Hypothecation a Conceited Excuse ADVANCED BY MR. JUNKIN TO THE DIRECTORS. To Conceal Improper Investments

Col. Pellatt Is Exonerated From Knowledge of the Transaction — C. P. R. Shares Were Handed Over to Him to Carry Losses in Dominion Coal and Steel.

Before the royal insurance commission yesterday, J. F. Junkin, managing director of the Manufacturers' Life admitted having presented a misleading resolution before a meeting of the finance committee of the Manufacturers' Life in 1902, in order to cover up certain stock transactions, which he and E. M. Pellatt had carried on together without the knowledge of the board of directors.

It will be remembered that at the session of the commission at Ottawa, rather sensational testimony regarding the Manufacturers' Life was given to the effect that H. M. Pellatt, acting as broker for the company, had purchased 1000 shares of C. P. R. stock and hypothecated these to the bank before delivery was made. This version of the trouble arose from a resolution fathered by Mr. Junkin and presented at a meeting of the finance committee of the company in December, 1902.

Under oath yesterday afternoon Mr. Junkin gave the correct version. The resolution was a ruse to blind the directors of the company.

Stock gambling had gone on for some time. Junkin, with Manufacturers' Life funds had been carried on for some time.

Yesterday Mr. Junkin took the blame upon himself. He and Col. Pellatt had been playing a game. Together they had bought, without this knowledge of the directors, first Dominion Steel and later Dominion Coal.

Immediately after purchase, both securities went down. To cover the losses entailed two blocks of C. P. R. stock held by the Manufacturers' Life, amounting in all to 1000 shares, were pledged to the bank for loans.

When the directors discovered something wrong the best way out of the difficulty seen by Mr. Junkin was the resolution which gave rise to the erroneous version of the affair.

Yesterday Mr. Junkin admitted that Col. Pellatt had known nothing of the resolution until he read it in the court at the Ottawa investigation.

In accordance with the resolution, however, Col. Pellatt obtained a loan of truck one had his hand out and went to the emergency hospital. He had the truck sent in it and returned to work.

Chief Thompson directed the operation, and so threatening was the blaze at first that a second alarm was given. The reinforcements were not needed, however.

Electric wires were also a danger. Capt. Gunn, who was shocked by a live wire, which a lineman afterwards said, contained 2400 volts.

SEARCH ROYALISTS' HOUSES FOR PROOF OF SEDITION

Paris Police Make Sensational Move—Hint at Extensive Plot Against Public Security.

Paris, April 27.—The widespread labor agitation took a dramatic turn today when the police executed a series of wholesale searches, designed to unearth an extensive plot against public security. The searches included the offices of branches of the labor federation and the homes of labor leaders, prominent royalist interests, Bonapartists and Anarchists.

The suspects among the Royalists and Bonapartists include the heads of several aristocratic families, among them Count Durand de Beauregard, Count de la Regie, Gen. Baron de Tardieu, M. Baconnier, president of the Royalist Advance Guards; M. Thouvenin, an intimate friend of Prince Louis Napoleon, and Major Feuilleux, formerly commander of the Imperial Guard, while the laborists who were subjected to search include the conspicuous heads of the movement planned for May 1.

ROYALISTS FINANCED IT. The ostensible purpose of the searches was to discover if encouragement had been given to the rioting in the mining districts in the north; but the authorities expected at the same time to uncover the entire plan of the present labor agitation, including any menacing features of the demonstration May 1. The searches were operated simultaneously early in the morning.

There is official authority for the statement that the documents were received which proved that royalists and Bonapartists had intrigued with the labor leaders, and liberally financed the revolutionary and strike movements. The labor federation has refused to hand over its books to the police. The searches caused a sensation in labor and royalist circles. In the former they are denounced as a device to discredit the labor movement. The opposition press also attacked the searches as an electioneering movement.

WEBB RESTAURANT BURNED TO EXTENT OF $9,000 BY MIDNIGHT FIRE

Flames Shot Up Air Shaft and Went Thru Roof—Michie's Suffer Too—Wires Hammer Firemen.

Fire broke out shortly after midnight last night in Webb's restaurant, on Yonge-street. Before the firemen could gain control of the flames they had done $9000 damage to Webb's, and $1000 damage to Michie's Co's warehouses to the rear.

The fire broke out in the kitchen to the rear of the restaurant, and, aided by a dumb waiter inside and a wooden dumb waiter in an area to the back of the restaurant, shot up to the upper floors. The flames, after they got started, entered the windows of Michie's, and a small conflagration was in progress among the provisions when the Wilton-avenue section made their way up the stairs with a branch.

About the same time another stream was put thru from King-street and across the roof of the St. Charles' Hotel, striking the flames readily.

The work of the aerial ladder, and, in fact, the other smaller ladders, was badly hindered by the large number of wires along the north side of Melinda-street. A stream of water played into the street by some other anxious employees from a nearby building, caused more annoyance than it did good.

The main floor of the restaurant was gutted. The roof also suffered badly, and some bins of potatoes were roasted. In Michie's the damage to the building was confined to the vicinity of the windows, the firemen having arrived in time to prevent further spread.

While at this work, Firemen Fred Bird of truck one had his hand out and went to the emergency hospital. He had the truck sent in it and returned to work.

Chief Thompson directed the operation, and so threatening was the blaze at first that a second alarm was given. The reinforcements were not needed, however.

Electric wires were also a danger. Capt. Gunn, who was shocked by a live wire, which a lineman afterwards said, contained 2400 volts.

CURRENT, PETROLEUM, GAS UNDER FEDERAL CONTROL FOR EXPORT RIGHTS

Important Measure is Introduced by Mr. Fitzpatrick With Special Reference to Niagara Electric Power.

Ottawa, April 27.—(Special.)—A bill of the highest importance to Canada, and especially to Ontario, was introduced by Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick, minister of justice, this afternoon in the house of commons. It takes complete jurisdiction for the Dominion government over the export of electric power, petroleum and natural gas.

In introducing the bill Mr. Fitzpatrick explained that the bill sought to give the government effective control over the exportation of electric power, especially from Canada to the United States. It also applies to all fluids and gases transmitted by pipe lines, such as petroleum and natural gas. A license is required for such exportation and companies already engaged in exporting electric power must obtain a license within a specified time.

W. F. Maclean (South York) said this measure was a step in the right direction, but if it is a good thing to adopt a national policy as to electric power and natural gas, why not go further and include nickel, pulpwood and even lumber in its raw condition? This legislation would have the effect of keeping our natural resources at home. Ontario with its wonderful water powers would become a workshop of the Dominion. He insisted that nickel and pulpwood should be kept at home. It was time for us to build our own country instead of having our raw products exported to build up other lands.

Everything Depends on the Water. Natural Spring Water has always been preferred to any other. Its purity is the main question. That of Koff Springs you get in the most eminent scientific authorities and is entirely beyond question. Moreover, the water contains those mineral salts essential to health and the purification of a perfect table water, or the manufacture of high-class beverages.

Electric wires were also a danger. Capt. Gunn, who was shocked by a live wire, which a lineman afterwards said, contained 2400 volts.

CANADA CARNEGIE'S HOPE FOR THE PEACE OF THE WORLD TO UNITE ANGLI-SAXONS KING AND QUEEN IN AUTO MAKE ASCENT OF VESUVIUS

"Laird of Skibo," in First Words to Canadians, Indulges in Glowing Prophecy of the Country's Future—His Eyes, Too, Turn to the Great West.

Canada's destiny has been foretold in many times and oft. Andrew Carnegie, steel king, laird of Skibo, another laird, in the matter of handing over libraries to more or less grateful municipalities, appeared before the Canadian Club last night as the latest after-dinner speaker endowed with prophetic vision as regards Canada.

Mr. Carnegie has been in the limelight for quite a long time, thanks to the consistent practice of his hobby, and the gathering drawn to hear him was striking proof of the adage that he pays to advertise. The Canadian Club has had many speakers, but never before had so many individual members hit upon the idea of attending luncheon. They crowded in in their hundreds, till the banquet hall was densely packed, and still they came till there was scarcely an available inch of space.

Seated on the right of President E. H. Peacock, the guest of the evening was the cause of incessant craning of necks in all parts of the hall, and much intemperate comment favorable to the importation of cigars from the outer aspect.

Millionaire Chats. Mr. Carnegie beamed generally almost every second of the time. A little man, snow white of hair, moustache and close-cut beard, his skin showed the clear glow of health, and his active spirit displayed itself in the constant darting glances of his eyes, which, keen and alert, were it with what looked like a kindly twinkle. He chattered in lively fashion with his right-hand neighbor, Prof. Clark, and sometimes leaned forward to exchange remarks with Richard Watson Gilder, editor Century Magazine; Col. J. J. McCook, New York; Dr. J. J. Ewing and James Kerr, all members of his party, and the last named his secretary.

Mr. Carnegie's reception was full of cordial hospitality, and appeared to please him. His address forecast an alliance of the Anglo-Saxon race, with Canada as the medium. While his words were not wholly palatable to the audience, Mr. Carnegie taking a dig at Britain for its share in the Boer War, and flatly condemning the Chamberlain propaganda, there were none other than friendly expressions from the speaker's constant play of humor enabling him with ease to turn some rather sharp corners.

Allusion to the name of Mr. Carnegie in the chairman's opening words drew loud and sustained applause. Mr. Carnegie, he said, had laid Toronto under an obligation, not alone by giving a library, but by the stipulation that the people do something for themselves.

PRINCE WOULDN'T COME OUT EVEN TO ANSWER CHEERING Premier Tweedie Among Those Who Assembled at the Moncton Station.

Moncton, N.B., April 27.—(Special.)—Altho cheered, enthusiastically, for nearly twenty minutes by two thousand persons, anxious to see his face, Prince Arthur, who passed thru this city on a special train shortly before noon to-day, refused to come out of his car.

It was said that he was at breakfast. The crowd was greatly disappointed and felt that his royal highness acted stiffly in not presenting himself.

Shortly after the arrival of King Edward telegraph communication was established between the shore and the royal yacht Victoria and Albert and his majesty exchanged most cordial despatches with King Victor Emmanuel, who is at Milan.

Considerable importance is attached to King Edward's visit, altho he is not going to Milan. He expects to leave Naples to-morrow morning.

Last Day of the Horse Show. This is the last day of a most successful horse show and the visitors from all parts of Canada and the States are all unanimous in their praises of the show.

Among the pleasant features to be remembered were the arrangement of the tea room and the way it was presided over by some of Toronto's fairest ladies; and their choice of Canada's great mineral water, radnor, served as a cold, refreshing, invigorating beverage after the glitter and heat of the crowded boxes. Certainly radnor continues to gain in popularity and to win the approval of all classes of citizens.

QUEEN'S OWN CREATE FURORE "THEY'RE THE REAL THING" SAYS ARMY VETERAN

Thousands of New Yorkers Turn Out to Welcome and Applaud the Boys—They March Up San Juan Hill.

New York, April 27.—(Special.)—"We've come to call on Yankee Doodle."
"We're the Queen's Own, every one."
"Hurrah Hurrah for Yankee Doodle."
"He's a regular son of a gun."

Singing these words to the tune of George Cohan's "Yankee Doodle Boy," 891 clean-cut, well-groomed men of the Queen's Own Rifles, of Toronto, Canada, Col. Sir Henry Pellatt commanding, rolled into the New York Central freight yards at Sixty-second-street and Eleventh-avenue, in two sections of a special train of twenty-four day coaches and a sleeper at 11:50 this morning, amid the cheers and hurrahs of a crowd of several hundred friends who had assembled to greet them.

Police Capt. Burfield and twenty-five patrolmen kept the crowd back while the regiment formed in line and marched up "San Juan Hill" to the Twelfth Regiment armory, at Sixty-second-street and Columbus-avenue, where officers and men will be quartered while in the city.

The regiment has come to take part in the military tournament at Madison-square Garden, and marched from the armory to-night to the garden. Cheered by Thousands.

Thousands gathered on the line of march and cheered the Torontonians to the echo.

Seldom, if ever, has a visiting military command received such signal attention and honor.

Col. Pellatt in speaking of the trip said: "We are 891 men to the good as we stand, and just the same our cartridges as when we left our armory yesterday evening. I am very proud of the fact that we got into the shape we did and have found no unpleasant accident on the trip.

"I feel like boasting over our performance in loading 'Poron' last night. In just exactly four minutes from the time the first four in line struck the train the whole crew was moving with every man allotted to section in his place. The second section pulled out four and a half minutes after the first men entered the car.

"I will be quartered the same as the rest of the men at the Twelfth Regiment armory.

"On Sunday mornings and I will be glad to see any visitors who wish to attend." Surgeon-Major Palmer reported to Col. Pellatt that the only thing that required his attention as to the health of the men during the trip was a bruised thumb on the hand of a private who had been opening "jack pots" and a can of soda water.

As the regiment marched up "San Juan Hill," making a roundabout course to avoid the heavy traffic, a chance to stretch after the night in the cars, the colored population of that district turned out in force, and were a matter of great curiosity to the greater part of the regiment. Especially did the bugle corps astonish and delight the natives.

Major Mercier, Renne, Pechen, Murray, Davidson, Mason, Gunther and Lee are in Command of the sub-division.

At the garden to-night the "Queen's Own" were the chief attraction, and the efficiency and general morale was commented upon most favorably by U. S. army officers. It was the general opinion that the regiment is as well drilled, if not superior in military tactics, to the crack commands of the National Guard of New York.

The Real Thing. "They're the real thing, just like the regulars," was the comment of a grizzled old soldier.
