IRISH NEWS.

The Lord Lieutenant, in Kildere, has revoked all licenses to have and carry arms and ammunition granted to Joseph Porter, the Luggaeurran " planter," who was recently bound to the peace at Athy Petty Sessions.

The award by Mr. Walker, Q.C., as arbirntor, of £700 and costs to Mr. T. M. Healy, M.P., in his libel action against the Freeman's Journal relating to the Gweedore trials at Maryborough, has been made a rule of court.

It is said that the authorities are now engaged collecting evidence to sustain a charge of conspiracy against the Rev. Father Humphreys and other prominent members of the tenants' combination on Mr. Smith Barry's Tipperary estate.

On Sunday morning, Mar. 13th, after eight o'clock Mass the new pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's, Clonnel, the Rev. F. O'Brien, late of Cappoquin, was formally installed in his sacred office by the Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan, Bishop of the diocese.

The Community of the Good Shepherd. Waterford, have received £100 from Most Rev. Dr. Shechan, Bishop of Waterford to aid them in the erection of a new Magdalen Asylum; also £100 from Anonymous, per Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan, for the same benevolent work.

The "lock-out" of the Belfast linen lappers terminated on March 25th, when, after a struggle lasting twenty weeks, a compromise was effected, the men agreeing to return to work on the 28th. large number of the men left Beitast on the 25th, for America, at the invitation of the Knights of Labor.

Mr. Patrick Kehoe, who was possibly the last of the old drivers in Mr. Bianconi's sidecar posting system, died in Wexford on St. Patrick's Day, at the advanced age of 78 years. The deceased will be remembered as the driver of the mail-car which plied between Res and Wexford for a great number of years.

At the recent Kildara Assizes, the Rev. Mr. Cotton presented a petition for a presentment, for alleged malicious injuries to the coping of his church wall, and for breaking several panes of glas-. Justice Holmes held that there was no evidence of malicious injuries to the coping of the wall, but allowed for injury to the windows.

The first annual meeting of the Clondalkin Branch of the Irish National Federation was held on March 20th. The report showed that the branch pumbered over one hundred members, and that the year closed with a balance to their credit. The meeting was addressed by Father O'Byrne, C.C.; Father J. Behan, Mr. David Sheehy, M.P., and Mr. James O'Connor.

We regret to record the death of the Rev. P. J. Sheehan, PP., Cahir, a native of Carrick-on Suir, for some time on the English mission at Manchester, called home by the late Bishop of Waterford, and appointed Administrator of the Cathedral Church in that city, from which he was chosen Parish Priest of Cahir in succession to the late Rev. Maurice Mooney, P.P.

A testimonial is to be presented to the Rev. Thomas Cassidy, for some fifteen years connected with the parish of St. Peter, Drogheda, on his promotion to the pastoral charge of the parish of Monaster-boice and Tenure. At a preliminary meeting in the Whitworth Hall, Drogheda, Alderman Casey Connolly, J. P. presiding, a subscription list was opened, and some £90 subscribed on the spot.

At the North Presentation Convent, Clarence street, Cork, on Sunday, Mar. 13th, two novices were clothed in the habit of the Order by His Lordship the Most Rev. T. A. O'Callaghan, O.P. They were Miss Maria Hawe, of Charleville, in religion Sister Mary Antony of Padua, and Miss Mary Agnes Kennedy, in reti-gion Sister Mary Peter, both being the third members of their respective families consecrated to the service of God,

The Carlow Nationalist states that, at the morning parade on St. Patrick's Day, a large number of the Carlow militie crorps displayed the shamrock in their caps and tunics, and that the Sergeant-Major, who is an Englishman, com-manded the men to throw away those "tufts of grass," and that a few who disobeyed, and replaced the shamrocks in their tunics, were ordered to the guardroom. This is almost incredible, but it is the fact.

The following changes in the diocese of Cork have been announced: Rev. P. Tracy, C. C., Douglas, to SS. Peter and to Douglas; Rev. J. Long, C. C. Drimoleague, to Douglas; Rev. J. Roche, C. C., Water-grasshill, to Drimoleague; Rev. W. Murphy. S. Finnbarr, to Watergrasshill; Paul's; Rev. J. Long, C. C. Drimoleague, v. S. Cotter, Murragh, to Carrigaline; Rev. J. Clowley, Schull. to Mortagh; Rev. D. Cummins, late of Westminster, to Schull; Rev. T. O'Leary, Carrigaline, to Glanmire. The Census Commissioners have given the figures for the county of Cork. In 1841 Cork had 854,118 inhabitants. Now it has 438,432. The decline, even during the last decade, has been cleven per cent. The population is about one half what it was fifty years ago. Deducting the berough of Cork, which has 97.281 inhabitants, the rural population is 341,-151. These three hundred thousand are members. The religious statistics show:

Catholics, 396.174; Protestant Episco
palians, 35,407; Presbyterians, 2,130;
Methodists, 3,283; and other denominations, 1,372. Education is improving in 21st, in the case of bankrupt Read, who was found guilty of defrauding his creditors, Chief Baron Palles sentenced the orisoner to four months' imprisonment, with hard labor.

A deliberate and wanton outrage was when several stone crosses were smarhed. There can be no doubt that the injury was malicious. There were bands from Dunloy and Armoy in the town during churches of this parish have been out

On Saturday, March 19th, in the Lorette Convent Chapel, Navan, there was a Solemn Office and High Mass for the repose of the soul of the Rev. Mother mary Josephine Barry. The chanters, at the office were Very Rev. H. Behan, P.P., V.F., Trim; and the Rev. James O'Neill, P.P. Dunshaughlin. At High Miss—Rev. C. Murray. The Seminary, was celebrant; Rev. E. Crem, Drogheda, Joseph. Rev. M. Lorging, Seminary. deacon; Rev. M. Lorrigat Seminary, sub-deacon. Rev. M. Dooley, president of the Seminary, acted as master of ceremonies.

For some time the constabularly all over Ireland have been calling on farmers and occupiers of land collecting statistics presumed to be for use in Parliament in onnection with the Local Government Bill. A tew days ago special instructions were issued to the police in Iroland from the Cinef Secretary office, Dubbin Castle, to ascertain the acreage and valuations of all holdings in Ireland. They were strictly enjoined to obtain these statistics verbally from each farmer or occupier, and not from the books of the various poor law unions.

At a special court at Limerick, Mr Bassett, J.P., in the chair. Mr. Daniel Molony, ate of Labasheeda, County Care, a magistrate, was sent for trial on charge if conspiracy, intimidation, with boycotting. It appears a number of placards were found in his possession, threatening in their nature to anyone who would take t farm of land and fishery formerly tented by Mr. Molony's brother, but from which the latter had been evicted. It will be remembered that a man called McAulifle proposed to the Court of Chancery for the land and fishery, and on being accepted as tenant tried to get reeased from the bargain. The Judge had to threaten to attach him before he consented to sign the agreement.

A large and influential meeting of the principal merchants of Castletown Bere, and others, Father O'Calaghan in the chair, was held recently for the purpose of rising funds to help the Rev. Mother Assisi to pay off the heavy debt the on the schools. These schools were built about two years ago for the accommedation of from 300 to 400 children, at a cost of more than $1200, not a penny of which was spent needlessly. The Mercy nuns teach the children of all classes gratis and are a blessing to all, especially to the poor, whose children receive from them as good an education as is given in many costly boarding schools. They have, therefore, strong claims upon all. Mr. Michael Hanley was appointed secretary, and in structed to draw up a circular. The Rev. Father Ric'y, C.C., and Mr. Michael

The Carrickmacross Board of Guardians at a recent meeting, unanimously passed perpetrated at the Catholic church Ras-harkin, on the night of March 17th, Chairman, Mr. Phelan, seconded by Mr. Chairman, Mr. Phelan, seconded by Mr. Reede:—"That no legislation in reference to primary education in Ireland can be considered satisfactory which does not remove the existing restriction on the day, and they seemed to be admired religious teaching and emblems in as much by the non-Catholic as by the schools attended by children of one Catholic inhabitants. This is the second teligious denomination only, and does time within a year that the Catholic not recognize the claim of the Christian Brothers to a share of the public money for their acknowledged services as pri mary teachers." The Fermoy Town Com-missioners and the Carlow Board of Guardians have passed similar resolutions.

> His Excellency Lord Zetland on Thurs lay, March 10th, distributed the prizes at the Metropolitan School of Art. Brennan, R.H.A., head master, read the report. From this it was shown that satisfactory progress had been made in the twelve months. Lord Powerscourt proposed a vote of thanks to their Excelleneies for attending. He alluded to the act that the famous Irish lace industry was showing signs of revival in the Irish convents, particularly chose of the Dom-inican Order. Lord Zetland in replying o the compliment spoke in high terms of the efficiency shown in the work done and the result of the teaching. He also alluded to the Irish lace as being world wide in its reputation for excellence; the prizes won having been awarded the proceedings closed,

> A woman with a very interesting history died recently in New Ross. She was the wife of Mr. Graham, the master and caretaker of the New Ross Military bar racks in Michael street, who was himself a soldier, and saw plenty of active service during the Crimean War and the Indian mutiny, for which he is in receipt of a pension. His wite—a good and well-disposed woman-was a native of the North of Ireland. During that fearful winter in the Crimean War she was one of a little band of Irish Catholic women who taced the trials and hardships of that fear at season, and wearing the Red Cr ss of the Ambulance Corps on her breast, tended and nursed the wounded soldiers of the campaign. For her efforts in this respect she was awarded a pension by the Government, and was in receipt of this up to the time of her death.

The Bishop of Limerick and Cruelty to Children.

The Most Rev. Dr. O'Dwyer strongly disapproves of the introduction of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children into his cathedral city where he does not think there is any need or scope for the work of such a society, and, if not required by grave necessity, it must do more harm than good. "We have, unfortunately," his Lordship adds, "occasional cases of maltreatment of children by their parents, but these are not the result of deliberate cruelty or want of parental affection, but in almost every instance the outcome of drunkenness. The ordinary administration of the law is enough to deal with these; but a volunteer society with its detective agencies intruding into the houses of the oor, raising questions between children and parents, and using all the other methods which such a society should adopt for obtaining information and making its case for the courts, can have no other effect than to weaken, generally, the mutual love and confidence of parents and children, which by God's disposition are the true protection of families from the abuses against which this society is directed. Nothing but dire necessity, arising out of the proved existence on a wide scale of such abuses as, I believe, is the case in many English towns—but, in my opinion, not in Limerrick-would justify us in setting it up and tumpering with the fundamental principles off social order.'

The Bishop of Waterford and the Christian Brothers. The Most Rev. Dr. Sheehan, on the occasion of his visit to the Christian Brothers, Mount Sion, on Saturday, March 12, took the opportunity of reminding his heavers that it was there the Order took its start in Ireland. Ninety years ago Edmund Rice founded the Christian Brotherhood in Ireland at Mount Sion. His Lordship having traced the history of the Order, spoke of the national education system as one always abhorrent to the Catholic feeling of the country. Dr. Shechan then al luded to the pronouncements and letters of his Grace the Archbishop of Dublin, the great champion of Catholic education." The Bishop next alluded to the work and report of the Powis Commission on Primary Education of 1868 70. His Lordship spoke of the great need there was that the youth of the country should receive a Catholic education. The Bishop then combatted the objections speciously put forward by designing persons against the recognition of a religious training in Government schools. In concluding a noble appeal for the proper recognition of the Christian Brothers, his Lordship expressed his behef that the date was not far off when the principles they were fighting for would be acknowledged and granted to their fullest extent.

ANIMPORTANT VOLUME. A Bible That is at Once a Relic and an Eyldenco.

We read much these days about the Bible and its spread throughout the world. There are persons who contend that prior to Luther's time the Scriptures were not given to the people; or at least that the Catholic Church retained the Bible for the use of the clergy, but did not allow it to be given to the faithful in the language of the people. In New York, at the present moment, the Paulist Father's have a German copy of the Bible, printed in the German language, and issued from the public press, in the year 1483. That being the year of Luthers birth, this volume at once becomes a rare relic of the past, and a positive refutation of the spacious pretentions of these Lutherans.

MAGAZINES AND JOURNALS.

ST. VIATEUR'S COLLEGE JOURNAL.

This beautifully flustrated magazine s one of the finest college journals on this continent. The March number contains a full account of the institution, and the flustrations are very elegant. There is a poem on the Crueffx, by Montreal's late gifted litterateur, the everylobe-regretted "Laclede," better known by his real name, John Lesperance. The Journal will accept our sincere best wishes for its future success.

THE MONTH.

The April number of New Westminster's young publication brings us all the freshness and strength, the beauty and promise of the grand Pacific Coast. It contains some most exquisite poems, amongst others the "Stubat Mater," "The Changeless One," and an ode to "Loneliness," The general articles are short, pointed, and ably written. There are interesting letters and notes from Vancouver, Kamloops, Kootnay and other rising places in the far West. THE MONTH.

"W. H. S.," of Boston, has issued another number, the sixth, of his "Contributions to Carrent Literature." The selections are very good, comprising: Mr. Jay Gould as an Authority on Prayer, on Rallroad Problems, and on Diet; The Fatherthood of G. 4; "The Richest Country in the World;" The Roston Herndt on the Bible; Blair and Stillinghed on the Work of Redemption; Dr. Griffis on English Agriculture; Why Russ-la Cannot be Free; Bishop Brooks and his Admirers; Spurgeon and MacArthur, William Pitt, and William Jay; Contributions and their Author; Dramade Notes; Mrs. Hemans on Sir Watter Seatt. indeed a credit to the publishers.

A WORLD'S FAIR."

Enterprising Noire Dame, the home of the Ace Maria, has issued, by a member of the Congregation of the Sisters of the Holy Cross, St. Mary's Academy, a splendid fluit comedy entitled "A World's Fair." It was written for the thirty-sixth annual commencement of the Academy. The characters are—England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany, Holland, Spain, Greece, Switzerland, China, Canada, France, Majordomo, Columbia, and Thirteen Original States. The Idea is as clever as it is original Each country has a particular costume, Canada is in pule blue, with ermine and silver. The following is the prologue:

RESPECTED AUDIENCE:—You have all, no doubt, been struck with the humble title given to the next number on the programme; and between the notes of the classic music, which have clevated you to quite a distance above the highest leger-line, you have been wondering what the Juniors and Minims could possibly have to do with worldly affairs. You will presently learn all about it; however, it might be well to explain that the scene of our little play opens in England, (and closes there, too.) where the different countries meet to discuss America and the World's Fair. Of course, it is out of courtesy to England, and not because of any Incapacity on their part, that all the representatives speak English. The costumes may seem out of keeping with those you have seen worn by visitors from the various countries, but you must remember that fashions change, and, perbans, these costumes are the latest style. We bespeak your kind indulgence, and hope that when we have told you all about this "World's Affair," you will be delighted, not that we have finished speaking, but that you escaped, even so narrowly, a Fourth of July oration.

THE MINETEENTH CENTURY.

Here is the April number of James Knowles' world-famous magazine. It is as sold as ever, There is an article from Sir Charles Tupper on "How to Federate the Empire;" "Prospects of Marriage for Women." by Miss Collet; "Chicago and its Exhibition," by Sir H. T. "Chicago and its Exhibition," by Sir H. T. Wood; "Lord Lytton's Rank in Literature," by W. S. Blunt; "The Story of Giffact and Keats," by Professor David Musson; "Impressions of the Canadian Northwest," by Michael Inwitt; and a number of other equality important and strong papers upon the burning subjects of the day. It is a pleasure to see the Nimeteenth Century upon one's table; it means a rich and rare literary treat. Decidelly this April number is a very good one and in some respects it is ahead of any other number sent out since 1892 began.
