ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 24, 1900.

MR. BLAIR'S DEFIANCE.
Mr. Blair made a rather violent speech in Carleton Tuesday.

Mr. Blair made a rather violent speech in Carleton Tuesday. He was quite noisy, quite reckless, and generally truculent, but in no way convincing or persuasive.

Having this knowledge, the people of the West were more concerned to hear something from the minister on a question concerning which he might have some useful information to give.

Mr. Blair says that he will not change the terms, and assures St. John that in refusing to change them he is Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the whole cabinet at his back.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.
It was in the year of the last dominion election, and only a few months before the polling, that Mr. Mulock introduced his bill to make it unlawful for members of the house to take office until one year after the dissolution of the parliament to which they were elected.

Mr. Fielding is always an agreeable speaker, though he does not always add anything to the sum of human knowledge. The Opera House audience of last night heard him proclaim the merits of this government, but if they applied the test which he laid down they might not agree with his conclusions.

Toronto city elects four members in three constituencies. It is quite certain to return the four liberal conservative candidates, and in that belief the party organizations have endeavored to place in the field a ticket of great strength in the business community.

THE EFFECT OF TREACHERY.

Less than five years ago Mr. Chamberlain in the course of a careful speech on Imperial trade questions laid down the proposition that Great Britain would go a long way to meet the colonies in a mutual tariff arrangement.

The invitation to make proposals came definitely before Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other colonial premiers at the time of the Jubilee. Sir Wilfrid went to England on that occasion solemnly pledged to seek an exchange of tariff preference with the rest of the empire.

That was the time for Sir Wilfrid to say that he had come under a pledge to ask for tariff preference. Sir Wilfrid did not say that. He told the Imperial minister and the other colonial representatives assembled that Canada did not want a preference in the British market.

The effect of this message was wonderful. There was no more talk of Imperial trade arrangements between the colonial representatives who had gone to London to advocate an Imperial preference.

The St. John Development Club is indicating its name. There is no way in which these young men can do more at the present moment for the development of the city than to assist in the election of Mr. Foster and Mr. Stockton.

There is nothing like Tory agitation to stir up the Laurier government to its duty. We are able today to publish the names of the officers returning in the Idaho. A few days ago the publication of this list would cost too much to get them.

THE WINTER PORT.

and that was the conclusion the government came to, and the government invested the necessary money in the line and in the steamships to take the freight from St. John.

It is a poor day when some prominent liberal does not leave his party. Mr. W. A. Killam, one of the prominent men in Yarmouth, and an active liberal of thirty years standing, had withdrawn from his party and will vote against the government.

Mr. Tarte's Patrie makes this gentle criticism of Mr. Bergeron, the genial, loyal, and able French Canadian member for Beauport, whose patriotic address at the Foster banquet in this city last year has not been forgotten.

Mr. Chariton has made a speech somewhat in line with his letter, but perhaps a little milder. He now says that "the record of the heads of the departments is as good as presented by their predecessors."

There is nothing like Tory agitation to stir up the Laurier government to its duty. We are able today to publish the names of the officers returning in the Idaho.

SURPASSED THE LOVE OF WOMEN.

Why did Mr. Blair close the only gateway through which this great business could be done, and how did Mr. Blair close this gateway?

By notifying the C. P. R. that he intended to terminate the agreement under which they had done the business, he closed it and stood with his back against the wall and sweats it shall not be opened.

Mr. Tarte's Patrie makes this gentle criticism of Mr. Bergeron, the genial, loyal, and able French Canadian member for Beauport, whose patriotic address at the Foster banquet in this city last year has not been forgotten.

AT NO GREATER COST.

The I. C. R. Mr. Blair maintained, was a better line and equal grades, and when the road was equipped as he hoped to see it, he said he hoped to make faster time than the C. P. R.

Mr. Tarte's Patrie makes this gentle criticism of Mr. Bergeron, the genial, loyal, and able French Canadian member for Beauport, whose patriotic address at the Foster banquet in this city last year has not been forgotten.

THE GRAND TRUNK. had done an immense deal of good in Canada, but it did not extend to St. John, and probably never would.
