WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 19th, 1890. Iron in Digby County.

Iron in its magnetic and specular forms has long been known to exist in the Digby Neck range of hills, but those hills are a mere continuation of the North Mountain, and are composed of trap, it has been generally assumed that no true veins of metallic ores will be found to exist there. Recent events, however, seem to give color to the belief that the assumption is not stated may not prove to be correct. About six months ago, Col. Hally, of Cambden, New Jersey, determined to sink a shaft on an apparent true vein of rich magnetic ore, which came to the surface at Sandy Cove. With this end in view, he employed Mr. David McPhail, a practical and experienced miner, who commenced operations with a small number of men under his charge. This gentleman informs us that he has already sunk a shaft to the depth of thirty feet, at which distance from the surface the vein had increased from eight inches to something more than twenty inches, with a prospect of further widening as greater depths are reached. McPhail has shown us samples of the ore taken at the depth named, which will average at least 60 to 65 per cent. of pure iron on reduction. He also informed us that the facilities for shipment of the ore are all that could be desired, and that the prices of similar ores in the United States were such as to yield a good profit after the payment of duty levied by the government of that country. He called our attention to another fact connected with this mine. He says that the coal, at a level not yet reached by his shaft, there crops out a bed of conglomerate, cemented together with iron, and he will soon be able to determine whether the beds he is tracing will pass through this bed, or be absorbed by it. Much of success will depend upon this development. If the quantity of ore should bear any suitable proportion to the quality, as already known, the parties holding claims at Sandy Cove will, no doubt, possess a bonanza, and a business will be created in that section of the province of much greater value than may be generally supposed.

Biographical Notices. Died on the 23rd November, 1889, at Lower Granville, Robert, a widower, wife of John Cross, aged 82 years.

The deceased lady was the second daughter of the late Archibald Hicks, who was a grandson of John and Elizabeth (Russell) Hicks, of Tiverton, Connecticut, who, in 1739-60, came to Falmouth, then a part of Kings county, to occupy a portion of the fertile and cultivated lands recently vacated by the unhappy French habitues whose constant and unrelenting idleness to the rule of their English conquerors made it a necessity to remove them from the province. Here her great-grandfather and another continued to reside for some six or seven years at the close of which they came to this county with their family, where they domiciled until their decease. Mr. Hicks was the second representative chosen for Granville in the provincial general assembly. His grand-uncle, the late Helen, daughter of Christopher Benson, son of a loyalist of 1783, and who was born in the parish of Sidwell, in the city of Exeter, in Devonshire, from which city he, with his wife and child, emigrated to New York, in 1789, and some fifteen years later took an active part in the war of the revolution on behalf of the crown, and at its close came to this county as a loyalist. The reader will thus see that both maternally and paternally the utmost unanimity and good feeling prevailed throughout the early years of her life in that district. Her father removed to the vicinity of Bridgetown, where she was yet a young girl, and having arrived at the age of womanhood she married about the year 1825, her now deceased husband, and settled in Lower Granville, where she continued to reside until her death, as recorded above. Few women have been more respected than she. As wife, always dutiful and affectionate; as a mother, always self-sacrificing and Christian; as a neighbor always kindly disposed, courteous and gentle, and as a Christian woman, always humble and unostentatious. Her husband, who was a man worthy of the respect and esteem in which she was universally held among her fellow-citizens. Requiescat in pace.

Died at Melvern Square, January 19th, 1890, Abigail T. Phinney, widow of the late John Phinney, aged 82 years.

The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Daniel Lovett, and granddaughter of the late Phineas Lovett, better known during the latter years of his life as "Colonel" Lovett. Her great-grandfather's name was Phineas Lovett, son of an original grantee in Annapolis township, at Round Hill, where his son, her grandfather, was also a grantee. The former was chosen, on one occasion, to represent the township in Harris' Hall, on the political situation, to the evident satisfaction of all present.

A few evenings since while meditating upon the wonders of nature, the extension of the N. S. C. railway to Margareville, and the general depravity of mankind, we were interrupted in our reverie by a strange intermingling of cow bells, tin horns, gongs, etc., which at once aroused our curiosity, and after making inquiry elicited the information that a newly married pair were being duly serenaded. The contracting parties were Mr. J. Darnest, of Boston, and Miss Addie Paley, of East Margareville.

Notes From Antigonish. Pastor J. Clark, formerly of this county, has been kept from pulpits work by a gripe, for two Sabbaths, but is now out again. Most of the people of the town have suffered more or less from the prevailing malady. Thirty-three students in St. Xavier's College were kept from their studies by the same cause at the same time.

The Rev. D. McLeod, pastor of the Baptist church, Truroville, in this county, died on the evening of the 6th inst. He was at one time resident at Cambridge, Kings. His age was 63.

Over seven thousand dollars were realized by the cheese factory in this town last season, and it is expected that more work will be done this coming season, and several new factories will be started in the county outside. This shows that cheese-making pays when carried on as it ought to be.

Not an apple to be bought in the town; at least the writer has been able to obtain none at any of the stores for some weeks, the local supplies being exhausted. Merchants say that they have been unable to handle the valley apples, owing to their price, and last year some of the apples did not come up to the brand they were sold for. The old ice being frozen over down on the bottom probably saved their lives.

Local and Other Matter.

Among the appointments recently appearing in the Royal Gazette, are the following:—Herbert Crookall, Charles S. Lane and J. B. Neily, of Halifax, and Colin McNab and Charles H. Harvey, of Dartmouth, have been appointed Justices of the Peace. In the county of Yarmouth: To be a commissioner for giving relief to indigent debtors and for taking affidavits to hold to bail and recognizances of Joseph A. Smith, Esq., barrister.

THE NEW SCHOONER.—Lumber for the construction of the new vessel to be built by Messrs. Shaffer & Neily, and others, is daily being brought into the yard, and though quite a quantity is yet to be obtained, it has been hauled out of the woods to such points as will render it accessible, providing there is not a favorable opportunity for hauling on runners. Mr. Leslie Rice, son of Thomas Rice, Bear River, has been engaged as master-builder, and operations will begin on or about the 5th of March.

The Liberal Convention for the selection of candidates to contest this county in the approaching elections, took place in the Court House on Wednesday last at two o'clock. A large representation of delegates from the various Wards were present, and the utmost unanimity and good feeling prevailed throughout the meeting. The Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General, and H. Harding Chute, Esq., of Bear River, were unanimously chosen as the candidates.

BAND CONCERT.—Last Friday night the Middleton Brass Band, under the direction of their leader, Mr. B. Fuller, gave a very interesting concert at Melvern Square, including songs, solos, and duets, in addition to instrumental music. Mrs. Fuller, wife of the band-master, gave two recitations, and received a hearty encore, as did also the song rendered by Miss H. R. Taylor. A duet, by Miss Taylor on the piano, accompanied by Master Harry Dodge, on the violin; and another by Mr. C. Burns and Mrs. Fuller, were loudly applauded.

Margareville Matters. La Grippe has been getting in its work in this place of late, but as yet none of the cases have proved fatal.

The circle meets once a week at different dwellings, where the old, as well as young, enjoy the sociability manifested at these gatherings. In connection with the society "Pie Social" is held in Temperance Hall once a month, where the appetizing and most fastidious can be fully satisfied. We are informed that there is one on the carpet for the 28th of this month. Comment on these "socials" is unnecessary, as our ladies' reputation in this respect has long been established. Proceeds to be devoted towards a paragonage.

Local and Other Matter.

Among the number of convalescents from a gripe, we may mention the Rev. J. R. Hart and wife, and Mr. Brunley Young.

ACCIDENTALLY CUT.—Franklin Poole, reading at Paradise West, met with a very painful accident on Friday last, while en route to the woods, from an axe in the hands of a man, who was cutting him. In cutting down a small birch the axe struck Mr. Poole's leg about an inch below the knee-joint, severing the main artery. Dr. DeBois was hastily summoned and dressed the wound, and Mr. Poole is now reported as doing well.

Every active temperance man in the county should be present and will be welcome, and all others who will come. Important questions will be discussed, especially the enforcement of the Scott Act. REMOVED.—When we announced last week in our personal column that Mr. John H. Fisher, merchant sailor, had taken his departure for Bridgewater, and that there was a rumor to the effect that this gentleman anticipated moving his business to that place, we never, for a moment, expected that the change, if true, was so soon to occur. We are now assured that this is such the case, and that Mr. F. will leave us about the middle of March, though his family will remain for some indefinite time. This is a change much to be regretted by many of our townsmen, not only for the loss of the services of a man of the manufacture of custom clothing, but by the large circle of friends to whom his amiable family has greatly endeared themselves. During his stay among us, some thirteen years, he has always manifested a deep interest in the prosperity and welfare of all enterprises for the promotion of our public benefit, besides being a generous contributor to the same when called upon. The people of Bridgewater may congratulate themselves on having secured the citizenship of a most worthy gentleman, and one who can enter to their requirements in a substantial and satisfactory manner.

—Quite a handsome turnout of our best teams took advantage of the splendid sleighing on the river last Thursday afternoon to witness a race that had been announced to come off between two local horses named "Sleepy Fred" and "Pat." The former is owned by the Bath Bros., and was driven by Mr. Wm. Bath, while the latter is the property of Mr. B. Neily, one of the first of Shaffer & Neily, and was driven by Mr. Laurence Shaffer. Mr. E. Ruggles and Mr. Robert H. Bath, were given the word "go," and Alfred H. Ellis, hardware merchant of St. John, helped the horses to the starting line. The horses were well together to within a few yards of the wire in the first heat, but "Pat" became frightened at the appearance of a dog and broke badly, thereby losing. In the second heat he looked very much as if he were holding his breath, and in the most of the way he allowed "Pat" to keep the lead and finish the half mile distance a winner. However, in the third, "Sleepy Fred" was put to work in earnest, and to his appearance had an easy walk over. After the race the horses were taken to the starting point again and a most splendid exhibition of fast trotting was given the spectators by Mr. E. Ruggles, with his chestnut gelding, "Harry." This animal is undoubtedly one of the fastest and finest horses owned in the Province, and was much admired by all who witnessed his performance.

St. John's Exhibition for 1890. As the work of organization for the Exhibition Association in St. John, during the present season, is now making good progress and the committees are working up their several departments, it may interest our readers to know what is proposed regarding the Exhibition. The following particulars are given by the directors of the Association, which will give the most definite information on the subject:— "That the general plans, rules, regulations and prize lists in use for the management of the Exhibition in the Western Provinces be adopted as the basis for the management, subject to such modifications as may appear suitable to the Maritime Provinces.

"That such grants made by Provincial Government and City Council of St. John—which the committees hope will be amount to not less than $10,000—be applied to prize in connection with Exhibition, and that such prizes generally be comprised of agricultural implements, tools, and Agricultural products, from private citizens, for special objects to be named by them."

While the competition is open to the world, it is expected that preference will be given to the Maritime Provinces exhibitors, provided their applications are promptly made. It will be seen by the foregoing that this association proposes to offer the most liberal inducements to agricultural interests, and it is hoped that these exhibitions may be made very valuable factors in promoting our agricultural interests in the Maritime Provinces.

The Exhibition will be commenced on the 24th September, and it is proposed to continue for a week or longer. Prize lists, application forms, etc., are now being prepared, and can be had on application to the Secretary, at St. John, N. B.
