VACCINATION.

The subjoined letter has crossed the Atlantic twice; it was addressed by the physician whose name it bears, to Professor J. Dobson, M.D., of Fairfield, Conn., in November last, and appeared in The Echo, of London, on the 5th inst.

"3 Woodlawn-street, Lynn (Mass.). Nov. 18, 1882.

"Professor Dobson,—Dear Sir,—My mother had a bad arm, caused by vaccination, by Dr. Woodman Home, of Lynn. Mrs. Ellen Moulton, who lived in the vicinity of Blakeley's Brickyard, Lower-hill, Lynn, died from vaccination. Jerry Feelows, of Salem, died from small-pox, after having been vaccinated near a dozen times. I am told he had small-pox three times, and died with it. Frank Alley, of this city, has had small-pox twice; he was vaccinated. . . . Mr. Fred. Stodard, Ally-street, Lynn; two children very bad from vaccination. Mr. Lucien Newhall's stepson, bad arm; John Dillon, of Commercial-street, Lynn; Dr. Rogers, of Western-ave. and Franklin-street, very bad case of vaccination, was vaccinated by Professor Morrill Weyman, Cambridge; Webster Brown and wife both had small-pox after vaccination; they live in Shephard-street. Dr. Abbott, of Wakefield, Mass., hired a cow in Sangus, and inoculated her with small-pox matter from patient. He told the owner of the cow that it would be all right to sell the milk, which was done, to a milkman, and the case came to the notice of A. A. Carleton, milk inspector, who gave me the facts. James Ed. Potter, 40 Lake-street, Glenmere, Lynn, two children and self (vaccinated); one child died from vaccination; the other is a cripple for life. He was taken to the City Hospital, Boston, and a verdict of poisoning by impure virus was rendered. Mr. J. P. Eastman, of Boston, Mass., poisoned by vaccination. I could find five hundred such cases in a month if I were paid for my time to look them up. Dr. Noyes can testify to the truth of this statement. I know of others, but I have not their names at present. I can testify before any Court or elsewhere as to all the statements I make.—Hastily and respectfully yours,

(Signed) "J. E. FROTHINGHAM, M.D."
