffering as was I. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been on the market for the past twenty years, and have done more to steady shaky nerves and strengthen weak hearts, than any other known preparation.

DUTCH SUPPER AT "Y"

That it is possible to obtain a meal for 10 cents, was given practical demonstration in the Y. M. C. A. last night, between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock, by the Ladies' Auxiliary of that institution. Everything Dutch was included in the menu of the evening, with the possible exception of sauerkraut. The charge for any article was 2 cents per dish, so that five varieties of good things were obtainable for one-tenth of a dollar. The result was economy only equaled by Governor Carter in the daily combat with the H. C. of L.

The supper was well patronized, as is always the case, and no difficulty was experienced in disposing of the toothsome dainties on sale at the various booths. During the evening the "Y" orchestra, under the direction of H. Simpson, gave many pleasing numbers.
