

"PROFESSOR X" IDENTIFIED AS DR. J. L. BRAND

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 11.—A man, referred to as "Professor X," suffering from loss of memory at Lambertville, N. J., was yesterday identified as Dr. John L. Brand, by his son, Lieut. Commander Charles L. Brand, who is stationed at the Philadelphia navy yard. Dr. Brand's home is in Worcester, Mass. He has been missing three years. He was unable to recognize his son.

Dr. Brand was found wandering near Lambertville on December 22, and had christened himself doctor. He was unable to recall anything except indistinct recollections of his past life and events since the sinking of the White Star liner Titanic, in April, 1912. Attracted by his evident culture, Dr. Beasley, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, took him to his home from the city jail where he was being detained.

LOCAL COUNCIL EXECUTIVE MEET

Considerable Business Transacted Saturday—Reques from Soldiers Re-Establishment Committee, Reports Received and Other Business Transacted.

Old boots and shoes are needed for soldiers. This was announced on Saturday afternoon at an executive meeting of the Local Council of Women presided over by Mrs. E. Atherton Smith. The request came to Mrs. Smith from a member of the soldiers' re-establishment committee of Fredericton, who stated that there are some fifty soldiers learning boot and shoe repairing. They have run out of material to practice on and it was suggested yesterday that the Council of Women shall hold a "needy boot and shoe day" at which collections will be made of worn boots to be forwarded to Fredericton, the men to have the proceeds of the sale of the footwear when needed. This plan was endorsed by the executive and will be brought up at the general meeting.

The United Methodist Women's Missionary Society asked to join the Federation of the local council and they were warmly welcomed.

A letter was read from Mrs. Richard Hooper, expressing her sense of the value of the year book of the council and her feeling that every member of the societies federated should possess a copy.

Mrs. W. Frank Hatheway read a report on industries for women which showed the need for a rigorous enforcement of the factories act and of a woman to assist the factory inspector. A committee consisting of Mrs. Hatheway, Mrs. Edmund Flewelling and Mrs. E. A. Young were appointed to look into conditions as stated in the report and to endeavor to carry out some suggestions made by the writer.

Mrs. David McLellan read a letter from the Local Council of Women of St. John's, asking what she could do to take in the entertainment of the delegates to the annual meeting of the national council. The letter will be gratefully acknowledged. The date of this meeting was changed from June 22 to June 15th, subject to the approval of the guests.

The resignation of Miss Amelia Haley as corresponding secretary was most regretfully accepted. Miss Haley wrote expressing appreciation of the work of the council and offered to give any help to her successor she could. She stated that other duties prevented her from filling the office any longer. Miss Haley has been a very valuable officer in the council.

Mrs. E. Atherton Smith and Mrs. David McLellan were appointed as a committee to find a place to hold the annual meeting of the national council. Other committees will be appointed at the local council's regular meeting.

The secretary was asked to send out nomination papers to all federated societies asking for a prompt return of these papers in time for the annual meeting.

ALBERTA'S PROFITS FROM LIQUOR TRADE

Calgary, Alta., Jan. 11.—The Alberta Government has received an amount of approximately $300,000 during the year 1919 in the handling of liquor imported and sold through the Government vendors to drug stores and to citizens on prescriptions, according to a statement issued by R. G. Boyle.

In 1911 Mr. Hawkehead equipped for the Ex-Khedive of Egypt his yacht, the "Mahroussa" with a high power set of wireless apparatus. In appreciation of this service, the Khedive presented Mr. Hawkehead with a gold mounted watch and a gold watch chain. Mr. Hawkehead was his guest on a visit to Constantinople when the son of the late Sultan of Turkey returned from Port Said, who had gone to meet King George, then returning from the Dardanelles.

At Constantinople the Sultan entertained his guests at his palace to lunch and dinner, and presented Mr. Hawkehead with a set of diamond and ruby studs. Remembering the attitude of both Egypt and Turkey in the recent war the gifts are valued more as mementoes of the occasions upon which they were received than for the sake of the gemstones.

Life in Somaliland was described as delightful with plenty of hunting. Big game was plentiful and one could shoot antelope, lions and leopards and elephants were found in the interior. The natives, when friendly, were rather avareless, and gratitude was an unknown virtue among them. They are a nomad tribe, walking about the arid deserts with perhaps a donkey for their wife or wives. Four wives are allowed, but most natives are content with two.

Before going to Somaliland Mr. Hawkehead was on the borderland of Brazil and Bolivia, establishing high power wireless stations. These stations are the only means of communication in that country as, on account of climatic conditions telegraphic communication is difficult.

After some questioning Mr. Hawkehead was induced to state that he is the author of a book called "A Handbook of Technical Instruction for Wireless Telegraphers," and that the volume was practically the basis used for the instruction of Marconi operators, being largely used during the war as a text book.

Director of Posts In Somaliland

J. C. Hawkehead of Marconi Company of England, Tells Standard of life in British Protectorate in Africa—Has Met Famous People and Travelled Extensively.

It has fallen to the lot of J. C. Hawkehead of the Marconi International Marine Communication Company of London, England, to travel considerably over the globe and to be stationed in some most interesting places meeting some very famous people. Mr. Hawkehead, who with his wife and small daughter, is sailing today on the S.S. Metagama, has been in St. John about sixteen months in charge of the office of the above mentioned wireless company. This company, during the war equipped practically all the ships in Canada, for the Ministry of Shipping, and supplied the operators. The Canadian Marconi Company will, in future, look after their wireless.

Before coming to Canada, Mr. Hawkehead was in the colonial civil service and was director of post and telegraphs in British Somaliland for five years.

Talking to The Standard yesterday Mr. Hawkehead told of his first six months in that country being enlisted by a raid by the Derwishes on the fort where he was stationed. The country was divided into friendly and unfriendly tribes, the latter adherents of the Mad Mullah, and the British government was kept busy trying to maintain law and order. At this particular time the Indian troops came over and the Derwishes were driven back to the coast. The Derwishes are a fanatical tribe of Mohammedans and fighting was going on practically all the time. They are also fanatical, cruel, and after the raid, natives were sent to the fort, hamstringing or terribly mutilated.

Mr. Hawkehead told of many trips taken with the camel corps, a semi-military constabulary, on their expeditions into the interior. These were a class of men, officered by British army men or those who had seen service in India. Something like 120 men accompanied him on his expeditions into the interior. He introduced portable wireless telegraph which was of great value for military operations. The wireless was used by the Army and the Hindoo or Somaliland merchants but was chiefly for the use of the British.

The post went through the country by means of camels, a service which maintained the cables and the interior, to the different military posts and magisterial districts. In this country, some 60,000 miles square with 300 miles of coast, there were only about thirty white men, all officials. The governor's wife accompanied her husband on many of his trips through the interior. The doctor went with him, living for the most part on the coast and going home to England during the hottest of the hot weather. A temperature of 120 degrees was usual and the climate is such that men usually stay only nine months in a year, going away for leave for the other three months.

During the war officials were asked to stay at their posts though all instantly resigned on news of the outbreak of war, which was received by the wireless. Many died from the effects of the prolonged stay in that tropical climate.

"Because on the bones of the English. The English flag stayed."

An interesting fact brought out in the description of installing the wireless stations, was that in former times there were Roman Catholic missions in the land, and natives had been taught to read and write in English. These boys had, many of them, gone to Aden and there learned telegraphy.

On hearing of the opening in their positions at home. The ruins of the mission houses could still be seen but on account of hostile tribes they had been abandoned by the British government to abandon their posts.

In 1911 Mr. Hawkehead equipped for the Ex-Khedive of Egypt his yacht, the "Mahroussa" with a high power set of wireless apparatus. In appreciation of this service, the Khedive presented Mr. Hawkehead with a gold mounted watch and a gold watch chain. Mr. Hawkehead was his guest on a visit to Constantinople when the son of the late Sultan of Turkey returned from Port Said, who had gone to meet King George, then returning from the Dardanelles.

At Constantinople the Sultan entertained his guests at his palace to lunch and dinner, and presented Mr. Hawkehead with a set of diamond and ruby studs. Remembering the attitude of both Egypt and Turkey in the recent war the gifts are valued more as mementoes of the occasions upon which they were received than for the sake of the gemstones.

Big Demonstration At Chubb's Corner

Under Auspices of Commercial Club Resolution Was Presented to Directors of C. N. R. Saturday at Noon—Dr. Barnhill Tells of Plans for Development Here.

The gathering at Chubb's Corner on Saturday at noon under the auspices of the Commercial Club was large. The representative citizens unanimously supported and endorsed a resolution submitted by the Club to Dr. A. P. Barnhill, member of the Board of Directors of the C. N. R., for presentation to the Board at the meeting of the Board scheduled to take place in Toronto this week. The resolution pointed out the congested and unsatisfactory condition of present dock and terminal facilities, inadequate yard room and the need for a new and improved terminal building, and urged upon directors of the C. N. R. the necessity of prompt action towards the relief of such congestion and the necessity of providing the port with greatly increased facilities, erection of additional grain elevators and deep water terminals.

In reply Dr. Barnhill said: "In so far as your resolution voices a protest against the management of the Canadian National Railways, I assure you that the protest is against the former management of the C. N. R., as the present management is still acting under the appropriations presented by the previous management. At our next meeting the first appropriations prepared under the present management will be submitted, and I feel confident, with my knowledge of the present board and the present chief and their feeling towards all important points in the system, that St. John will have a terminal building, as the appropriations are made public, so far as matters within the authority of the board are concerned.

"The important point for the citizens of St. John is to impress on the Government of Canada that additional terminal facilities should be provided by the Government in fulfillment of its several promises to this city. The Government of Canada, His Majesty the King, the City of St. John and the C. P. R., September 12, 1911, and confirmed by Act of the Legislature of New Brunswick in 1912, it is provided, as set out in section 1:

"That as a consideration for the transfer by the city to His Majesty the King, large areas on the West Side, His Majesty would build on land by the said Act conveyed to him, such and so many docks and piers as may be necessary for the handling of trade through the port of St. John.

"The transfer was expressly made, as stated in the agreement, to enable His Majesty to provide increased accommodation for the handling of trade through the port of St. John.

"The Board of Directors of the C. N. R. may decide on certain terminal improvements here, but money must come from the Dominion Government, and any recommendations of the Board will be subject to revision of the Government.

"I may say that the present Board have under consideration plans for a new station here, that the plans are well advanced, and that the plans are likely to be considered at the meeting next week. Also, a large appropriation will be made, and recommended for additional yard accommodation for this city. The present accommodation is for 600 cars, whereas at this time there are upwards of 1,000 cars in yards and on sidings or nearly double the present yard capacity. There are 400 cars held at Moncton.

"The matters referred to in your resolution are matters I cannot answer personally for the Board. I will present your resolution to the Board at Toronto, next week, and feel confident St. John will get fair treatment."

Dr. Barnhill was loudly applauded.

LOCAL WOMAN COULDN'T SLEEP

What "Liv-rite Tonic" Did for Mrs. Maud Blizard, Erin Street, St. John—Her Words of Thanks.

To those who are troubled from causes associated with the liver, the experience of a St. John woman, Mrs. Maud Blizard, 73 Erin Street, should be of much value. If they follow her advice they will become as ardent believers in the curative properties of "Liv-rite Tonic" as she apparently has, for she recommends it to any who are finding their system run down, who are suffering from blood impurities, dizziness, gaseous stomach, and general feeling of weariness or listlessness.

"I had tried different medicines before I began to use 'Liv-rite.' Mrs. Blizard writes: 'None of them seemed to do me the slightest good. I might find relief for a day or so, but always my trouble would come back upon me. But when I feel I am safe in saying I have been cured, and I can thank 'Liv-rite' for it. I was unable to sleep, I found my appetite falling—much of what I ate did not agree with me. Occasionally I would have dizzy spells. I began to lose weight. This went on for some months. I read in the paper about a local man who had used 'Liv-rite' so I thought I would do the same. I am certainly very happy that I did so for today I can hardly recognize myself as the same woman, there is such an improvement in my health. You may use this letter if it will be any good to others who are troubled the same as I was."

This "Liv-rite Tonic" is now handled at most reliable drug stores and costs a dollar a box. If your druggist can't supply you, send a dollar from wherever you are and you will receive a box of the tonic by return mail, from the Maritime Drug Co., 108 Prince William Street, St. John.

COUNT FIFTY! NO RHEUMATIC PAIN

Don't suffer! Instant relief follows a rubbing with old "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Stop "dosing" rheumatism. Its pain only; not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—comes the rheumatic pain and distress. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It is a harmless rheumatic liniment which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia and restores swelling.

Limber up! Get a small trial bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Liniment" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pain, rheumatism, and "Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away."

and given three cheers at the close of his reply.

Motion pictures were taken of the demonstration, which proved a pronounced success.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA? Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance; its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.
