

WOMEN'S HOME and MAGAZINE PAGE

MRS. PANKHURST BACKS CAUSE OF BABIES' RIGHTS

Famous Suffragist Raps Double Standard, Addressing Women's Club.

Declares Physical, Mental, Moral Health Birthright of Every Canadian Child.

A perfect race of human beings in Canada, the insurance of safety for motherhood and the birthright for every child of being born into the world healthy in body, healthy in mind and endowed with those spiritual qualities which combine with healthy body and mind, make for perfect citizenship, was the high ideal towards which to work set before the members of the Women's Canadian Club on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the eminent suffragist.

Delivering her lecture in the Central Collegiate auditorium on the subject of "Social Hygiene," the speaker declared that it will never be possible to approach such ideal conditions until a single moral standard is insisted upon for men and women.

At the door of the double moral standard she laid age-long evil which the human race has suffered, the appalling extent of infant mortality, a large share of the enormous cost of caring for thousands who grow up unfit for the struggle of life, the wastage of life and happiness.

Support was bespoken for, and co-operation with the social hygiene movement to be organized for London at a mass meeting of citizens to be held Friday evening in the auditorium of the new medical school. In this connection a brief history was given of the present movement in Great Britain, Canada, the United States, France and many other countries of the world, with the backing of the governments of these, a movement to which revelations of the war gave tremendous impetus and assured its success. Brief mention was made of earlier movements along the same line of the social purity campaign inaugurated in England by a heroic woman, Josephine Butler, at a time when statesmen and even scientists were against it. One thing, it achieved, however, brought about repeal of "terrible laws on the statutes of Great Britain."

The next crusade mentioned was W. T. Stead, famous British journalist, who used his paper in the '80's in endeavor to arouse public opinion. "But these movements were not destined to succeed," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "because the mind of the public was not prepared for them."

"Then the war came, and conditions changed. Largely due to the war, women received the rights of citizenship, and because of the war, the present great movement for social hygiene has been made possible."

"The awakening came," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "when man power was needed, and certain facts in the various nations concerned showed the serious conditions."

"In British Columbia, which doubtless is fairly representative of other provinces in Canada, as a result of medical examinations, fifteen per cent of the men were rejected because they were infected with racial diseases, which rendered them unfit for military services, and on account of causes closely allied to public standards of morals."

"This condition could not have existed if there had been one single standard of morals for men and women, the highest."

"Based on such reports, Canada and the other nations realized something had to be done, first, to keep the healthy men in the army physically fit. Expedients that would be intolerable in peace time can be resorted to in war time. Scientists and professional men set to work on the problem. A great conference was called in Ottawa, and as an outcome of information received, the Dominion government voted the largest sum ever voted for public health service since the Dominion has been established. This was apportioned to each of the provinces, the provinces in each case to contribute an equal amount."

Praises Ontario Laws. Continuing, Mrs. Pankhurst told of the establishments of free clinics, for treatment of sufferers from racial diseases, the enacting of legislation with regard to reporting cases, etc. The Ontario laws in this connection she termed the best she had ever seen dealing with the question.

"But," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "it is not enough to have laws. Laws are not effective unless sanctioned by public opinion. No laws will help people unless they know about them."

"This was responsible for the setting up of an independent, but friendly organization to educate, warn and tell the people what the government was doing in the way of laws and health measures. Today, the organization is known as the Canadian National Council for Social Hygiene, a much more comprehensive title than the original name chosen in 1919, when the chief function was combating of racial disease. It has developed and grown beyond dealing with the disease problem and become more the work of prevention."

Concerning the birthright of physical, mental and moral health for Canadian children, "do you know," said the speaker, "that 20,000 children die in their first year in Canada, born as they are without the endowment of health to weather the first year?"

"We are horrified by a catastrophe like the fire in Northern Ontario, shocked by the sudden violent death of a single child. But we scarcely glance at the little heading 'Vital Statistics' in the paper, which tells of wholesale catastrophe and loss of child life."

"The children who die in their first year perhaps are the fortunate ones, because thousands grow up unfit for the struggle of life. You know what women are doing for the establishment of hospitals, the way of caring for the feeble-minded, for incurable children, in rescue work. Manitoba, with a population of 600,000 or 700,000 people, spends on hospitals, social service work, palliative work, in prisons, four million dollars annually. Think of the burden imposed on the population, patching up human beings, undoing evil! Think what it would mean to have this money expended for constructive purposes! Think of the loss these people are to a province that needs people so much!"

With regard to the safeguarding of motherhood, "Do you know," interrogated Mrs. Pankhurst, "that more mothers die at childbirth than soldiers in fields of battle?"

Reverting to the subject of the single standard of morals, and pleading for it in the interests of the race, "everyone says that it is a wonderful ideal, but contrary to human nature, and that human nature cannot change," said the speaker. "My experience tells me nothing is more easily changed than human nature. Human nature this year is what the last year made it. Bring up every child with inbred responsibility towards the race, with responsibility with regard to parenthood, respect for others and the sanctity of life, and the human race would in time become worthy of its divine origin."

"The greatest monument that could be erected to the pioneers of the past in Canada, to the heroic men who gave their lives in the war, would be a memorial of flesh and blood, a race of human beings worthy of the sacrifice, and fit to take up the tremendous and awful responsibilities of citizenship."

Mrs. F. W. Hughes presided, a large representation of the membership of the club turning out to hear Mrs. Pankhurst and accord her lecture enthusiastic applause.

Sir Arthur Currie Cannot Come To Open War Memorial Hospital

MANY other engagements and duties will prevent General Sir Arthur Currie, last commander of the Canadian forces overseas in the Great War, and now president of McGill University, from officiating at the opening ceremonies in connection with the War Memorial Children's Hospital on Saturday, October 28.

In view of a letter of regret which has been received, in response to the invitation forwarded by Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, honorary secretary of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, it will be necessary for the program committee to make other plans at a meeting to be held early next week. The committee consists of the hospital trust, with five representatives of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., and five representatives from the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee.

The letter of Sir Arthur Currie is as follows: McGill University, Montreal. Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, honorary secretary, War Memorial Children's Hospital Committee, London, Ontario.

Dear Madam,—On my return to Montreal, I found awaiting me your letter of September 19, in which you honored me by inviting me to be present at the opening ceremonies of the Children's Memorial Hospital on Saturday, October 28.

I am extremely sorry that arrangements for the next three months prevent my being with you to participate in the ceremonies.

My deep sympathy with the splendid project you have undertaken renders my inability to be present all the more regrettable. I sincerely congratulate the Daughters of the Empire on their form of memorial.

Yours faithfully, (Signed) ARTHUR CURRIE.

not enough to have laws. Laws are not effective unless sanctioned by public opinion. No laws will help people unless they know about them.

"This was responsible for the setting up of an independent, but friendly organization to educate, warn and tell the people what the government was doing in the way of laws and health measures. Today, the organization is known as the Canadian National Council for Social Hygiene, a much more comprehensive title than the original name chosen in 1919, when the chief function was combating of racial disease. It has developed and grown beyond dealing with the disease problem and become more the work of prevention."

Concerning the birthright of physical, mental and moral health for Canadian children, "do you know," said the speaker, "that 20,000 children die in their first year in Canada, born as they are without the endowment of health to weather the first year?"

"We are horrified by a catastrophe like the fire in Northern Ontario, shocked by the sudden violent death of a single child. But we scarcely glance at the little heading 'Vital Statistics' in the paper, which tells of wholesale catastrophe and loss of child life."

"The children who die in their first year perhaps are the fortunate ones, because thousands grow up unfit for the struggle of life. You know what women are doing for the establishment of hospitals, the way of caring for the feeble-minded, for incurable children, in rescue work. Manitoba, with a population of 600,000 or 700,000 people, spends on hospitals, social service work, palliative work, in prisons, four million dollars annually. Think of the burden imposed on the population, patching up human beings, undoing evil! Think what it would mean to have this money expended for constructive purposes! Think of the loss these people are to a province that needs people so much!"

With regard to the safeguarding of motherhood, "Do you know," interrogated Mrs. Pankhurst, "that more mothers die at childbirth than soldiers in fields of battle?"

Reverting to the subject of the single standard of morals, and pleading for it in the interests of the race, "everyone says that it is a wonderful ideal, but contrary to human nature, and that human nature cannot change," said the speaker. "My experience tells me nothing is more easily changed than human nature. Human nature this year is what the last year made it. Bring up every child with inbred responsibility towards the race, with responsibility with regard to parenthood, respect for others and the sanctity of life, and the human race would in time become worthy of its divine origin."

"The greatest monument that could be erected to the pioneers of the past in Canada, to the heroic men who gave their lives in the war, would be a memorial of flesh and blood, a race of human beings worthy of the sacrifice, and fit to take up the tremendous and awful responsibilities of citizenship."

Mrs. F. W. Hughes presided, a large representation of the membership of the club turning out to hear Mrs. Pankhurst and accord her lecture enthusiastic applause.

Mrs. W. B. Smith of Chatham is visiting her brothers, the Messrs. Oliver, 504 York street. Before returning to her home in Chatham, Mrs. Smith will go on to Hamilton, where she will spend a few days.

Of interest to many London friends and relatives is the announcement of the marriage which took place in St. Paul's Church, Toronto, Tuesday, Rev. Canon Cody officiating, of Aileen Young, widow of Capt. Arthur Hamilton Young of Winnipeg, and daughter of Mr. P. W. D. Broderick of Toronto, formerly of London, to Edward Cronyn of Montreal, son of the late Mr. Benjamin Cronyn of this city.

At the monthly meeting of the national executive, I. O. D. E., held in Toronto Tuesday, a resolution of sympathy was extended to the national organizing secretary, Mrs. John A. Stewart of Perth, on the death of her husband, Hon. John A. Stewart, formerly minister of railways. The meeting adjourned over the time of the funeral. It was arranged that Mrs. Arthur Peplar should place a wreath on the Cenotaph in London, England, on Armistice Day, in behalf of the Daughters of the Empire of Canada. A similar floral tribute will be placed

Following the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, addressed by Mrs. Pankhurst on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. F. W. Hughes called the executive together to arrange for placing a wreath on the Cross of Sacrifice in Mount Pleasant Cemetery after the unveiling ceremonies on Sunday next.

Mrs. Hadley Williams is entertaining at the tea hour Monday at "Windermere" in honor of Mrs. Franklin Martin, wife of Dr. Martin of Chicago, head of the College of Surgeons of America, and of Mrs. M. T. MacEachern, wife of Dr. MacEachern, president of the American Association and director-general of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Miss Maude Taylor was the hostess Thursday evening of a dinner party at Wong's Cafe, in honor of Miss Isabel Malloch, a popular bride-elect of this month. Covers were laid for nine, and the table was decked with pink and white flowers and attractive pink favors. The guests included: Mrs. Bert Parkinson and Misses Sadie Doherty, Geraldine Walker, Mabel Knowles, Vera McKenzie, Jessie and Agnes Malloch.

A charming tea was given at "The Beeches," Thursday, by Misses Isabel and Marian Coles, in honor of Miss Eleanor McPhillips, an October bride-elect. Mrs. Hugh McCrimmon presided at the attractive tea table, adorned with pink and white anemones. The guests included: Mrs. Ernest Bluetner, Mrs. Leonard Townsend, Mrs. Russell Beattie, Mrs. Ralph McPhillips, Mrs. Lionel Tobias, Mrs. Wilson Purdom, Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. Russell Croden, Mrs. Hugh Shuttleworth, Mrs. John Barnard, Mrs. Kippen, Mrs. George Grange, Mrs. Eric Reid, Mrs. St. Clair McEwenne and Misses Eileen Regan, Priscilla Ball, Doris Belton, Babbs Chisholm, Isabel Muir, Louise Duffield, Angela McPhillips and Miss Dorothy Fitzgerald of Riverside, Conn.

A smart affair of Thursday afternoon was the bridge and tea given in the officers' quarters at the armories, under the auspices of the Seventh Regent Chapter, I. O. D. E. The rooms were effectively decorated with halloween favors, the table centered with a large bowl of salvia and autumn foliage, surrounded by black cats.

The many guests were welcomed by the regent, Mrs. F. H. Butler, and tea was poured out by Mrs. A. A. Campbell and Mrs. William Beattie. The excellent arrangements were in charge of the convener, Mrs. D. M. Morrison, assisted by Mrs. J. E.

Wylie, Mrs. Turville, Mrs. Gough and Mrs. W. A. McCrimmon. Among the guests were noticed Mrs. J. W. B. Shuttleworth King, and Mrs. E. B. Emmeline Pankhurst, the latter dropping in for a cup of tea with her hostess, Mrs. W. F. Hughes, following her address at the Canadian Club.

A delightful affair of Thursday afternoon was the reception held at the First Methodist Church Parsonage, when Mrs. J. F. Reyecraft received for the first time since coming to London. Mrs. Reyecraft welcomed the many visitors, wearing a gown of black velvet, and was assisted by Mrs. Wallace Crawford, gowning in henna crepe. Mrs. A. D. Jordan ushered to the tea room where Mrs. Alexander Harvey, Jr., gowning in brown georgette with hat to match, and Miss Ethel Farrow of Goderich wearing taupe panne velvet, presided at the other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

CLUB NEWS

What Women Are Accomplishing in London.

VISITING BABY CLINIC. The sick children's clinic at Victoria Hospital next Tuesday morning, under the auspices of the London Child Welfare Association, will be honored by visits from the delegates attending the convention of the Ontario Section of the American College of Surgeons.

CONDUCTS QUESTION BOX. Dr. Walter Crawford and Mrs. Crawford, returned missionaries from China, were guests of honor of the October meeting of the First Methodist Mission Circle, held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. N. Manning, Queen's avenue. The meeting took the form of a question box. Dr. and Mrs. Crawford giving thereby many interesting facts to the circle members. Mrs. R. Batzner favored with a duet. A social half-hour concluded the meeting.

ENTERTAINING TEACHERS. The opening meeting of the season of St. George's Mothers' Club will take the form of a reception for the teachers, Tuesday evening next. Mr. Wyatt, the principal of the school, will be the speaker of the evening, giving an address on Promotion or Auxiliary Classes. A musical program is to be given, which will be in charge of Mrs. Phillippe.

GET $200 AT RUMMAGE SALE. Over $200 was realized from the ladies of the First Presbyterian Church at the rummage sale held in the basement Thursday afternoon, under the convenship of Mrs. John Gunn. In addition to the large sum taken in, a substantial bundle of warm clothing was packed for the Northern Ontario fire sufferers.

UNION MOTHERS' CLUB. "Importance of Courtesy and Self-Respect" is the theme on which Col. W. J. Brown will address the meeting Friday evening in Lord Roberts School of the London Union Mothers' Club. The meeting is being held Friday evening instead of Monday, owing to the public health mass meeting, to be addressed in the Majestic Theatre Monday evening by eminent specialists attending the convention of the Ontario section of the American College of Surgeons.

BESIEGED WITH CUSTOM. The Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., has been besieged with trade at the rummage sale in progress, under its auspices in the old Peters' store on Richmond street. The sale is continuing while the stock holds out.

CLASS '40' MEETS. Class "40" of Dundas Street Methodist Church held a very interesting meeting on Thursday, October 5, at the home of Mrs. W. E. Milson, William street. The president, Miss Lillian Davidson, was in the chair. Considerable business was discussed and plans laid for the coming year. Arrangements were also made for a handkerchief race to be held in November. Light refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

On the cenotaph in Toronto.

Open house will be kept all day Monday and Tuesday at the War Memorial Children's Hospital in order to afford the delegates attending the convention of the Ontario Section of the American College of Surgeons an opportunity of making visits of thorough inspection. The public, it is stated, will also be welcome these days. Mrs. Arthur H. Smith, convener of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, is arranging for three hostesses to be on duty each hour from nine in the morning to six in the evening, the members of the committee and twenty-six or more societies affiliated assisting.

A brilliant event of Wednesday was the luncheon given by Mrs. Edward Ferguson at the Queen's Hotel in honor of Mrs. Arthur Murphy of Edmonton, Mrs. Murphy, wearing a handsome dress of black charmeuse, heavily embroidered in steel beads with chinchilla collar and black velvet hat with feathers, assisted the hostess in receiving the women of the Press Club, who numbered about 75. Mrs. Ferguson looked very smart in a dress of blue crepe with Oriental trimmings. After dinner toasts were proposed to the king, to Mrs. Murphy, and to the hostess. Mrs. Murphy gave a charming little address, in which she gave all the ladies a cordial invitation to the West next year. "Toronto Globe."

Following the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, addressed by Mrs. Pankhurst on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. F. W. Hughes called the executive together to arrange for placing a wreath on the Cross of Sacrifice in Mount Pleasant Cemetery after the unveiling ceremonies on Sunday next.

Mrs. Hadley Williams is entertaining at the tea hour Monday at "Windermere" in honor of Mrs. Franklin Martin, wife of Dr. Martin of Chicago, head of the College of Surgeons of America, and of Mrs. M. T. MacEachern, wife of Dr. MacEachern, president of the American Association and director-general of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Miss Maude Taylor was the hostess Thursday evening of a dinner party at Wong's Cafe, in honor of Miss Isabel Malloch, a popular bride-elect of this month. Covers were laid for nine, and the table was decked with pink and white flowers and attractive pink favors. The guests included: Mrs. Bert Parkinson and Misses Sadie Doherty, Geraldine Walker, Mabel Knowles, Vera McKenzie, Jessie and Agnes Malloch.

A charming tea was given at "The Beeches," Thursday, by Misses Isabel and Marian Coles, in honor of Miss Eleanor McPhillips, an October bride-elect. Mrs. Hugh McCrimmon presided at the attractive tea table, adorned with pink and white anemones. The guests included: Mrs. Ernest Bluetner, Mrs. Leonard Townsend, Mrs. Russell Beattie, Mrs. Ralph McPhillips, Mrs. Lionel Tobias, Mrs. Wilson Purdom, Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. Russell Croden, Mrs. Hugh Shuttleworth, Mrs. John Barnard, Mrs. Kippen, Mrs. George Grange, Mrs. Eric Reid, Mrs. St. Clair McEwenne and Misses Eileen Regan, Priscilla Ball, Doris Belton, Babbs Chisholm, Isabel Muir, Louise Duffield, Angela McPhillips and Miss Dorothy Fitzgerald of Riverside, Conn.

A smart affair of Thursday afternoon was the bridge and tea given in the officers' quarters at the armories, under the auspices of the Seventh Regent Chapter, I. O. D. E. The rooms were effectively decorated with halloween favors, the table centered with a large bowl of salvia and autumn foliage, surrounded by black cats.

The many guests were welcomed by the regent, Mrs. F. H. Butler, and tea was poured out by Mrs. A. A. Campbell and Mrs. William Beattie. The excellent arrangements were in charge of the convener, Mrs. D. M. Morrison, assisted by Mrs. J. E.

Wylie, Mrs. Turville, Mrs. Gough and Mrs. W. A. McCrimmon. Among the guests were noticed Mrs. J. W. B. Shuttleworth King, and Mrs. E. B. Emmeline Pankhurst, the latter dropping in for a cup of tea with her hostess, Mrs. W. F. Hughes, following her address at the Canadian Club.

A delightful affair of Thursday afternoon was the reception held at the First Methodist Church Parsonage, when Mrs. J. F. Reyecraft received for the first time since coming to London. Mrs. Reyecraft welcomed the many visitors, wearing a gown of black velvet, and was assisted by Mrs. Wallace Crawford, gowning in henna crepe. Mrs. A. D. Jordan ushered to the tea room where Mrs. Alexander Harvey, Jr., gowning in brown georgette with hat to match, and Miss Ethel Farrow of Goderich wearing taupe panne velvet, presided at the other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

rooses. Assisting in the tea room were Mrs. H. W. Walker, wearing a handsome gown of black canton crepe, and Misses Anna and Marian Manning, and Vida Reyecraft. Little Miss Margaret Reyecraft made a charming door attendant, and Mrs. Reyecraft's other daughter, Miss Margaret Reyecraft, assisted in the tea room.

GRAY'S, LIMITED

Store Hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Including Saturdays.

Fur-Trimmed Coats

SPECIALY PRICED

$32 to $54

WOMEN'S COATS of Bolivia, Normandie and velour, in all the new fall colors, all handsomely embroidered, some fur trimmed, silk lined throughout; sizes 36 to 44.

Mantle Dept., Third Floor.

AUTUMN MILLINERY

A SPECIAL PRESENTATION $7.95

An unequalled combination of style, quality and value. The materials are Lyons and panne velvet, smart large shapes as well as medium sizes; trimmings of metal, flowers, ostrich and with self trims of velvet. Your choice at $7.95

Millinery Dept., Fourth Floor.

Dress Blouses

EXCEPTIONAL VALUE

$5.00

BLOUSES of black or white habutai silk, convertible collar, pin-tucked front, long sleeves, with open, turn-back cuffs; all sizes.

Blouse Dept., Third Floor.

Chamoisette Gloves, 25c

LADIES' CHAMOISETTE GLOVES (samples), two-button; colors of mode, fawn, black, white, brown. On sale Saturday at a pair 25c Main Floor.

Corsets, $1.98

SAMPLE CORSETS OF PRACTICAL FRONT AND GODDESS FRONT LACE CORSETS, medium and low bust models, values up to $6.00. On sale Saturday, pair $1.98 Main Floor.

Stamped Goods

45-INCH SCARFS of sheer white lawn, stamped designs of dancing nymphs, tinselled in rainbow colorings, ready to embroider. Price, each 55c

36-INCH SCARFS to match above designs. Price, each 50c

ROUND PINCUSHIONS to match scarfs. Price each 20c

Art Dept., Main Floor.

Flannelettes

SPLENDID VALUES.

WHITE OR STRIPED FLANNELLETTE, warm quality for gowns and pyjamas, 36-inch width, in lengths of 2 yards to 7 1/4 yards. Regular 40c a yard. Sale price, a yard 29c

NOVELTY STRIPE FLANNELLETTE, firm, soft, durable, 27-inch width. Regular 25c. Sale price, a yard 19c

1,500 yards WHITE FLANNELLETTE, mill ends, 1 1/4 to 7 1/4 yard lengths, wide width. Sale price, a yard 25c

30 pairs only, 12-4 "IBEX" FLANNELLETTE BLANKETS (seconds), slight imperfections, largest size made. Sale price, each $1.25. $2.49

A pair $2.49

Staple Department, Main Floor.

BATH ROBE MATERIALS, 72-inch width, but 1 1/2 to 2 yards required for men or women's robes, 11 patterns. Price, a yard $2.25

Make your selection now for Christmas Gifts.

COTTON EIDERDOWN for bath robes, 12 patterns, pretty color combinations. Price, a yard 50c

Staple Department, Main Floor.

50 DOZEN

Bath Towels

Six different patterns. Sale price, a pair 75c

Main Floor.

Fall and Winter Underwear—Best Makes

HARVEY COMBINATIONS of fine combed cotton, low neck, sleeveless, ankle length. Price, a suit $2.25

HARVEY COMBINATIONS of fine combed cotton, strap top, tight knees. Price, per suit $2.00, $2.25

HARVEY SILK AND COTTON COMBINATIONS, band top, sleeveless, ankle length. Price, a suit, $2.75, $3.00

PURE WOOL COMBINATIONS, sleeveless, tight knees. Price, a suit $4.50

"CEETEE" PURE WOOL COMBINATIONS, guaranteed unshrinkable. Price, a suit, $6.00

"CEETEE" PURE WOOL COMBINATIONS, heavy weight. Price, a suit $7.95

PURE WOOL VESTS, round neck, half sleeves. Price, each $2.50

SILK AND WOOL VESTS, round neck, half sleeves or low neck, sleeveless. Price, each $2.50 and $2.75

PURE WOOL VESTS, band or strap tops, V necks and half sleeves. Price, each $2.00

TURNBULL'S NATURAL WOOL VESTS AND DRAWERS. Price, a garment $2.00

"CEETEE" UNSHRINKABLE PURE WOOL VESTS, V neck, half sleeves, or high neck, long sleeves. Drawers to match. Price, per garment $3.00

"CEETEE" UNSHRINKABLE PURE WOOL VESTS, heavy weight. Drawers to match. Price, per garment $3.95

Underwear Department, Main Floor.

The Delineator

NOVEMBER, 1922.

Better Homes in America. Making Home Work Count. When Marriage Goes On the Rocks. The New Styles of November.

Price, a copy 20c

Special rate, per year $1.20

Six hundred winter styles shown in Butterick Quarterly. Price, a copy 25c

By mail, 10c extra. With certificate good for 10 cents in the purchase of any Butterick Pattern. Pattern Counter, Main Floor.

Butterick Patterns