Baseball at Scarboro Beach

The Wellingtons play the Beaches All Stars this afternoon at 2.30 in the enclosure at Scarboro Beach.

This Was Polite Ford Liked It

"Russell Ford, the crack pitcher of the New York Americans, is sure there is one Gotham rooster who possesses more than the average fund of humor," says Empire Billy Evans. "When Ford joined the Yankees in the spring of 1910, he was known as a real rooster. He was the pitching sensation of the American League, and every New York rooster was singing his praises. While criticism was handed out, Ford escaped because his pitching was invariably the feature of the game, regardless of the result. 'Now at the New York grounds there are a number of telephones installed for the convenience of the patrons. If some of prominence is wanted, he is paged after the style in vogue at the different hotels. Thereby hangs the joke sprung at Ford's expense. 'Early this year Ford was being hit rather hard by the tribe of Comiskey, and a few fans were snorting the stereotyped, 'Take him out!' 'Finally, a fan with bushy lungs shouted out at the top of his voice, 'Mr. Ford, wanted at the telephone. 'It was such a nice way to request Ford to make his exit that his warmest admirers chuckled, while Ford himself almost made a balk in his enjoyment over the call.'"

Extreme but not Vulgar

THE suit here shown is modelled from the latest high grade fashions of New York, and is designed to meet the requirements of the man who knows what's what.

Shoulders slightly sloped, the coat is shaped at the waist and shows a slight dip in front.

Edges and seams are double stitched giving an extremely smart finish especially in a fancy tweed suit.

Prices vary according to materials used, but the most popular for this style are $20, $22 and $25.

Gossip of the Ball Circuits

Roger Bresnahan has a new plan. He says that St. Louis will have a single-deck grandstand. The Cardinal leader declares that many fans are misled by the occupants of the second story. A lot of American papers are carrying a column interview with Hans Wagner on several different things besides his injured ankle. Wagner never talked enough in his life to fill a column. Says Billy Hanna in The New York Sun: "Jonny Evans describes the Giants as a second division club with a first division manager. How aptly the description fits his own team." The news that Nick Maddox has been recalled by the Pittsburgh Club and that he will probably report in September has caused satisfaction in the Pirates' camp. Nick was popular with his teammates. The finances of infielder "Red" Smith, Brooklyn's Nashville recruit, is wanted. Drawn her objection to Smith's remaining in baseball, in order to give him one more year. It is likely to show something in a major league. The Chicago Cubs say Manager Chance has been hit on the head so often with pitched balls that he is deaf in one ear. If Chance and Evans had been able to play regularly the Cubs insist that they would now be far in the lead. President Hermann is now opening negotiations with the Cleveland American League Club in hopes of arranging another series for the Ohio State championship this fall. According to the present outlook it seems to be a sure go.

the right field fence at Indianapolis. It was the longest hit made at the park in many years. The balls that have ever been knocked over the fence are few.

Dr. Warren Gill, first baseman of the Minneapolis team, is probably playing his last year of professional baseball, and also Gill has made no announcement or quit the game after he is sold the minor league club must refund the purchase price to the buyer. The Cincinnati Club received back its cheque in payment for Lessard last week. According to a court that was kept during the Cleveland-Washington game of Aug. 25, Walter Johnson, in a complete nine-innings game, pitched but 72 balls. Several of the batters in the first half over, and on none were there more than two balls called. Of the pitches delivered by Johnson to the batters 15 were called balls, while the other 57 were, of course, strikes of the various kinds. Morrie Maxwell, who got a tryout with the White Sox some years ago, will be with the Giants next season. Maxwell has been doing great work with Birmingham in the Southern League, and Mike Finn, scout for the Giants, thinks he will surely make good on his second tryout in the big show. It is said that President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club will lease a large lot of ground at the corner of Fulton avenue and Second street in East New York, so as to have a place to build a ball park if he cannot renew the lease on the Washington Park in Brooklyn, which runs out in four more years. Manager George Stovall of the Cleveland Blues expresses confidence that the Naps will be an important factor in the 1912 race for the pennant. "I believe that Greig, Kaiser and Krapp will be at their best next season and that with a strong outfield and infield, a good batter in every position—Cleveland will be one of the championship contenders."

Toronto Purchases Three More Players For Next Season

The Toronto Club have purchased three more players, two catchers and a pitcher. A catcher named Wilson, a former Bowdoin College player, and more recently with Detroit. Broker from Wilkes-Barre, also a catcher, and Doyle, a pitcher, from the Binghamton Club, from which organization Catcher Fisher, who reports Monday, was secured.

Brieger made a most favorable impression when playing for Wilkes-Barre against the Leafs on the spring training trip this year, having a triple and a single in one game.

These players will not report till next season's training trip, but it shows the disposition of the club towards fortifying the team. Announcement of other players may be made any day.

A Reader—Can you let me know thru your paper how many times the Toronto Baseball Club have defeated G. McConnell, the Rochester pitcher, this season? Leafs defeated him twice at the island.

The purchase of a half interest in the Boston American League Baseball Club by James R. McAleer of Washington, and Robert B. McRoy of Chicago, was announced last night. John I. Taylor of Boston City, retains a half interest in the club. Robert B. McRoy has for some years been secretary to President B. B. McRoy of the American League, and has managed the affairs of the league during the world's series.

Bughouse Play Landed M'Cormick With Giants

Hugh Fullerton tells a good one on Harry (Bull) M'Cormick, who formerly played left field for Providence and New York. "One day Providence was battling Jersey City extra innings," said Fullerton. "In the eleventh the Rhode Islanders worked a man around to third, and the batsman, with one out, knocked a long fly to left field. It looked like a cinch for the runner at third to score. The throw to the plate was 10 feet away. M'Cormick, the next man to the bat, saw it coming and took a crack at the ball, driving it to right field. The umpire declared the runner out on account of M'Cormick interfering with the ball. Manager Billy Murray, of the Providence club, asked M'Cormick what he meant by hitting a ball thrown in by one of the opposing outfielders. "What kind of foolishness was running around loose in your top place when you swung at that ball?" inquired Murray. "Well, it was the first straight one I've seen to-day, and I just couldn't keep from bumping it on the seam," said M'Cormick. "So that's the way you play ball," replied Murray. Johnny McGraw wants you for the New York Giants. I never did admire McGraw extravagantly, so I'll ship you over to him at once." M'Cormick lasted a season or two with New York, then quite baseball and is now a traveling salesman."
