BIRTH OF GOLDENROD.
The sun, in a lavish mood, one day flung shining glints of his gold away. But the sun, in a mood of gloom, one day scattered it over the fields that night. And Dame Nature smiled and rejoiced next morning.

BULBS FOR FLOWERING.
It is now time to attend to the Dutch bulbs and blooming insects; although work among them might be deferred, it is wise to get them under ground. There is, also, the possibility that late purchasers will get the poorer bulbs. We include under the general heading of Dutch bulbs, tulips, hyacinths, and narcissus, these all being grown in the great bulb farms in Holland.

INFLUENZA.
Physicians distinguish Three Forms of the Disease, Nervous, Digestive and Catarrhal.

Influenza, or the grip, is an acute infectious fever which usually occurs in widespread epidemics. It travels, as cholera formerly did, in waves over the world, running generally from the east to the west. It attacks a very large proportion of the population, especially at the beginning of an epidemic; then in recurrent years it seizes upon those who have previously escaped, and the epidemic does not finally die out until nearly every one has suffered its miseries.

Medical writers usually distinguish three forms of influenza, according as the nervous, the digestive, or the catarrhal symptoms predominate; but all constitute one and the same disease, and one form may easily pass into another in the course of the same attack.

In a typical case influenza begins suddenly, with a general ill feeling, headache, pains in the muscles and in the back, loss of appetite, and a sense of extreme weakness. There may be a hard chill, or a succession of slight chills, and a general sense of languor, and soon a high fever declares itself. The eyes are often congested and sensitive to light, the nose runs, there is pain at the root of the nose, and over the eyes and all the symptoms of a severe cold in the head are experienced. The tongue is heavily coated, swallowing is difficult, or painful, and the patient is hoarse or whispering. Often there is much or profuse jaundice. The pulse is very rapid and weak, especially when the patient stands. In the treatment of grip we must first remember that we are dealing with an ordinary cold, but with a severe disease calling for as much care as scarlet fever or pneumonia. The patient must not only stay in the house but in bed. Do not let the patient get up, and never, under a physician's oversight.

THE ROYAL RED CROSS.
Of the three ladies upon whom the Queen has been pleased to confer the decoration of the Royal Red Cross for services to the sick and wounded in the recent Sudan campaign, are Miss Geddes and Miss Grant. Miss Elizabeth Geddes is, as her name betokens, a Scotchwoman, being a daughter of Mr. John Geddes, parish schoolmaster of Kilmory, Fifeshire. Miss Geddes was trained in nursing at the Dundee Royal Infirmary, where she obtained surgical wards, and also in the children's ward. After four years' residence there, she joined the staff of a medical home in London. Four years ago she became a member of the Nurses' Co-operation. She was among those nurses selected by the Society for Aid to the Sick and Wounded in War to proceed to Egypt. She made three journeys from Cairo to Assuan to bring down the sick and wounded in the Sudan. She was also in the medical and surgical wards, and also in the children's ward.
