Club News MOTHER AND DAUGHTER BAN-

One of the most successful mother and daughter banquets held in this city gook place this week, when the members of the Comrades' Bible Class, together with their mothers, assembled in the school room of St. Matthew's Church. The mothers were greeted as they entered the school room by a reception committee. The room was very partistically decorated with pink and white blossoms and streamers made of crepe papers of the same shade formed the attractive archways between the pullars.

the attractive archways between the pillars. The board is a process and the little favors were also carried out very beautifully in pink and white. The daughters each took their place at the table, besides their mothers, while the officers of the club were seated at a separate table at the end of the long table. After a dainty supper had been served, the president, Miss Annie Beer, who acted as the total to the mothers, after which several toasts were proposed by Miss Annie Beer, who acted as toastmistress. The toast to "The Church" was responded to by the rector, Rev. H. R. Ashby, and "Our Guests" by Mrs. McMillan. Mrs. Beer proposed a toast to "The Comrades," which was responded to by Miss Mary Last. Solos were rendered by the Misses Winnie Parker and Edith McMillan. Miss Stella Draper gave a clever recitation, entitled "Mother." The Misses Ella Thorpe and Mabel Stallard played a delightful duet. Short addresses were given by the rector, Rev. H. B. Ashby. Horace Matthews, Richard Harvey, Mrs. Cooke, Mrs. Harvey, Mrs. Beer and Miss Annie Beer. The members of the club delighted the guests with several songs, composed by the members themselves for the occasion.

So Jack doesn't care for Chopin's work? I have taken two of his pieces (Valse Brilliant and Nocturne), and really I think they are lovely. In my opinion, Chopin is not to be compared to Bach or Beethoven, that is, for real music. Even though we don't agree on musical writers, Jack, I will correspond with you if you will write first, as you promised. Like you, I like lively pieces and I just love ragtime. Another interesting thing which happened was when Miss Josephine Barry (Diana's aunt) came to go with her to a concert, and then to go with her to a concert, and then stay all night. Her mother had promised them that they could sleep in the spare bed. They arrived home from the concert quite late, and after undressing by the fire (as they thought the use of a lamp needless), Anne suggested that they make a rush for the bed and see who coud beat. In the uncertain light from the fire they both ran like deers and pounced on the bed at the same time. As soon as they alighted on the bed they heard a groan, and s one saying, "Merciful goodness!" I in the bed was Aunt Josephine.
