THE INCINERATOR QUESTION.

The Mayor and Engineer make a report on what they saw in other cities.

Mayor Bligh and City Engineer who made a very lengthy report at the Council meeting of their trip to Saskatoon, referred to several things they had seen on the trip. As the incinerator matter is now a certain amount of worry to north-end citizens, it might be interesting to publish the following paragraph from the report:

"Incinerators, where they have been constructed in the towns visited, were also a subject of enquiry. It was found that nearly all the incinerators constructed in recent years follow the general lines of the Halifax plant. Most of them are working satisfactorily, but at London and Winnipeg they do not comply with the requirements, and it is expected that the latter will be condemned. In Regina, the City Engineer stated that they proposed to adopt a suggestion that has been made by the City Engineer of Halifax, namely, to discharge the night soil into one of the sewers, with sufficient flush to carry the material away without further trouble. In Westmount, the finest residential section of Montreal, the incinerator is operating satisfactorily within a stone throw of first-class residences."

To reside in Halifax.

The Amherst News says:—The citizens of Amherst will regret very much to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wheaton will move from Amherst to take up their residence in Halifax.

Mr. Wheaton has recently taken a large rail way contract in connection with the I. C. R. extension and the work will necessitate his being in that city the greater portion of the time, hence the family will remove to Halifax.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton will be deeply regretted. During their altogether too short term of citizenship in Amherst they have won for themselves a warm place in the community and we trust that when Mr. Wheaton's work in Halifax is completed they will make their home again in "busy Amherst."

ALL SAINTS' CHURCH S. S. PICNIC.

Yesterday was an ideal day for a picnic and All Saints' Church S. S. took advantage of it, and held their annual gathering on the beautiful grounds of Miss Henrietta Wright, Lower Sackville. The scholars, teachers and parents, were conveyed to the grounds in large teams. They left the church shortly after ten o'clock, and on arriving, dinner was served, the children being seated on the grass, presenting a very pretty sight. After "cease-firing" had been sounded, various games were indulged in until the tea hour arrived, when another attack was made on the good things so abundantly provided. At seven o'clock, the children were driven to Bedford, after spending a delightful day.

Before leaving, Miss Wright received an ovation from the whole assemblage for her kindness in allowing the Sunday school the use of her residence and grounds. She did everything possible to make the affair a success, and she admirably succeeded.

DEATH OF MRS. M. F. PLANT.

Mrs. Nellie Capron Plant, wife of Morton F. Plant, died at her country home, Branford House, Eastern Point, Conn., Thursday evening.

She had had typhoid fever for three weeks and complications followed by hemorrhage set in. Mrs. Plant was born in Baltimore, Nov. 10, 1865, and was the daughter of Olivia Royston and the late Francis D. Capron. She was married to Mr. Plant, June 23, 1886. Mrs. Plant, besides her husband, leaves a son, Henry Bradley Plant. They will have the sympathy of a large number of friends in Halifax.

LIFE SAVERS' MEETING.

A meeting of the Nova Scotia Branch of the Royal Life Saving Society will be held in the Board of Trade rooms on Wednesday at 4 p. m. All those interested in the work and wishing to become enrolled as members are cordially invited. This is a society in which the people of Halifax should be vitally interested, as probably in no other city of its size is there so large a proportion of the population who spend so much of their time upon the water. A conservative estimate places the number of boats and canoes owned in Halifax and Dartmouth at 1350. What a splendid thing it would be if each owner understood the principles of life saving. This can easily be accomplished if all will join together in making the society popular in Halifax. The hon. instructors, H. W. Spurrier and D. W. Tyrer, have already given two demonstrations of the methods employed in the rescue and resuscitation of the apparently drowned. On Thursday evening an exhibition will be given before the Banook Canoe club at Dartmouth. Demonstrations will also be held before all the aquatic clubs of the city.

"The Artist's Dream" (PATHEPLAY.)—A clever cartoon story, written by J. R. Bray, whose work is well known and full of fun. The artist has drawn his cartoon with a dog (such as one would find in cartoons) asleep beside a cupboard on which, high up, is sitting a dish with a big sausage. The artist sleeps and the dog comes to life and manages to make away with the sausage. The comedy in the dog's actions is rich in laughter. The picture has the quality of the best series cartoons; but, given in almost perfect animation, it is infinitely better. A desirable offering.

FERRY STEAMER ASHORE.

The Chebucto touched at Purcell's Cove with 400 moonlight excursionists on board.

With about 400 moonlight excursionists on board the Dartmouth Ferry Steamer Chebucto struck on a reef at Purcell's Cove about 10 o'clock last night and when the tide rose an hour later she floated off without accident to passengers or crew. She then slowly proceeded with the Foresters' moonlight excursion to the ferry dock, safely landing those on board this morning at a quarter to one o'clock.

There was naturally some excitement on board, but those in charge of the excursion did everything to allay the nerves of the frightened ones.

Immediately the ship struck there was a rush of people, and some men grabbed life preservers, but this action met a stern rebuff from the moving spirits of the party, and they had to remove them. The citizens' band, which had been hired for the night, continued playing, and all went well. A few launches came to the vessel's side, and took off those people who wanted to leave.

The excursion party had a fine cruise round the point and up to the Arm and were returning home, when a dense fog curtain shut down and the Chebucto's engines were reduced. Proceeding carefully the captain made a detour to avoid the Hen-and-Chickens shoals, at the same time relying on the bell buoy to the westward. This bell was not heard before the ship plied on the reef.

About 11 o'clock the ferry boat floated off the shore and proceeded to the Halifax dock.

The tug Scotsman was sent down to assist the Chebucto when the news of the stranding was telephoned to Halifax from Purcell's Cove, Superintendent Hunter, of the Ferry service, going on her. She was not needed, however, as the steamer was soon released from the submerged rocks.

The Chebucto was in charge of Captains Hare and Myra.

The full extent of the damage to the ferry boat will not be known until she goes on the Slip. It is known however that her rudder has been put out of position, and it is thought that all the blades on one of the propellors have been broken off. This morning the Chebucto was not making any water.

Last evening a telephone message was received at the Police Station from Africville, stating that a man either had or was being murdered. Several officers hastened to the scene and found the "murdered" man in such a condition from strong drink that he could not explain what had happened. He bore no marks of injury save a lump on the head.

About 11.30 last night cottagers on the west of the Arm were aroused by cries for help, which came from the middle of the Arm. Dr. Mathers, R. A. Corbett, J. L. Hetherington, Frank Merchant and others who had retired for the night, rushed to the shore, manned boats and put out to the man in distress, who proved to be Lieut. Aglionby, of the H. M. C. S. Niobe, who had been thrown out of his canoe as he was crossing the Arm. He was found clinging to the side of the canoe and was taken ashore at Mr. Corbett's wharf.

Obituary.

The death occurred this morning at 59 Gottingen street, of John Maggs, aged 47 years. He was a Royal British Veteran, a native of England, and had resided in this city for some time. He was employed with the Herald Publishing Company up to a short time ago.

The death took place at the V. G. Hospital yesterday, following an operation, of Wesley G. Lewis, aged 40, an employee of the N. S. Construction Company, and a former resident of Bedford. He is survived by a wife (who was Miss Emerson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Emerson, Bedford) mother, three daughters and one son. He was a son of David and Zilpha Lewis, of Mount Uniacke. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon, at 2.15, from 301 Oxford St. Interment at Bedford.

OFFICER WHITE IN HOSPITAL.

About one o'clock to-day as Police Officer White, who is doing special duty in the suburbs, was coming up Coburg Road while a tram car was going up and another going down. While trying to cross the track one of the tram cars struck him, smashing his motor cycle and throwing him violently to the ground. He landed on his forehead, causing a severe scalp wound.

When picked up he was in a semi-conscious condition and was taken to the V. G. Hospital. He recovered sufficiently to walk into the Hospital, but his wounds will require several stitches to close.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE.

This morning a north-end citizen had a narrow escape from injury through either the city's or some other person's neglect in not removing the building, corner of Cunard and Maynard Streets. This morning, about 8.15 o'clock, the person referred to had just stepped from the sidewalk to cross Cunard Street, when a piece of cornice, about five feet long, from the partly dilapidated building, fell with a crash to the curbing, where not more than five seconds before the citizen had just passed. Surely some one would have been responsible had a serious accident occurred. The neighbours are complaining about the inactivity of the city in not finishing up the widening. The building is not only dangerous to passers by, but also a fire menace. The Board of Control should immediately do something in this Cunard St. eyesore.
