

ST. JOHN WILL SEND AID TO STRICKEN CITY

Steps will probably be taken at meeting of Commissioners this afternoon—Financial assistance.

It is likely that at the meeting of the city commissioners this afternoon a substantial donation to the fire sufferers in Salem will be voted. When news of the disaster that destroyed a large section of Salem and rendered twenty thousand people homeless reached St. John, Mayor Frink immediately telegraphed to Salem to find out in what form the help from St. John was wanted. Late Saturday night he received the following telegram from Salem:

James H. Frink, Mayor St. John. Thanks for telegram of condolence. Twenty thousand people homeless. Greatly in need of financial aid. Signed JOHN W. HURLEY.

EMPRESS PROBE CONCLUDED ON SATURDAY

Says Evidence of Empress Captain and Crew False

It would require the force of Niagara to turn such a ship around from southeast to northeast. The current was blamed but the Essex divers felt no current and the maps did not indicate it.

Mr. Haight made an attack on the evidence which had been given by Captain Kendall, declaring that the fact that he had faced death in the water, lost his ship and over one thousand lives were not guarantees that he was telling the truth as to what happened.

These were of value in determining what importance was to be attached to his account of what happened the night the ship was lost. He said that a sheet of fire burst from the side of the liner, no one else saw it. He claimed, too, that there had been a terrible impact while the wireless operator said the jar was very slight. He swore that the impact swung the vessel around six points in the water. Mr. Hillhouse, the expert, said that was impossible. He had sworn, too, that the Stordstad rebounded from the side of the Empress like a rubber ball, while the expert said that would not happen. Worst of all, Haight added, he swore that after the impact the Stordstad had backed away a mile and left a thousand people to perish. He claimed the truth was that the collar had kept her whistle going and that the Empress had failed to reply, and that it was only the cries of the drowning people that had shown them where the liner was sinking. He claimed, too, that Captain Kendall had declared that he had left the bridge to throw the grips from the lifeboats while the first officer declared they were untouched when he attempted to get them out.

As Mr. Haight sat down Lord Mersey addressed him:

Your case involves the necessary conclusion that Captain Kendall and his witnesses have deliberately placed a story before us that is false. That is the effect of it?

Mr. Haight concurred.

Picnics. Large numbers attended the picnics held on Saturday. The Trinity church school picnic was held at Westfield, and that of Brussels street Baptist church school at Robesey. The weather was perfect for the outings and each was greatly enjoyed by those who were fortunate enough to have attended.

GENERAL ANGELES, WHOM VILLA PROCLAIMED PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT

Assuming the rôle of dictator, General Francisco Villa has proclaimed General Felipe Angeles Provisional President of Mexico. General Venustiano Carranza retaliated by deposing General Angeles as Acting Secretary of War in the constitutional cabinet. The effect of General Villa's assumption of dictatorial powers cannot at this moment be foreseen, but it is certain to be momentous, as Villa is known to be favorable to mediation, a proposition Carranza has opposed.

BOARD OF TRADE

The Board of Trade has received a prospectus from a New York engine company, that is desirous of establishing a plant in Canada.

The secretary of the board has received a letter from Musquah relative to a brick clay deposit there which the owner considers very valuable. He says there is practically an unlimited quantity of clay, plenty of wood for burning brick and tile, and with the best of water transportation.

A Boston agricultural phosphate concern, that is desirous of establishing a factory plant here, has sent the board photographs of its Boston plant and wharves.

W. F. Burditt, delegate from St. John to the recent Town Planning Congress in Toronto, has on display in the Board of Trade rooms, the photographs and maps of St. John shown by him in Toronto. It is a remarkably fine collection.

Requests for tourist literature continue to pour in to the Board of Trade office, chiefly from the United States. One was received from Dublin, Ireland, on Friday.

Sunday Boston Train. The first regular Sunday train from Boston pulled into the Union station yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock and four passengers alighted. The train left Boston Saturday night about 7 o'clock and it was said that for the greater part of the journey the cars were crowded with passengers. A train for Boston was made up here last evening and went out at 6:45. There were several passengers.

THE DAILY HINT FROM PARIS

As usual, both sides claim victory for tomorrow. The Liberals assert that there will be a landslide from the government, and N. W. Rowell will be the premier of the province when the legislature next meets. They base their claim on the fact that many pastors of churches have spoken in Rowell's favor on pulpits and platforms, that a number of preachers have entered the Liberal ranks, and that many Conservatives are going over to Rowell on his banish the bar policy, and that the people are dissatisfied with the Whitney government's refusal to deal with the question of assessment reform on modern lines, as well as their refusal to give married women possessing property qualifications the right to vote.

On the other hand, the leading Conservatives appear quite undisturbed by these claims. They profess to have assurances from various points in Ontario that Sir James Whitney's government will be returned by a fair-minded majority, and that if his present following in the house is reduced, as seems fairly probable, the reduction will not be large enough to interfere with his carrying on the administration another four years.

Independent opinion is to the effect that the Whitney government will be sustained by a slightly lessened majority.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT TO BE NEXT LORD LIEUTENANT OF IRELAND?

London, June 28—If, as now seems exceedingly probable, taking into consideration the recent march of events, home rule becomes an accomplished fact, there is little doubt, says Reynolds' newspaper, that His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught will succeed Lord Aberdeen as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

ELECTIONS IN ONTARIO TODAY

Independent Opinion Concedes Victory for Premier Whitney's Government—Opposition Counting on Big Temperance Vote.

Toronto, June 28—The campaign in the Ontario provincial elections which wound up tonight has been on such unusual lines that the results tomorrow are somewhat more problematical than might have been anticipated a week or two ago.

The Liberal policy of the abolition of the bar has tended to more or less of a departure from the old political methods, and each side claims a considerable defection from the other's ranks. While at the outset of the campaign it looked like a Whitney victory beyond a doubt, the tide seems to have turned in the past two weeks towards Rowell. Church and temperance people have been stirred up in this election contest as never before, and it is just a question how far this feeling will go towards obliterating political lines at the polls tomorrow and making something of a sweep for temperance.

As usual, both sides claim victory for tomorrow. The Liberals assert that there will be a landslide from the government, and N. W. Rowell will be the premier of the province when the legislature next meets.
