W. L. C. Hanington Wounds Rimself With an Old-Fashioned Carbine.

Before Assistance Arrives the Unfortunate Man Dies From Loss of Blood.

W. L. C. Hanington, a brother of Dr. Hanington, of this city, came to his death last evening through the accidental discharge of an old fashioned carbine with which he was in the habit of shooting coons and robins which infested the doctor's farm at Aldermere, where the deceased lived. (1). That protection has not proved except to a favored few, the benefits and South Cedar are re-defined. that its advocates predicted, and that the true policy for Canada is a modication of the tariff with the object of gradually falling in line with the free trade ideas of the greatest commercial nation on earth.

(2.) That the local interests of Kootenay district are of much more imthan the question of how to secure the bulk of the appropriations for the making of navigation, in the interests of our late M. P.'s boats, a success. (3). And that it is infamous that the people who control Canada's national highway should dare to say to men in their employ: "Have no opinion of your own on such an important subject as the proper government of the country, as we have a cut an I dried opinion ready for you which you must swallow holus bolus.

Mr. Bostock in a speech of over an hour's duration touched on all points of interest, and when he sat down amid great applause, the large audience felt that he had indeed done well and would worthily represent them at Ottawa.

On the call of the chairman, Mr. Spragge, the legal adviser here of Canada's giant monopoly, came forward and said his little piece, which thor oughly amused the audience. His statements were so ridiculously contradic tory that they are unworthy of reproduction. When he sat down more discouraged than otherwise by the hearty hand clapping of the other five supporters of Mr. Mara, Mr. Carney up the cudgel on behalf of Mr. Bostock Before he had got through Mr. Spragge was sorry that he had spoken, and more than sorry that he interrupted the speaker, who completely turned the tables on him

Mr. Carney's speech was a strong one in favor of honest government, and sat down with the assurance that his audience was thoroughly in accord with him and that Mr. Hewitt Bostock would come out on the top on June

Mr. Pitts then called for any of the supporters of Mr. Mara, but the drubbing administered to Mr. Spragge was too much for the small an insignificant clique present in the interests of the C. P. R., so a well satisfied audience was dismissed with the conviction that they will do justice to themselves and Liberalism on polling day.

Nanaimo, May 16 .- Mr. A. Haslam, who voted for the coercion bill at the last session of the Dominion parliament, was last evening nominated by a faction of the Conservatives of Vancouver Island district. There were thirty-five delegates present, and all but two voted for Mr. Haslam. The other two voted for Mr. Haggart, the anti-coercion can-Mr. Haggart's friends generally refused to recognize the convention therefore did not attend. Both Conservative candidates are determined to remain in the field, and will give Mr McInnes, the Liberal candidate, a walkover. Col. Prior attended the coercion convention. So far no success has attended the endeavor to heal the Conservative split Burrard district. It is announced that Col. Prior will try his hand as peacemaker, and-that the proposed mass neeting which is to pronounce between Messrs. Cowan and Bowser has been postponed to give him an opportunity. In the meantime the both Conservative candidates are working for themselves. Mr. Maxwelf is also prosecuting an active campaign, and is meeting with the greatest encouragement.

Mr. Bostock announces that he will e at the following places on the dates mentioned for the purposes of holding meetings to discuss public matters with the electors. Mr. Mara and his friends are requested to attend. The meetings for June will be published later on: May 18, Clinton; 19, Wm. Boyd's; 20, Wm. Abel; 21, 150 Mile House; 23, Soda Creek; 25, Alkali Lake; 26, Dog Creek; 27, Big Bar; 28, Clinton; 29, Lillooet; 30, Ashcroft.

The Kootenain says: "From all over Yale-Kootenay comes the cheering information that Mr. Hewitt Eostock, the Liberal candidate for the seat in the Dominion parliament lately held, but not filled, by John Andrew Mara, is gaining favor with the voters, and his losts of friends are in the highest hope of assurance that his election in June follow. Here in Kaslo. Nelson, Ainsworth and throughout the Slocan a great tide of favor has set in towards the young man from Yale, against which the minions of John Mara may beat and beat in vain. Mr. Bostock's every interest is identified with the advancement of British Columbia. He is not a politician, he is a business man' who is known to be a thinker, and whose progressive ideas chord those of the people. He is clean, free, independent and courageous; a man whose wealth, position and well known high sense of honor and lofty purpose place him above the possibilities of temptation. Why' should not such a man be the favorite of the people? Mr. Hewitt Bostock will be Yale-Kootenay's next representative at Ottawa.'

A prominent interior farmer, who has been a life-long Conservative, says, incidentally, in a business letter to this office, just received: "It may be of interest to you to know that I have changed my political complexion. tive Troubles.

Mr. W. W. B. McInnes, the Liberal candidate for Vancouver Island electoral district, will hold a meeting at Saanichton to-morrow evening. The Wellington Enterprise says, apropos of the Conservative troubles in the Island district: "We understand that no steps are being taken to send delegates to represent Wellington at the convention to be held at Nanaimo this evening. It is not considered possible that a representative convention can be called together at so short a notice. Several of the outlying districts are only provided with a fortnightly or monthly mail service and it is extremely improbable that these places could be notified in time to send delegates to the convention. Even then the notices calling the convention state neither the time nor place. Mr. Haggart publicly his intention of conannounced testing the seat on the 19th of December last, and being now in the hands of his friends has no intention of withdrawing. If Nanaimo forces an unwilling candidate to run and the vote is split she only is to blame."

The News-Advertiser continues: "As the only candidate nominated by any regular or ganization of the party and as one who has expressed his willingness to submit his own or Mr. Bowser's claims to the arbitrament of the electors in the only way in which it can be ascertained, we have no alternative but to recognize

Mr. Cowan as the candidate of Conservative party and the support of the present administration at Or wa.
