"Montreal Gazette" Failure of Prohibition

The Montreal "Gazette" is one of the ablest and sanest as it is one of the oldest of Canadian Journals; and, whether one agrees with its editorials or not, they are always vigorous, and its expressions upon public questions always carry weight.

In the issue of The Gazette of January 25th, there was a very able article on "Parliament and Prohibition," in which the whole subject of Prohibitory legislation was calmly discussed and many points of interest brought out; among others, that although "Canadians are light users of intoxicating beverages, and especially of spirits," yet the spread of the dry area has not been accompanied by a corresponding decrease in the annual consumption, so far as Government statistics show, the inference being, as The Gazette indicates, that "in many or most places where Prohibition nominally prevails, there is a regular and relatively large consumption of the beverages."

Prohibition that Prohibits Is Unknown

The Gazette says that it must be acknowledged that "The Prohibition that prohibits is practically unknown in the United States, and the experience of the United States has been like the experience of Canada"; and then reviews the rise and fall of the Dunkin Act, the Canadian Temperance (Scott) Act, and other similar measures. The efforts to obtain Province-wide Prohibition are, of course, still in their early stages; but the results in Prince Edward Island, with its peculiarly favorable conditions, are certainly not very promising in this regard.

The editorial ends with the wise remark that "in connection with the laws that interfere with the personal liberty or habits of an individual the lack of a strong and educated public opinion to support them means failure"; and it is the belief of The Gazette that such a thing does not exist in this country.

THE PERSONAL LIBERTY LEAGUE OF ONTARIO

Formation of Large Number of Small Societies is Recommended.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A great extension of the means to promote public savings is contemplated in the report made public today by the committee headed by Edwin Samuel Mantagu, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, which has been considering the best method for obtaining war loan contributions from small investors.

As was expected the committee rejects the suggestion of a lottery or premium bonds and recommends the formation of a large number of war savings associations by trade unions, fraternal societies, town councils, and other suitable organizations. The government will pay five per cent. interest on all moneys and associations will be able to collect money from members on the broadest possible basis of instalments. The savings associations will be under the supervision of a central committee appointed by the government. The only extension of the postoffice savings bank activities is a recommendation for a speical form of deposit, whereby the investor can place fifteen shillings sixpence in the bank and receive twenty shillings in return at the end of five years.

The committee's recommendations already have received the approval of the treasury and will go into effect immediately.
